CORI Sealing Clinic

The Boston Bar Association's CORI (Criminal Record Offender Information) Sealing Clinic helps low-income individuals obtain a copy of their record and, if possible, seal or expunge their record.

A criminal record can make it harder to get a job or find housing. However, your CORI may contain charges that can be “sealed” or expunged so that employers or housing providers cannot see those charges. Visit the Boston Bar's CORI Sealing Clinic where lawyers can help you get a copy of your CORI, understand what's on your CORI, and seal or expunge your CORI if possible. It's recommended, but not required, to visit the clinic with a current copy of your CORI printed.
