

Hawk's Eye View

So much is happening here at WMS we should have our own newsletter. Just recently we had High School day for our 40 8th graders to explore their choices after they graduate in June.

Then on Friday the 27th, more than 200 students, grades 5-8 participated in Career Day when 9 different organizations representing different career opportunities came to show the students some of the many possibilities that their future could hold. What they had in common was that each could be exciting and fulfilling and each would require hard work and a good education.

The Hartford Fire Dept., represented by Cadets Ramona Walters, Shane Baptiste and Tailer Taylor, showed the students what a fireman's duties are and what a typical day might be like. Other government occupations included Criminal Justice worker Kristal Jackson, Armed Forces staff, Grace Brown Figueroa assisted by Christian Santiago and Governmental official, CT Representative Brandon McGee. Other career options were presented by Mike Jones a sports coach, communications by Pedro Zayas, The Yard Goats, by Patrick Dooley and restaurant management by Tamara Jackson. Shawonda Swain from the Boys & Girls Club rounded out the group. The students were genuinely interested and had many good questions.

Looking ahead, there will be movie night in November and December as well as a Thanksgiving Feast for all students, staff and their families November 17th.

It's not all about getting though, grade 6 will partner with the Volunteer Resource Center to fill a truck to go to Houston on Friday November 3rd. More on that next month.
