The Biblical Month of Tevet 5786: Merry Christmas and Happy New Year, Dr. Wade K. Butler

The 10th month of the Biblical Calendar representing Godly Authority!

The light of HIS GLORY is shining through the Universe.

Every year we have to examine the times and seasons that are coming upon us. Tevet 5786 is certainly a time and season we need to look at in great depth. We are leaving Kislev, while Hanukkah is just gearing up. This year, Christmas and Hanukkah are celebrated on different days. This year Hanukkah was in Kislev, while Christmas is celebrated in Tevet! The reason why the two dates do not coincide is because the Hebrew Calendar differs greatly from the Gregorian Calendar, which is used throughout the world since the time of Constantine, when the Catholic church imposed it on the all nations. Unlike the 365-day Solar Calendar which is based on the Earth's rotation around the sun, the lunar Calendar only has 354 days. The cycle has always been significant in history, with this year having the most tumultuous implications of our lives.

So, as I have questioned before, what can we expect? Tevet 5786 is going to be filled with intrigue, danger, and surprises beyond our wildest imagination. How in the world can we prepare for governments of nations changing leadership, and exposure of the greatest scandals in modern history with the Epstein files and voter corruption? Add the threat of WWIII with possibly Venezuela and Iran, plus Russia and China's influence everywhere around us, and the manifestation of Angelic forces interacting with the sons and daughters of GOD on a daily basis? WOW! Tevet is going to be a power-packed month. Pastors are falling, and churches are being devastated at the revelation of sin in the pulpit. I do not intend to vilify anyone. I know all too well the challenges of pastoring small to large churches; I've done that. The stress on the family is major, and sin is always at the door. So, don't be too quick to be judgmental about pastors; they pay a great price to bring the Gospel to HIS children. At the same time, it is far past time for the church to wake up. The battle e is at the door.

As I said above, we finish last month celebrating Hanukkah, known as the Festival of Lights, and Christmas is celebrated this month as the birth of Christ. Most of the readers have come to understand that Yeshua was conceived in December/Tevet and born on Tabernacles. He was, according to the days of the year, probably conceived on December 25th.

He had to fulfill the scriptures. He was conceived on the first day of Hanukkah as "The Light of the World" and was born on the first day of Tabernacles to fulfill "God Dwelling with Man."

Personally, I could celebrate Christmas every day of the year, not for materialism, but for the love, joy and giving. When we give out of love for HIM, we are celebrating the spirit of Christ in us. So, rejoice! He came as the light of the world and as GOD dwelling with man.

Last year at this time, I told you of a vision where Yeshua said, "I have brought Heaven to earth and am giving divine gifts to MY sons and daughters." Now HE is revealing what the year 2025-26 will have for those who come to HIM. Let us therefore look at the incredible month of Tevet.

The Ten Commandments were placed in the Ark of the Testimony during this month. It is the month of holy anger or righteous indignation; have righteous anger but sin not. It is a month of new beginnings. Esther becomes Queen!

A lot is going on during the last several years. I HEARD THE LORD SAY, "I HAVE BROUGHT HEAVEN TO EARTH." NEXT, HE SAID TO ME, "COME UP AND I WILL SHOW YOU THINGS WHICH MUST TAKE PLACE." WB

Revelation 4:1, "After this I looked, and behold, a door standing open in heaven! And the first voice which I had heard addressing me like [the calling of] a war trumpet said,'Come up here, and I will show you what must take place in the future.'"

I was taken up in a whirlwind at great speed with a multitude of intercessors. A friend said, "We are accelerating like I have never seen before." In an instant, we were on the streets of the New Jerusalem, being pushed along by thousands, heading toward the center of the city. It was an incredible vision; all around me were people singing and dancing with great joy. The Angels were blowing trumpets and playing stringed instruments.

As we moved towards city plaza, I could see a great gathering before us where a celebration was in full swing, and the people were ecstatic. A man was pulling me along, and I asked, "What is going on?" He said, "All of Heaven is rejoicing because of what the LORD has done." "What is it?" I asked. His reply was, "It has begun. Justice has been sent to the Sons and Daughters of GOD; the earth is crying out no more; evil is being exposed, and the children will be set free." I next asked, "Who are all these people, and who are you?" He said, "These are the 'Great Cloud of Witnesses,' and I am Benjamin."

Immediately, my mind was enlightened, and I realized I was taken into a moment of time - not distance - and I knew we were entering a great time of war over all the earth. The Angels of Justice were exacting the Vengeance of the LORD.

Hebrews 10:30, "For we know Him Who said, Vengeance is Mine (retribution and the meting out of full justice rest with Me); I will repay (I will exact the compensation), says the Lord."

We are in a new place, a new season. The LORD has balanced time that the enemy has distorted.

When you read the word of the Prophets in our day, you will come to realize that our LORD is still speaking and trying to get us to listen. He is not a baby, or weak, or unable to hear us. He is the King of Kings and the Lord of Lords. He is coming back as a lion, powerful and victorious.

Each new month is packed with Revelation, Wisdom, and our LORD showing us things we did not know. Jeremiah 33:3, "Call to ME and I will answer you and tell you [and even show you] great and mighty things, [things which have been confined and hidden], which you do not know and understand and cannot distinguish."

Continually, we research the scriptures, new authors, text, and art for the month. Every time, I am amazed at what our LORD does. This month, the celebration is "Chanukah," or Hanukkah, as we would say it. There is more to this month than just Hanukkah or Christmas. So, celebrate and have a blessed Hanukkah; keep your spiritual eyes and ears attuned to the Heavens, because it is going to get interesting!

I keep in touch with multiple Prophetic voices around the world. All of us can - it just takes a lot of hours.

Going into Kislev, I had asked the LORD what to expect for December, and HE said, "What did I say to you in November?"

My response was, "We are entering into the time and season of 'Re.'" HIS response to me was, "*Be aware and prepared. You are there!"

This month, you are going to see and read at least twenty Prophets say, "Re-Apply the Blood, and Repent, Renew, Restore, Revive, Refill, Resurrect, Reconstruct, Redevelop, Reconstitute, Reconnect, Renovate, Redeem, Reemerge, Rebuild, Reset, Restart, Return, Repair, Recall, Reform, Reflect, Rejoice, Reward, Revalue, Receive, Release, Revelation, Relax, Rebirth; most of all Remember what MY BLOOD has done for you, and Remember the time we have been together."

Are you ready to join me, because we are still there! It is just that time has accelerated.

Be Blessed, Dr. Wade K. Butler

In developing this calendar prayer guide, prophets are used to bring current words from the LORD*. (See last page.) Additionally, publications such as the Elijah List, Judaism 101, teachings from Chuck Pierce, Robert Heidler and many other contributing authors are included. 1 Thessalonians 5:20, "Do not spurn the gifts and utterances of the prophets (do not depreciate prophetic revelations) nor despise inspired instruction or exhortation or warning."

I'm also introducing you to two new authors, one of whom is Margret Arscott, an intercessor I've known for over thirty years from one of my past congregations, with whom I have recently re-connected. She is fiery and passionate in her prayers, and I believe you will find them a spearpoint against the enemy. Also being introduced is Alysa Fornarotto-Regenye, the Governor of New Jersey for the Republic of the United States. Alysa joins me in prayer regularly and contributes to the Republic postings with her passion for Yeshua in prayer.

Biblical Month of Tevet

Tevet is the tenth month of the twelve months of the Hebrew Calendar. Ten is the number of Godly authority. Its name, which is mentioned in the book of Esther, was acquired in Babylon, and shares a root with the Hebrew word tov, meaning "good." Pray for our Commander in Chief, so Godly authority is established. Evil is running rampant throughout the government, and the enemy has great strategies in this month to pull leaders away from God's plans. If you are not aware of his strategies, you may be unable to pray correctly for the leaders of the nation that God HAS established. The enemy knows when you have a good leader that is giving you the revelation to move forward. That is why the Lord says to pray for those in leadership over you. Tevet is also the number for testimony. The Ten Commandments actually were placed in the Ark of the Testimony.

The month of Kislev ends with Hanukkah, December 20th and Tevet begins on the 21st. Hanukkah also known as the Festival of Lights; an eight-day Jewish holiday commemorating the rededication of the Holy Temple (the Second Temple) in Jerusalem at the time of the Maccabean Revolt of the 2nd century BC. Hanukkah is observed for eight nights and days, starting on the 25th day of Kislev according to the Hebrew calendar, which may occur at any time from late November to late December on the Gregorian calendar.

Hebrew historians note that Christ was conceived on the first day of Hanukkah to fulfill the miracle of the "Feast of Light," and born on the first day of Tabernacles to fulfill the feast of "God dwelling with Man."

By internalizing the message of the ever-increasing lights of the menorah—reminding us of the power of good over evil—we are able to reveal the good that is hidden in our lives and in the world around us.

The miracle of Hanukkah was that the Menorah light did not run out for eight days even though there was only oil for one day. A ninth candle, the center one, was added symbolizing the servant candle. Yeshua proclaimed HE was the light of the world, the true servant.

The centerpiece of the holiday is the Menorah, a nine-pronged candelabra. On the first night, a person lights the "helper or servant candle" located in the center of the MENORAH, known as the Shamash, (Christ the Messiah) and then one other candle. Before lighting the first candle, three prayers are said:

"Baruch atah, Adonai Eloheinu, Melech haolam, asher kid'shanu b'mitzvotav v'tsivanu l'hadlik ner shel Hanukkah."

Translation: "Blessed are You, Lord our Gd, King of the universe, who has sanctified us with His commandments, and commanded us to kindle the Hanukkah light."

"Baruch atah, Adonai Eloheinu, Melech haolam, she-asah nisim laavoteinu v'imoteinu bayamim hahaeim baz'man hazeh."

Translation: "Blessed are You, Lord our Gd, King of the universe, who performed miracles for our forefathers in those days, at this time."

"Baruch atah, Adonai Eloheinu, Melech haolam, shehecheyanu v'kiy'manu v'higiyanu laz'man hazeh."

Translation: "Blessed are You, Lord our Gd, King of the universe, who has granted us life, sustained us, and enabled us to reach this occasion."

On all other nights, only the first two prayers are said.

The month of Tevet is one of the darker, lowly months of the year. It is the month in which the siege of Jerusalem began, which ended in the destruction of the First Temple. Asarah b'Tevet, the tenth of Tevet, is kept as a fast day in commemoration of this horrific event. Almost to help ease the remembrance of such an event, we enter this new month still in celebration of the Holy One's victory through the Maccabees over the Greeks during Hanukkah. So, on the one hand we recall His righteous judgment, but on the other, we remember His merciful victory.

This combination of mercy and judgment occur throughout the Scriptures and, indeed, our lives. We experience both. It is part and parcel of the Holy One's economy. Every one of us has experienced great victories and great defeats. Our greatest defeats occur when we try to satisfy the desires of our flesh, our yetzer hara ("evil inclination"). Our greatest victories happen when we have surrendered our very selves to the service of our great King, and we are, as Paul states, to walk in the spirit, our yetzer hatov ("good inclination"). Finally, this dichotomy of mercy and judgment is exemplified through the salvific work of our God through Messiah. That is, all are destined to stand before the judgment seat of Christ, but those who have trusted in the Messiah will receive mercy.

As we remember this month the tragedy that befell Israel, let us also recall that it was the Father's faithfulness and lovingkindness to the covenant people that brought Israel back from the exile. Similarly, we can trust that He is with each of us through our daily struggles and our walk. He is even there to help us when we turn back to Him after our failings. Through a process of maturing growth (a.k.a. sanctification), we fail less frequently as we are transformed in mind and conformed in life to the image of His dear Son. This results in ever-increasing victorious living, because instead of living for oneself, one lives more and more for the Father's kingdom.

Just as the Jewish people were never left alone, neither were they forgotten in the exile. Messiah Yeshua has promised that He will never leave us nor forsake us. This will enable us to go on to confidently say that the Lord is our helper, and that we will not fear (paraphrased from Hebrews 13:5-6). We will trust that even through calamitous events, the Lord will work it out ultimately for our good (Romans 8:28).

As we enter the month of Tevet, we would do well to remember when and where we have been defeated, but only if we remember the great victory of Messiah. The difference between the two polar opposites helps to demonstrate the awesome work that has and is being done in each of our lives.

Finally, we look forward to the time when full restoration is accomplished. Not only are our lives completely changed, but all of our prayers will have been answered. But until then, we continue to pray and to bless the Holy One.

The Hebrew month of Tevet (טבת)

In Messianic Jewish tradition, Hanukkah commemorates both the victory of the Maccabees and Yeshua's discourse in John 10:22-39.

The celebration of Hanukkah is unique in that it is the only festival that spans two months, beginning on the 25th of Kislev and lasting until the 3rd of Tevet.

There's another side to the Hanukkah story: persecution. Hanukkah memorializes the cruel oppression of the Jewish people under Antiochus Epiphanes; a time when studying Torah was illegal, and those who sought to keep the commandments were slaughtered mercilessly. Our Master also was persecuted during Hanukkah. According to John 10:22-39, the Pharisees sought to kill Yeshua for His claim to be the Son of God. He eluded their grasp and fled to the Jordan.

The month of Tevet recalls yet more persecution. 2 Kings 25:1 relates the launch of Nebuchadnezzar's siege against Jerusalem, which, as mentioned earlier, is traditionally observed with a fast on the 10th of Tevet. This event began the tragedy that ended with the destruction of the Temple on the 9th of Av. Many communities fast from sunrise to sundown to mourn this calamitous event in Israel's history.

But there's one event that has special significance for believers. As Toby Janicki has shown,[1] there is an ancient rabbinic tradition that Simon Peter died on the 9th of Tevet. Like most of the apostles, Peter was martyred. The Master foretold Peter's death:

"'Truly, truly I say to you…when you grow old, you will stretch out your hands and someone else will gird you and bring you to where you do not wish to go.' Now this He said, signifying by what kind of death he would glorify God. And when He had spoken this, He said to him, 'Follow Me!'" John 21:18-19

According to ancient Christian tradition, Peter and Paul were both martyred during the Neronic persecutions around 64 CE. Peter "stretched out his hands" in crucifixion, but not considering himself worthy to die in the same manner as the Master, Peter requested that he be crucified upside down.[2]

Persecution—not being limited to the past—is a fact of life for many believers throughout the world, as they are tortured and killed for their testimony of Yeshua. In fact, the twentieth century saw greater persecution of believers than in any previous century. During the Holocaust, those believers who stood up to the ungodliness of the Nazi party suffered side-by-side with the Jewish people. As the Apostle Paul said, "All who desire to live godly in Messiah Yeshua will be persecuted." (1 Timothy 3:12)

Tevet: Lost in Translation: by Rebbetzin Tziporah Heller

Tevet is a time of return and redefinition.

Changes took place in the Hebrew month of Tevet that have cast a shadow throughout the course of Jewish history.

On the eighth of Tevet, the Torah's translation into Greek, ordered by Ptolemy, was completed. The Egyptian monarch was fully aware of how complicated the job would be. Ptolemy gathered 70 scholars to compose a translation using only the written text. He hoped that it would not only give the Greeks a literal understanding of the Five Books of Moses, but a vicarious peek at what God actually communicated to the Jews at Mount Sinai.

The resulting translation was considered a tragedy. Why? Is this inherent to all translations? Why should the truth of the Torah be inaccessible? In modern times the plethora of translations has been stupendous. The overwhelming ignorance of Jewish tradition and liturgy that I grew up with has been just about eliminated by Art Scroll prayer books and Stone chumashim (five books of Moses).

What's the difference between the Septuagint (the 70-man translation) and Art Scroll?

Ptolemy wanted to Hellenize the Torah. He wanted it in his library along with the other classics of his time. To him, it was inconceivable that a God-given document and one written by man should be treated differently.

Ptolemy wanted to give everyone access to Torah by dwarfing its scope to fit the limitations of the human mind.

The goal of Torah is to present us with a way of life; one that will change us and take us to parts unknown – God's infinity. The purpose of other works is to give us greater insight into ourselves and into the world. One deals with human beings and their world, while the other deals with a world far beyond the limitations of human observation. The authors of today's translations want to let everyone experience Torah by making them bigger. Ptolemy wanted to give everyone access to Torah by dwarfing its scope to fit the limitations of the human mind.

It was a tragedy. In fact, our sages compared it to the sin of the Golden Calf. The Jews, who found the encounter at Sinai with an unknowable God to be overwhelming, made a god of their own once they thought Moses was no longer with them. It was a god that fit their already existent repertoire of religious symbolism. They made God small just when they had the opportunity to walk forward into the unknown with pure faith and transform themselves into a far greater people than they could have at any other time.

The ninth of Tevet marks the day of the death of Ezra and Nehemiah, the spiritual leaders who brought the Jews back from the Babylonian exile to begin the process of rejuvenating the Jewish people. The Babylonian exile was the forced expulsion to Babylon of the Jews from the homeland that they inhabited for 850 years. They remained there for 70 years. During the course of this time, Persians conquered the Babylonians, and the Greeks, in turn, conquered the Persians.

It seemed from the outside that the trauma of expulsion plus the subtle forces of assimilation to the conqueror that represents success and victory, doomed us to becoming an anonymous non-nation. Ezra and Nehemiah reversed the process, and virtually breathed new life into our sense of nationhood. They were successful beyond anyone's wildest imagination. With the political help of Cyrus of Persia, the dream of return became a reality.

