Testimonials

As a new business owner in the PMAC area, membership in the group provided an opportunity for me to promote my services and business with the leaders of the town. The events are well managed and allow for you to effectively network with business and government leaders. Not to mention the endless opportunities to give back to the town via sponsorships or volunteer hours, a membership in PMAC has a number of advantages to any business owner both personally and corporately.

I have been a participant in the PMAC for many years. The networking opportunities are endless. I've added many new customers to my business over the years by attending PMAC functions. For the price of membership, it's a bargain. I have recaptured my small investment many times over.

When I was approached about joining PMAC, I thought it was a referral group. I had participated in other referral groups with limited success. I quickly discovered that PMAC is different. It promotes goodwill between the community and other business. The more I participated, the more I got to know other business and they got to know me. Through this relaxed environment my business was able to grow. It is worth the little time and investment.

As an establish business who has been in Pennsauken for over 67 years, membership in the BIG and now PMAC has been invaluable. I was fortunate enough to learn about an educational program for business owners know as Goldman Sachs 10,000 Small Business. It is a program that can only be described as an MBA boot camp. What I learned about my business, business in general, and myself personally while going through the Goldman Sachs program has been nothing short of life changing. It was because of my association with BIG and now PMAC that I was able to participate in the program. Which gave me the tools to have a much better, more focused track for my business. Associations like BIG and PMAC are much more than a lunch or breakfast meeting, they are places where if you give them your time and effort they will reward you, your business and your community for years to come.
