Tips for a Successful and Fun Neighbors Night Out

We know planning can be a challenge and many of you who celebrate NNO have asked Neighborhood Alliance for some tips and examples to make your events even better. Below you will find some information on what other neighborhoods have done for Neighbors Night Out in past years.

1. Get local sponsors! Residents of your neighborhood patronize the businesses in and around your neighborhood. Give those businesses an opportunity to give back by donating food and supplies for your celebration! Go in and speak with the manager. Ask for specific items and be reasonable about what you request. If you have received donations in the past, ask those businesses to support the neighborhood again.

2. Consider a Co-op Event with a School! A school in your neighborhood can be a great focus for a celebration and often a great space for it! See if your local school would be interested in being a part of a NNO Event. Schools can also be a great way of getting the word out to your neighbors and increasing attendance.

3. Do you want your city officials to attend your event? Invite them! We send your local police division and fire station information on your event. Give your City Council member a call and let them know you would like for them to attend. Invite your State legislators and county officials. They all would love to come to your event!

4. Go Green! Let OKC Beautiful help you recycle! They have 75 recycle bins (with lids) available for you to check out & use at your next event. Whether you use 1 bin or all 75, they are FREE and available to you and your organization. Help us educate the Oklahoma City community about the importance of recycling. See OKCBeautiful.com for additional information.

5. Be innovative! Hold a fundraiser, raising money to purchase cases of Gatorade for your local police and fire departments. Many neighborhoods will hire a DJ or rent items like cotton candy machines, snow cone machines, bounce houses, etc. The Canyon North neighborhood used their volunteer patrol to hand out fast-food coupons to neighbors who were in their yards during Neighbors Night Out.

6. Contests are fun and bring out the neighbors! Miller neighborhood had a dessert contest and invited government officials to be the judges.

Be sure to share your success stories with us!

Scenes from past Neighbors' Night Out

Highlights from a few of the events held city-wide in past years:

Lakeview Neighborhood Association (NW Expressway/NW 63/Meridian/Ann Arbor Terrace) had a variety of activities- a neighborhood pet registry, Home Depot volunteers painting faces and building birdhouses, a bouncy house, and a raffle table where residents could pay their dues, donate to the local school and purchase raffle tickets for large prizes.

Cambridge Park HOA's (SE 86th/SE 88th/Prairie Ridge Road/ Sooner Road) event boasted a DJ Booth run by neighborhood children, a basketball shot contest, a bounce house, numerous safety vehicles and over 60 adult residents talking, laughing and eating. Truly a picture of what NNO is meant to be, these neighbors were socializing, befriending each other, meeting their police and fire personnel and being reminded that their neighborhood is their sanctuary!

The Valley POA (NW 174th/NW 164th/Valley Crest Trail/N Western Ave) Held at the Platt College Culinary school's Chefs di Domani Restaurant, the event offered up exquisite cuisine paired with a Painting Class. Each table setting included a blank canvass on an easel and primary paint colors. Throughout the evening, the instructor led the group in recreating a beautiful nightscape. It was a fun, creative and very interactive way to build community in this neighborhood that is challenged by a mix of mandatory and voluntary sections. Great indoor location with a fabulous takeaway for everyone.

Whom To Call

If you will be closing off a street, expecting hundreds to attend, or inviting food trucks, you do need to consult with the City's Special Events Office:
