Resurrection answers and hope for you

By Rev. Randy Sturzenbecher, President, SD District

Dear Saints,

It is a common thing when we are struggling with life to look for guidance and comfort from God's Word. You have all seen the lists that say, "when needing comfort turn to..." or, "in times of doubt turn to..."

In fact, I have one of those lists in my Bible for quick reference.

What I've noticed in my list of maladies and references back to God's Word is a lack of focus or even reference to the resurrection of Jesus.

In our world of self-help and bumper-sticker theology we are trained to find individual verses and apply them to our situation without looking at the larger context of what God's Word is saying and why. Yes, God's Word is always helpful, even when we take comfort from just one verse. Those go-to-verses, understood in context, are a promise from God to you.

One of the reasons the Passion account of Jesus is not on the quick reference guide to life's problems is that it does not seem to offer any solutions to our immediate problems. How does Jesus' death and resurrection comfort me after I just lost my job or war breaks out in the Middle East?

Dear Saints, the Passion account of Jesus is the certainty that every promise of God is real, will happen and is all for you!

Rev. Randy Sturzenbecher,

President, SD District

The Old Testament Saints, through faith, believed in God's promise to send our Savior to rescue us. They looked ahead to what God promised to do. They believed and that carried them through trial and hardship.

On this side of the resurrection of Jesus Christ, we have the gift of being able to look back more than 2000 years and see what God promised He delivered.

In the Passion account of Jesus, we see the depth of God's love for each of us in Jesus Christ. That love was modeled in the Old Testament by Abraham willing to sacrifice Isaac: "Take your son, your only son, whom you love" (Genesis 22:2). God's love for you put His only Son, the one He loved, in the hands of evil men and subjected Him to pain and suffering, our sin and death, all because God loves you and wanted to rescue you from the wages of your sin.

When you are struggling with life and feeling alone and abandoned, look to the Passion account of Jesus. Read it slowly and realize He endured all of that for you. The events of Holy Week reveal the depths of God's love for you through His own Son.

In the death of Jesus, we see the promise that "there is no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus" (Romans 8:1). In a loud voice Jesus declared for you to hear, "It is finished" (John 19:30). Your sin, all of it, no matter how terrible it is, was paid for by the blood of Jesus on the cross. You are forgiven!

Every time you struggle with your brokenness, every time you are burdened by what you have done in thought, word or deed, every time you want to give up hope because you have done it again, look to the death of Jesus. Look to His promise to you. Your sin is finished. Your death has died. Nothing can separate you from this gift that God has given to you through His Son. Christ is risen! He is risen indeed, and because of that you are forgiven!

Dear Saints, God's Word is full of hope and peace for you, because it all points to Jesus. Our greatest hopeful event was on the first day of the week, after Jesus' three-day rest in the tomb. St. Matthew records it this way: "But the angel said to the women, 'Do not be afraid, for I know that you seek Jesus who was crucified. He is not here, for he has risen, as he said'" (28:5-6).

When you need comfort and hope and to know you are forgiven, turn to the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

On behalf of all the South Dakota District Staff, Vonda and myself, we pray for a very blessed Easter to you and your family.

Rejoicing in Resurrection forgiveness and hope,

President Sturzenbecher

Ways to Appreciate the Many Church Workers in the LCMS

"It's our joy to work together with you for the good of the church and her workers, especially as we plan and prepare to show our deep appreciation for all who serve through love and good works," writes Deaconess Dr. Tiffany Manor, managing director LCMS National Mission.

Throughout the year, the LCMS shares social media posts about its church workers and the many hats they wear. Please consider strengthening these efforts by resharing the LCMS's posts or even promoting church worker appreciation through your own social media channels.

During the month of April, the synod will collectively recognize all church volunteers. May 4-5 is teacher appreciation. On June 13, the synod will recognize church worker spouses, and June 26 marks Director of Christian Education Appreciation.

Learn more about how to show your appreciation for these various roles at <https://resources.lcms.org/general/ways-to-show-your-gratitude-and-support-for-church-workers/>.

RENEWED IN CHRIST’S LOVE

Mary Jo Stier
LWML District President

Can you feel the spring in the air? I for one am ready for it. For me, spring brings freshness to the air, an opportunity to go outside and enjoy the beauty the Lord has given us. Spring also brings us Easter, the time where we reflect on Our Risen Lord and Savior.

I recently read an article entitled, “Missing Easter,” on The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod website (www.lcms.org). The article talked about how the busyness in our lives sometimes makes us miss the true meaning of Easter.

This article reminds us: “Easter is the Good News that Christ is alive. He is risen. A grave could not contain the living God. And because He lives, His people will also live.”

The article continues: “God’s grace and mercy do not ever miss us. We are always loved, always forgiven, always renewed in Christ’s love.”

Coming up in June, we will have the opportunity to be renewed in Christ’s love at the 2026 LWML South Dakota District Convention. I encourage you to spend a couple of days in the beautiful Black Hills of South Dakota alongside many LWML members and pastors as we gather under the theme, “Confidence in His Grace.”

We can rest assured that “God’s grace does not miss us.”

Easter Triumph

The women head to Jesus' tomb, spices in hand, ready to anoint a dead body. Their hearts were heavy with grief, braced for the sealed stone. Instead, they find the stone rolled away, the tomb empty, and two dazzling angels who say, "Why are you looking for the living among the dead? He's not here—He's risen" (Luke 24:5-6)! The women sprint back and tell the disciples. The disciples think it's nonsense. Peter runs to check anyway, sees the empty linens and walks off scratching his head.