Unlike the present return to Israel, the return was not scarred by spiritual ambiguity. Ezra achieved what no leader (even Moses) had achieved in our entire history. He inspired his people to not only return to their land, but simultaneously to return to God. It was a new era indeed. But with their death, the era came to an end, and the next step forward was far more hesitant than it was in their lifetimes. The entire Second Temple period was one in which slow erosion of our identity took place. There were golden moments and unforgettable personalities. Nonetheless, something was missing: the absolute clarity of purpose that Ezra brought us.

The cliché is that no one is irreplaceable. It's a lie. In fact, the opposite is true: No one is at all replaceable. Nothing brings that fact home more than the decline that took place so soon after the death of the leaders.

On the tenth of Tevet, we had the dubious distinction of a "new beginning" that still has an imprint on our national identity. It was the day in which the forces that lead to exile began to concretize, leading to diaspora after diaspora. So many Jews define their relationship to their Judaism through the continuum of tragedies that culminated with the Holocaust. We visit the concentration camps as we close our eyes after reading or watching still another unspeakable horror. Some of us have seen their sterile remains in Europe.

The saga of persecution began on the tenth of Tevet. What exactly happened? Jerusalem was surrounded by the Babylonian forces (that we discussed previously in reference to the ninth of Tevet) and began a three-year siege that ended with the destruction of the Temple and the beginning of the exile that has never quite ended. Even during the time of Ezra, which was the closest we came to national redemption, the majority of Jews never quite made it back home. We found life in Babylon, Persia, Greece et al to be comfortable, acceptable, and worst of all, normal.

The sages instituted a fast on the tenth of Tevet. The fast is meant to be a time to question whether we should ride through history as passive travelers looking out the window as we are driven to parts unknown, or whether we should do something to determine which way we are headed. Today, more than ever, all the doors are open. We can choose the path of letting others define who we are and then force feed it back to us. For many people, liberalism and Judaism have become synonymous. The reason for this turn of events is that some parts of the Torah fit into the Neo-Grecian pattern of Western thought better than others. Judaism has been "translated" again and again since the Septuagint to mean whatever is easiest and most acceptable to Ptolemy's successors.

Another path we can choose is one of moral decay that narrows the dividing line between us and those who wish to destroy us. This path led to the destruction of both

Temples, the expulsion from our land, and the irrational hatred that we experience when the nations turn against us when we become too much of what they are.

There is a third possibility. We can choose to renew our commitment to our own heritage and follow the path set by Ezra and Nehemiah.

Tevet is a time of return and redefinition. May we use the power of the month to discover who we really are and who we really want to be. This is the key to personal redemption, which is in turn the key to national redemption.

Tevet in Jewish history and tradition

- 1 Tevet (circa 479 B.C.) – Esther was taken to King Ahasuerus' palace, leading to her becoming queen. (Esther 2:16-17)
- 10 Tevet (588 B.C.) – Nebuchadnezzar II's armies besiege Jerusalem; now commemorated as a fast day. The 10th of Tevet is a fast day, commemorating the start of the siege of Jerusalem which led to the destruction of the first (Holy Temple) two-and-a-half years later on the ninth of Av. On a fast day, the Divine attribute of mercy is able to be drawn down into this world. By fasting over the destruction of the Temple, one "sweetens" Gd's anger with Israel, the cause of the destruction. Our sages explain, "Every generation for which the Temple is not rebuilt, is as though the Temple was destroyed for that generation." As such, a fast day is not really a sad day, but an opportune day. It's a day when we are empowered to fix the cause of that first destruction, so that our long exile will end, and we will find ourselves living in Messianic times. May that be very soon!
- 10 Tevet (479 B.C.) – Esther appears before Ahasuerus for the first time and is chosen by him to be the queen.

Esther becomes Queen! So, Esther was taken unto king Ahasuerus into his house royal in the tenth month, which is the month Tevet, in the seventh year of his reign. And the king loved Esther above all the women, and she obtained grace and favor in his sight more than all the virgins; so that he set the royal crown upon her head, and made her queen instead of Vashti.

- 11 Tevet (1668) – Jews were expelled from Vienna, Austria during the reign of Holy Roman Emperor Leopold the First.
- 17 Tevet (1728) – Shearith Israel, the first New York synagogue, erects its first building in Lower Manhattan.
- 22 Tevet (1496) – Expulsion of Jews from Portugal four years after the expulsion from Spain.
- 24 Tevet (3rd century B.C.) – Jewish elders procure the translation of the Hebrew Bible into Greek (Septuagint) for Ptolemy II Philadelphus.

The Month of Tevet at a Glance by Chuck Pierce and Robert Heidler

Alphabet: AYIN – (eye, spring) – let your good eye see. War with the evil eye and break the power of evil watchers.

Tribe: Dan – to judge, grow up and mature

Characteristics: This is a month of the ending of Hanukkah: in the midst of destruction, there is mercy.

A month of holy anger or righteous indignation; be angry but sin not.

This month is a time to pray for your Commander in Chief.

Review education for initiation into the next phase of life.

This month is a good time to fast and purify the blood so your brain and heart function properly.

Constellation: Capricorn (the goat) - beware of making wrong alignments.

Color/Stone: Dark Blue and Turquoise/Sapphire or Turquoise

Tevet is the tenth month of the Jewish calendar. Ten is the number of godly authority. Pray for our Commander in Chief so godly authority is established. Tevet is also the number of testimony. The 10 commandments were in the Ark of the Testimony.

Tevet is associated with the Hebrew letter AYIN, which pictures an eye. This is a month to let your good eye see. Getting focused is very important as you war against the evil eye and break the power of evil watchers. The AYIN also pictures a spring or well. This month is a time for new life to flow.

Tevet is associated with the constellation of Capricorn, which pictures a goat. This is a dangerous time because you are going to see nations that are not allies of the covenant, the goat nations take a wrong turn. This is a month to leap forth, and a month to review education for initiation into the next phase of life. This month is a time to leap like a goat. Your testimony is going to express either your immaturity or your maturity.

The tribe associated with Tevet is the tribe of Dan. This is a month to judge, grow up and mature.

Pray for new, artistic, and creative expressions in worship this month, and ask God how to form a rear guard over your past season.

Pay attention to the prophetic words over your life so you do not miss your destiny.

Be willing to war when God calls you; stand for your inheritance and don’t back down.

Step on the serpent’s head this month.

Tevet – Finding your path of ever-increasing light!

3 paths – Samson (was called by God but took the wrong path), the Wise Men (sought after God from the beginning and followed the path to see Him), and Esther (who was called, and she obeyed, to go on the path God had her to take for such a time as this).

God does not want you walking in darkness this month like the wise men following the star, God wants to put you on a path that gets lighter and lighter.

God wants to take you from Glory to Glory. This month ask God, "How do I find the path of light, and how do I avoid the path of darkness?"

Before creation, God designed a unique and perfect DESTINY for you to fulfill.

God not only has a destiny for you; God has a plan to get you there!

I will pray this month for:

1. The prophetic words spoken over my life

2. I choose to submit my life to God and His Plan for me

3. I commit myself to follow God no matter what it costs

4. I will let God lead me on my path to my destiny

Scriptures to mediate on:

Proverbs 4:18 (NASB) But the path of the righteous is like the light of dawn, that shines brighter and brighter until the full day.

Jeremiah 1:5 (NASB) Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, and before you were born, I consecrated you; I have appointed you a prophet to the nations.

Ephesians 1:11 (NASB) Also we have obtained an inheritance, having been predestined according to His purpose who works all things after the counsel of His will.

Ephesians 2:10 (NASB) For we are His workmanship, created in Christ Yeshua for good works, which God prepared beforehand so that we would walk in them.

Jeremiah 29:11 (NASB) 'For I know the plans that I have for you,' declares the LORD, 'plans for welfare and not for calamity; to give you a future and a hope.'

2 Peter 1:19 (NASB) So we have the prophetic word made more-sure, to which you do well to pay attention as to a lamp shining in a dark place, until the day dawns and the morning star arises in your hearts.

Lord, let my offering of first fruits this month become brighter and brighter and brighter. Let the release of it create light on my path and new revelation to come. I decree: I will see a new destination this month. Lord, I decree this month I will die to anything that would be a hindrance to my future. Father, I want to thank you for the blessing of this month as I celebrate it. Lord, I say give me watchful eyes, a guarded mouth; send angels to guard my tongue, Lord, as I interact with people this month. And Lord, I ask for a spirit of revelation that will grow brighter and brighter and brighter all these days of Tevet. Father, I ask for the brightness of your guidance to be upon my path in Yeshua's name.

Recognizing the extraordinary nature of a rebbe as a communal figure.

The month is symbolized by the Tribe of Dan

The tribe of Dan represents the initial state of immaturity in the soul that "grows-up" during the month of Tevet. Dan means "to judge." Initially, he judges reality and others critically, with severe judgment (the "evil eye"). This is the nature of one who is spiritually immature. Dan is likened to a snake, who bites with the venom of anger. The "evil eye" is the eye of the snake.

The rectification of Dan is his engaging in the battle of holy anger against evil anger. Our sages teach us that only one from the soul-root of Dan can spontaneously jump up and kill the evil snake: "one like him, killed him." Unfortunately, Dan regularly turned from the Lord and became one of the "Lost" Tribes of Israel, as they are not part of the 144,000 from the tribes mentioned in Rev. 7:5-8. An example of their turning is Samson. He was used by the Lord to judge, yet turned to his own lust over and over, leading to his own destruction.

The sense of holy anger or righteous indignation (the rectification of the month of Tevet) is the ability of the soul to arouse one's good inclination to become angry at one's evil inclination. This our sages teach us in their commentary on the verse in Psalms: "Be angry and don't sin."

11 Facts About the Month of Tevet Every Hebrew Should Know

By Menachem Posner

1. Tevet Is in the Winter

The 10th month on the Jewish calendar, Tevet, occurs in the wintertime. In fact, the entire winter season is sometimes called tekufat (season of) Tevet in Jewish tradition.

2. Tevet Always Has 29 Days

The two months preceding Tevet (Cheshvan and Kislev) can each have either 29 or 30 days, depending on the year. From Tevet and onward, things are simple. Tevet has 29 and Shevat has 30, establishing a pattern of alternating months that continues for the rest of the year.

3. Chanukah Bleeds into Tevet

Chanukah begins on 25 Kislev and continues for 8 days. This means that the final few days of Chanukah extend into Tevet, an otherwise dreary and ordinary month. In the event that the first day of Tevet is on Shabbat, this Shabbat is one of the few times when three Torah scrolls are removed from the ark during morning services. The Torah portion of the week (Mikeitz) is read from one scroll, the Rosh Chodesh reading is read from the second, and the Chanukah portion is read from the third. The Grace After Meals for that Shabbat (which includes additions for Shabbat, Rosh Chodesh, and Chanukah) is also the longest of the year.

4. Esther Was Taken to the Palace

In the book of Esther, we read that Esther was taken to King Ahasuerus's palace "in the 10th month, which is the month of Tevet." The Talmud explains that the month of Tevet was a particularly opportune time, since the cold causes "the body to take pleasure from the body [of another]."

Discover the inner meaning of this teaching.

5. The Siege of Jerusalem Began

Even before it got the name Tevet, when it was known simply as the tenth month, this was a significant time in Jewish history: "In the 10th month, on the 10th of the month, Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylonia, came—he and his entire army—against Jerusalem, and encamped against it, and they built siege works around it."

6. The 10th Day of the Month Is a Fast Day

The book of Zechariah tells us that four fast days will become days of "joy and gladness and good festivals" in the era of Moshiach, including "the fast of the 10th," a reference to the 10th day of Tevet (the 10th month). On this day, Jewish people mourn the destruction of Jerusalem; the result of the siege which began on that day. From daybreak to nightfall no food or drink is consumed, and extra prayers are recited.

7. Two Other Tragic Events Happened as Well

A section of an ancient Greek rendering of the Book of Esther.

