THREE LOCATIONS: CAPITAL REGION, LONG ISLAND, ROCHESTER

Join us for engaging, relaxed professional learning on the topics that matter most. Each day will feature a keynote and morning and afternoon workshops focused on practitioners sharing what they are doing and what they have learned along the way.

PROMISING PRACTICES TO SUPPORT STUDENT MENTAL HEALTH:

Find out what teams in schools and districts like yours are doing now to build informed and effective practices to support student mental health in new ways: partnering with outside agencies to bring support services in-district; building trauma awareness and informed practices by reaching out to bus drivers, cafeteria staff, aides, monitors and others who interact directly with students; restorative practices; reducing stigma; realistic, sustainable, and replicable strategies to support all students; listening to student voice; and the new mental health curricular requirement.

Please note that exact topics and presenters will vary by location.*

CULTURALLY RESPONSIVE CLASSROOMS, SCHOOLS, AND DISTRICTS: SYSTEMIC APPROACHES FOR IMPACT

What is a 'culturally responsive' school? How do schools and districts create systems to build safe, welcoming climates that go beyond the annual food fair to truly celebrate diversity and honor student differences? How do service providers interact to coordinate interventions for children in need? How are parents made to feel like integral partners on the school team? This enlightening and engaging session will focus on promising practices in districts like yours that are beating the odds. Be prepared to think, engage, and leave with ideas and actions to share and implement over the next school year.

Please note that areas of focus and presenters may vary by location.*