Those first followers had witnessed Jesus's miracles and heard His predictions of resurrection, yet they still came prepared to embalm a corpse.

We're no different. We lug our own baggage—sin, shame, doubt, fear— and act as though death still holds the upper hand. We lug "spices" of good works, self-improvement or penance, hoping to appease God whom we think is angry. In our minds, we trudge back to a tomb we've constructed, convinced the stone remains sealed, blind to the life that has already burst forth.

But hold the embalming oil—the Gospel explodes onto the scene with joy! Jesus isn't dead—He's risen, just as He promised! Death has been defeated, sin stripped of power, the tomb proven a failure. What the disciples dismissed as nonsense is God's glorious reality: grace that doesn't wait for our understanding. Christ's victory is complete, and in Him we are made alive—no spices required.

Rev. Dr. Brian Mosemann

That empty tomb? It's yours in the baptismal font. Jesus didn't just rise; He clung to us and took us with Him. We come to the water, dead in sin and He washes us into His resurrection. Baptism is a daily dunking of our old, tomb-loving self, raising us as new creations. The Law says we're corpses; Baptism says, "You're alive in Christ, sealed with His triumph." He rolled the stone off us, too, even when we fail to notice.

Then comes the Lord's Supper—His resurrection feast. The women found no body, but we get His body and blood, under bread and wine. It's not a memorial snack in order to remember a dead guy; it's a meal with the living King. We stumble up, doubters like Peter, and Jesus says, "Take, eat—given for you." It's life in every bite, forgiveness in every sip, proof that the tomb is empty and our slate is clean.

We often arrive at Easter still clutching spices, foolishly lugging death when victory is already ours in Christ. Baptism soaks us in His triumph; the Supper feeds us His life forever. So, drop the spices. The tomb is empty, the table is set, and the King lives. Hosanna to the Risen One, who turns our brokenness into an everlasting celebration of triumphant grace!

Mitchell Zone Update

By Mona Geidel

Judy Moege, Judy Geidel, Judy Hauser, Mona Geidel and Deb Bialas delivered 300+ quilts and blankets, 100+ sleeping mats, clothing/shoes and bicycles collected in the Mitchell Zone to the Orphan Grain Train-Norfolk. We enjoyed a tour given by Annette Grizzard, Volunteer Coordinator of the new warehouse and volunteer packing areas, to include the Mercy Meal packaging area. We look forward to expanding our project donations, seeing first-hand the continued need here in the United States and around the world. Our tour given by Kamryn Green of the OGT International Office gave a glimpse of the ongoing mission, with Immanuel-Dimock roots, with Rev. Wilkie and Grant Schmidt in the office. It is noted that our next visit to the Norfolk area will include a Dimock cheese delivery to the OGT "office."

LUTHERAN FAMILY SERVICE

Growing The Family God Planned For Us: Maryn's Adoption Story

Originally appeared on the Lutheran Family Service blog on March 5, 2026

by Mitch & Angela, Parents

Our prayers have been answered beyond our wildest dreams, and our family is now complete. We joyfully welcomed a precious baby girl, Maryn Katherine, through the gift of adoption with Lutheran Family Service.

When we began exploring adoption in 2019, we reached out to LFS at the recommendation of a family member. From the very beginning, the staff offered honest, gentle, and realistic expectations about what adoption could look like. We felt confident that their program would provide us with an ethical, faith guided path to becoming parents.

A Continuing Family Story

In 2022, we were blessed with our son through adoption with LFS. As he grew, we felt a strong openness to welcoming a second child. After much patience and many prayers, we matched with an expectant mom carrying a baby girl. We had only about three weeks to prepare – but our hearts were more than ready.

Steadfast Support

Throughout the process, we leaned heavily on our LFS social worker, who guided us through every step of the hospital experience. She facilitated our early conversations with Maryn's mom, helping us build an open, positive, and loving channel of communication. She consistently advocated for decisions rooted in the best interest of Maryn – both now and in the future. We will never have words big enough to express how grateful we are for her caring and steadfast presence.

God's Unfailing And Never-Ending Love

Maryn's adoption was finalized the week of Thanksgiving—perfect timing for a season of gratitude—and we will soon celebrate her first birthday. She has brought a tender, delicate love to our home. She keeps her big brother on his toes, and she's given her grandmas and aunts yet another excuse to visit Target. Most of all, she has given us a deeper glimpse of God's love for us – a love that is truly unfailing and never ending.

PARENTING TOWARD THE KINGDOM

All parents are invited to a free one-day workshop with Kyle Townes, author of The Road Less Traveled: Reclaiming Childhood for Christianity. She will present topics such as godly discipline, our role as parents, screen time, socialization, influential books, education and more. Throughout this course, we will refocus on what is truly important and eternal in our parenting. We will examine how secular parenting strategies and beliefs have led many Christian families astray, and outline a different, Biblical path forward for you and your children.

Kyle is the wife of a military veteran, Richard Townes, and the mother of five children. After spending years in the public school system teaching middle school, she left the profession to classically educate her children at home.

Kyle Townes

Townes is now a conference speaker and freelance writer. In addition to the previously mentioned book, she also maintains a blog at Kidsarecapable.net.

The workshop will take place at St. John's, Britton, on May 9, with registration beginning at 8:30 am and sessions from 9:00 am to 2:00 pm. This workshop is free, but so we may plan for the noon lunch, we ask you to register by May 5 with Pastor Robert Moeller by email Seelsorge8@aol.com or call or text (605) 321-1641.

Christ Academy Family Institute

This year, CAFI will focus on "Faith in the Home," featuring sessions on family devotions, hymn singing, Christian hospitality, and more.
