

Four Norwin Seniors to Be Honored at Westmoreland Cultural Trust's 22nd Annual Achievement in the Arts Awards Celebration

Four Norwin High School seniors will be honored at the Westmoreland Cultural Trust's 22nd-Annual Achievement in the Arts Awards Celebration.

The ceremony honors students from 18 Westmoreland County High Schools in the categories of instrumental performance, visual art, vocal performance and theatre performance.

Awardees are selected by faculty and advisers.

Norwin High School's awardees include:

- Kailee Scalise, Vocal Performance
- Chelsea Biehl, Instrumental Performance
- Jaelyn Taylor, Theatre Performance
- Emily Taylor, Visual Art

They will be honored during a video awards show on Sunday, June 7. The awardees will also be featured in a Tribune-Review newspaper article during the first week of June.

The awards will be presented to each category by cultural leaders including Endicott Reindl, executive director of The Westmoreland Symphony Orchestra; Joan McGarry, director of education & visitor engagement for The Westmoreland Museum of American Art; Tony Marino, founder and artistic director, Stage Right! School for the Performing Arts; and a representative from Westmoreland Choral Society.

Top Row, left to right: Kailee Scalise and Chelsea Biehl

Bottom row, left to right: Emily Taylor and Jaelyn Taylor