Tradition tells us that the fast of 10 Tevet commemorates two other tragic events.

On 8 Tevet, at the behest of Ptolemy of Egypt, the Torah was translated into Greek, marking a sharp decline of Jewish spirituality, the Torah now perceived as just another book of wisdom in Ptolemy's great library.

9 Tevet is the yahrzeit of Ezra the Scribe, the spiritual leader of the Jews, who returned to the Land of Israel from Babylonia and rebuilt the Temple in Jerusalem. The death of this great leader, who left an indelible mark on Jewish life and observance, was deeply mourned.

Yet, a single fast was declared for all three events, so that the month would not be full of sadness and mourning.

8. Agents Were Not Dispatched from Jerusalem

In Temple times, at the start of every Jewish month that contained a holiday, agents were dispatched from Jerusalem to notify the Jewish people in every community of when the month had begun, so that they would know when to observe the holiday. But no runners were sent out at the start of Tevet. Since the fast would one day be abolished, it was not considered binding at that time, and did not warrant special notification.

9. Tevet Is Babylonian

The name "Tevet" was adopted by the Jewish people during the Babylonian exile. It is believed to connote "sinking" or "immersing." This is possibly related to the fact that the heavy winter rainfall turns much of the Middle East into a muddy swamp at this time of year.

Learn why the Jewish months have Babylonian names

10. The Mazal of Tevet Is the Goat

Every Jewish month is associated with the zodiac symbol which is dominant at that time. The symbol of Tevet is the gedi (goat, Capricorn).

11. Tevet Is Special in Chabad

The 5th day of Tevet is marked with celebrations in Chabad, as it is the date when a U.S. federal judge ruled that the extensive library left by the sixth Lubavitcher rebbe, Rabbi Yosef Yitzchak Schneerson, of righteous memory, belonged to the community, recognizing the extraordinary nature of a rebbe as a communal figure.

"I and the FATHER are one." A Hebrew perspective!

Reuven ben Yosef (Bob Koch)

It's no secret that the Judean establishment leadership were threatened by Yeshua.[1] They are reported to have constantly been looking for a way to eliminate Him from the very beginning of His work (Mark 3:6; John 8:3-6, Matt 22:34-36, etc.). A few times, the Judeans even went so far as to pick up stones and accuse Him of being a

1 Judeans: Those Israelites who came from and/or lived in Judea. Also referred to as "Jews" at the time of Yeshua.

"blasphemer" for "equating" Himself with God. The Gospels contain more than a few examples of the establishment leadership testing Him, twisting His words, and questioning His works to see if He was upholding or violating any "oral halakhic or traditional ordinances" which, in their rulings, were just as authoritative as the written Law of Moses.[2]

Sometimes, the ordinary Judeans, including His own disciples, are portrayed in the Gospels as being too unsophisticated to grasp Yeshua's use of allegories and metaphors. Yeshua's teachings often used familiar "rabbinic" teaching methods to convey His messages. But they could be very difficult for the average Judean or anybody not familiar with that style of teaching to grasp. As an interesting side note, Yeshua's parables were kept deliberately obscure, and their true meaning was hidden for a reason. Later, Yeshua had to privately explain to His disciples what He was teaching.[3]

This figure of speech Yeshua used with them, but they did not understand what He was saying to them. John 10:6

Please keep this in mind going forward: The aforementioned statement specifically referred to Yeshua's use of the shepherd-sheep metaphor that began in John 10:1-5 and continued throughout the entire chapter. His declaration, "I and the Father are one," is a very good example of how metaphorical and allegorical figures of speech, commonly used throughout the Tanakh, often confused or angered people or both. At the conclusion of His extended metaphor, Yeshua was accused of claiming equality with God for stating:

2 Halakhah: Extra biblical traditional and oral "laws" of the Judean Sages of Babylon and later of Judah (i.e. "Palestinian") recorded in the Mishna, Gamara and later compiled in the Talmud and elsewhere.

3 Yeshua often spoke in enigmatic parables. This was to fulfill prophecy. "I will open my mouth in parables; I will utter things hidden since the foundation of the world." Ps 78:2 (Matt 13:34-35, see also Matt 13:10-17 from Isa 6:9-10)

"My sheep hear My voice, and I know them, and they follow Me. I give them eternal life, and they will never perish, and no one will snatch them out of My hand. My Father, who has given them to Me, is greater than all, and no one is able to snatch them out of the Father's hand. I and the Father are one." The Judeans picked up stones again to stone Him. John 10:27-30 (CJB)

Even though the Scribes and Pharisees knew exactly what Yeshua meant in the context of the Hebrew Scriptures (Tanakh: TNK), Yeshua's accusers took the opportunity to use His statement about being "one" with His Father as a pretext for labeling Him a "blasphemer" in order to stir up the crowd against Him. The 12 tribes of Israel were called the "son of God" in the TNK (Ex 4:22-23; Deut 14:1; Hos 11:1), just as David and Solomon were (Ps 89:26-27; 2Sam 7:14) – did the Scribes and Pharisees take that literally as well? Of course not. They knew this metaphor very well. But the establishment leaders chose to disregard the recognizable symbolism of Yeshua's statement and deliberately misconstrue its meaning in order to further their political agenda.

However, when one examines the entire passage, in context, the true meaning of Yeshua's declaration becomes readily discernable. Yeshua said His "Father" who "is greater than all," had "given" Him the sheep. Obviously, He is not speaking of actual sheep here. The "sheep" represented all His true disciples who "hear" His voice and "follow" Him. He told the crowd that "no one will snatch" the sheep from His or His Father's hands. On this point He and the Father are in total agreement – they are "one" – in mind and spiritual intent.

Yeshua's speech is part of a teaching and confrontation that happened at Solomon's Colonnade during the Festival of Dedication (Hanukkah), also known as the Festival of Lights. In order to put Yeshua's statement into its full context, we need to do a short summary of John 10:1-16 where Yeshua began the "sheep – good shepherd" metaphor. As you read the following summary, please keep in mind the crowd didn't comprehend His shepherd-sheep metaphor, i.e. "the figure of speech" He used (John 10:6). Please feel free to read verses 1-16 for yourself.

