REACHING TEENS

Youth Advisory Panel

Member Description

The Reaching Teens Youth Advisory Panel helps us hear from young people. Panel members share their ideas and stories. Their voices help us plan events, trainings, and tools that matter to youth.

About the Role

Panel members help make Reaching Teens better. They help plan projects and share ideas. You do not need to be a leader before you join. We want young people who will speak honestly, listen to others, and help adults support teens.

As a Panel Member, You Will

- Share your ideas and point of view.
- Tell us what you think about programs and tools for adults who work with youth.
- Help us learn what topics matter to young people.
- Join talks, planning, and special projects.
- Help with youth-led talks or events if you want to.

We're Looking for Young People Who

- Want to share their ideas.
- Listen to and respect people who may think or feel differently.
- Want adults and groups to better support young people.
- Want to learn how to lead, speak up, or help their community.
- Can come to planned meetings and take part.

What You'll Gain

- Learn how to work with a team and make choices together.
- Help shape programs for young people.
- Meet youth and adults who want to support teens.
- Use your voice to help make Reaching Teens better.

Your voice matters. Help us make Reaching Teens better for young people.
