Is this legit?

Certainly. Since 2011, our company's leadership has been responsible for forgiving more than $21 billion in uncollectible debt for over thirteen million individuals.

What is the hitch? What do I have to do to receive this gift?

Receiving this debt forgiveness requires no action on your part.

Why are you doing this?

We do this to create a virtuous cycle of public benefit. We incentivize corporations to support and forgive debt for the communities they care about. Gaining awareness of their product, loyalty, and goodwill from you and the public makes them more profitable, thus sustaining their funding of our company and producing more debt forgiveness.

How did you get my data, and what will you do with my data?

Consumer debt is bought and sold directly from banks, utility companies, hospitals and on the secondary market. When we purchased your debt or the right to forgive it, we received the information to identify you, and your account(s) owed.

How can I thank you?

In addition to the contact information above, you can record or write a post on social media.

What about my credit report?

Within our forgiveness process, the company that assigned ForgiveCo the right to forgive your debt agreed to request the deletion of any information it furnished to credit reporting agencies.