Summary for John 10:1-16: The first half of chapter ten was all about "the good shepherd" whose job it is to "save" the sheep so they may have "abundant life." Yeshua was telling the Judeans how His true disciples know and follow His voice, and because they do so, they will "live." Among other things, this referred to His "flock" "walking" in unity in "the way" of the "higher Torah" that leads to eternal life. This was made clear in Yeshua's primary answer to the young Judean man who asked Him the ultimate question.

"Good Teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life?" And Yeshua said to him, "Why do you call Me good? No one is good except God alone. You know the commandments: 'Do not murder, Do not commit adultery, Do not steal, Do not bear false witness, Do not defraud, Honor your father and mother.'" (Mark 10:17-19)

But the one who looks into the perfect Law, the Law of liberty, and perseveres, being no hearer who forgets but a doer who acts, he will be blessed in his doing. (James 1:25)

By this we may know that we are in him: whoever says he abides in Him ought to walk in the same way in which He walked. (1 John 2:5-6)

Yeshua continued by stating that the good shepherd loves his flock and "lays down his life for the sheep" when the "wolf" comes to drag one off and scatter the entire flock. Once again, we all know the wolf is not a literal animal. The wolf is any teacher of false doctrines wrongly presented as Torah or, in the immediate political context of the time, the attractive Greek-style temptations which enticed Judeans to abandon the Torah and follow a pagan lifestyle. Yeshua also said He is not like the "hired hand" who "cares nothing for the sheep" and "flees," allowing the wolf to "snatch" one and "scatter" the flock. The hired hands are those false leaders motivated by their own self-interest and not by love for the flock entrusted to them. He added that He had other sheep that were "not of this fold" that would also listen to His voice. They would be brought into His fold so there will be "one flock, one shepherd." Yeshua described Himself as both the "good shepherd" and the "door" through which the sheep must pass to be "saved" from the thieves and wolves.

It is hard to grasp, 2,000 years later in a Western culture, just how provocative Yeshua's declaration was. Yeshua was clearly identifying Himself with the prophesied descendent of David by utilizing the shepherd-king allusion. The establishment political and religious leaders, many of whom were experts in the Hebrew Scriptures (TNK), would certainly have understood His use of the extended metaphor of the promised Davidic messiah-shepherd-king of Israel. They also would have understood He was implying that they were the corrupted "hired hands" who abdicated their responsibility to guard and care for the flock. This obviously didn't go over too well with the leadership. In fact, they viewed this as a direct threat to their power.

The following verses show a few instances of the use of the ancient Messianic metaphor of the (good) shepherd-king and his sheep in the TNK.

And YHWH (i.e. the LORD) your God said to you (David), "You shall be shepherd of My people Israel, and you shall be prince over My people Israel." (2 Sam 5:2; 1Chron 11:2)

"I will save My flock; they shall no longer be a prey. And I will judge between sheep and sheep. And I will set up over them one shepherd, My servant David, and he shall feed them: he shall feed them and be their shepherd. And I, YHWH, will be their God, and My servant David shall be prince among them. I am YHWH. I have spoken." (Ezek 34:22-24)

"My servant David shall be king over them, and they shall all have one shepherd and David, My servant shall be their prince forever." (Ezek 37:24-25)

As stated, the "shepherd" in these passages is referring to the descendant of the line of King David, whom God appoints as a king-prince to guard His people. The aforementioned quotes demonstrated that YHWH will be their God who saves the flock from destruction. He anoints His servant, David's descendant, to be their shepherd-king-prince "forever." This is another example of the Law of Agency (Agency) at work.[4]

As I wrote last month, this will be the ultimate fulfillment of the Pharaoh-Joseph Agency prototype. Both the TNK and the NT confirm the Agency "savior-agent" position. The Hebrew word for "savior" and "deliverer" is the same in Hebrew, "moshia," and comes from the root "yasah" ("to deliver"; Strong's #H3467).

I, even I, am the LORD, and there is no savior besides Me. (Isa 43:11; 45:22, Jer 3:23, etc.)

But when they were oppressed, they cried out to You. From heaven, You heard them, and in Your great compassion You gave them saviors who delivered them from the hand of their enemies. (Neh 9:27) ("saviors" and "delivered" both from "yasha" root)

4 For details, please see my post, The 'Law of Agency,' from last months, Kislev 5783 newsletter.

To the only God our Savior be glory, majesty, power and authority, through Messiah Yeshua our Master, before all ages, now and forevermore! Amen. (Jude 1:25)

At that point, the people became divided (John 10:19-21). Many in the crowd wanted to believe Yeshua might be the "good shepherd," the promised descendant of David. For them, this prophesied King Messiah would conquer Rome and all other enemies of Israel, reunite the 12 tribes, and re-establish a true Torah-based society in the Land (Ezek 37:15-28, Jer 31:31-34, etc.). But some people did not believe. It is my opinion that undercover operatives of the establishment were put into the crowd as "agent provocateurs" in order to sow doubt, mistrust, and incite violence against Him.

So the Judeans gathered around Him and said to Him, "How long will you keep us in suspense? If you are the Messiah, tell us plainly." Yeshua answered them, "I told you, and you do not believe. The works that I do in My Father's name (i.e. authority) bear witness about Me, but you do not believe because you are not among My sheep. My Father, who has given them to Me, is greater than all, and no one is able to snatch them out of the Father's hand. I and the Father are one." The Judeans picked up stones again to stone him. Yeshua answered them, "I have shown you many good works from the Father; for which of them are you going to stone Me?" The Judeans answered Him, "It is not for a good work that we are going to stone You but for blasphemy, because You, being a man, make yourself God."
(John 10:24-26, 29-33)

When the leaders and their agents-provocateurs heard Yeshua say that He and the Father are "one," (i.e "of one mind") regarding the protection of the "sheep," they seized the opportunity to attack Him. Accusing Him of "blasphemy" because "You being a man, make yourself God" (John 10:33), they picked up stones to kill Him.

