

The Harvard University Center for Jewish Studies invites applications for the 2027-2028 Daniel Jeremy Silver Fellowship

Applicants must be active members of the clergy who have demonstrated serious intellectual and academic ability, interest, and energy in the pursuit of scholarship in Jewish studies.

The Fellowship, which provides a $40,000 fellowship stipend for one semester at Harvard, allows the recipient to begin, continue, or complete research in an area of Jewish scholarship. The Fellow will enjoy full access to the resources of the University—its libraries, professors, staff, and courses (unless University policy forbids Harvard-sponsored travel and access to Harvard buildings and resources).

Preference will be given to active congregational or campus rabbis.

The Silver Fellow is expected to be present on campus for the duration of one semester in its entirety to begin, continue, or complete research in an area of Jewish scholarship.