Yeshua then gave them a scriptural conundrum to which they could not reply.

Yeshua answered them, "Is it not written in your Torah, 'I said, you are gods'? If He called them gods to whom the word of God came – and Scripture cannot be broken – do you say of Him whom the Father consecrated and sent into the world, 'You are blaspheming,' because I said, 'I am the Son of God'? If I am not doing the works of My Father, then do not believe Me; but if I do them, even though you do not believe Me, believe the works, that you may know and understand that the Father is in Me and I am in the Father." Again, they sought to arrest Him, but He escaped from their hands.
(John 10:34-39; 14:7-12)

Yeshua was referring to the judges of Israel who are identified as "gods" (Heb. "elohim") in Psalm 82:6 because they sat in judgment of the Israelites in the authority and place of God administering the Laws of Moses (God's word). They are another good example of biblical Agency at work. Yeshua pointed out that if they can act in God's power and authority on earth, and God himself called them "gods" why can't He do God's works under the same authority and also be called the "son of God," like David and Solomon were? But, predictably, all He ended up doing was adding fuel to the fire. That said, please allow me to remind you again that John stated at the beginning of the chapter that the common people couldn't understand Yeshua's "figure of speech" (John 10:6), even when He further expounded on it as He did here.

Yeshua was only reiterating that He did all His "works" at the command and with the authority He received from His "Father" (Agency). He was not "claiming equality with God."

For this reason the Father loves Me, because I lay down My life that I may take it up again. No one takes it from Me, but I lay it down of My own accord. I have authority to lay it down, and I have authority to take it up again. This command I have received from My Father." John 10:17-18; Matt 9:8; 28:18, etc.

Men of Israel, listen to this message: Yeshua of Nazareth was a man certified by God to you by miracles, wonders, and signs, which God did among you through Him, as you yourselves know. (Acts 2:22; John 3:2, 9:30-33)

Independent sources from Josephus to passages from the Dead Sea Scrolls indicate that the messianic movement was extremely popular with the common people. So, I think that large numbers of people were coming to believe in Yeshua, which was very dangerous for the political and religious leaders. Later, when Yeshua's brother Jacob (James) was the "paquid" (bishop) of Jerusalem" and the overseer of the entire Messianic Movement, the believers, or followers of "The Way" were the largest religious sect in Judea. Jacob (James) even pointed out to Paul:

"You see, brother, how many thousands of Jews have believed, and all of them are zealous for the Torah. (Acts 21:20). [5]

Interestingly, virtually every Christian I've talked with over the past 38 years did not remember John telling his readers that the overall Judean crowd couldn't understand the symbolism of Yeshua's message. In fact, they pointed out to me that the crowd's reaction was "evidence" that Yeshua WAS claiming equality with God. Their reasoning:

5 "thousands": Gr. "myriades" – a group of ten thousand; a number too high to count (Strong's #G3461)

The Judean crowd must have understood the "truth": He really was claiming equivalence with God. Otherwise, why would the leadership accuse Him of "blasphemy?" These Christians never considered the perfidy of the corrupt religious and political establishment.

Therefore, even though some of the people on the Temple Mount might have genuinely believed Yeshua was blaspheming, I believe it is more likely that the religious and political leadership were encouraging and provoking the crowd to go against Yeshua to further their agenda to get rid of Him.

This leaves us with a question we all must answer if we are ever to completely understand Yeshua's two most divisive and enigmatic statements in John chapter ten: What is the proper biblical exegesis – i.e. the interpretation of a text based only on determining the "writer's or speaker's intent" – of Yeshua's proclamations, "I and the Father are one," combined with his statement that the Father is "in Him" and He is "in the Father?" The good news is that there is no need to speculate. Take my word for it; consult Bible "experts" or those who may only be able to provide us with the approved GR Church exegesis on these verses – i.e. reading a meaning into the text to make it fit a pre-determined conclusion. In fact, the proper exegesis of Yeshua's words is given to us by Yeshua himself!

"I do not ask for these only, but also for those who will believe in Me through their word, that they may all be one, just as you, Father, are in Me, and I in you, that they also may be in us, so that the world may believe that you have sent Me. The glory that you have given Me I have given to them, that they may be one even as we are one, I in them and you in Me, that they may become perfectly one, so that the world may know that you sent Me and loved them even as you loved Me." (John 17:20-23) (note: this passage combines and expands John 10:30 & 38)

Here is Paul's version of what Yeshua said:

There is one body and one spirit, just as you too were called to the one hope of your calling, one Master, one faith, one immersion, one God and Father of all, who is over all and through all and in all. (Eph 4:4-6)

And this is John's version:

Whoever keeps His [God's] commandments abides in Him, and He in him. And by this we know that He abides in us, by the spirit that He has given us. (1 John 3:24; 2:5-6)

The answer is really quite simple. Yeshua said the ultimate goal is for God our Father, Yeshua and all of us "sheep" to "become one." Being "one" with God connotes the Hebrew biblical idea of obeying His commands by "walking in the same way as Yeshua [He] walked" and thereby being intimately united (abiding) in Him and He in us with one purpose, one mind and one spirit.

Terry Friesen: Nov 21, 2025 Victory by the Fire of God

In the early morning hours of Aug 12, 2025, I received a very impactful dream that is starting to come to life.

The dream started with me going up and down stairs within a building, I knew I was in a place of prayer and intercession. Then abruptly I excited a door to the outside and found myself in a dark damp alley deep in an inner-city environment in the middle of the night.

When I excited the building, I found myself uncomfortable and in a hurried state of mind. Gathering my wits about me, I started to slow my heart rate and realized I was on fire. Flames were leaping off of every part of my body but yet I wasn't burning or being consumed in the process. I could feel the flames over every part of my body, and

I could even see them when I looked forward because they were even moving over every part of my face. The was no question I was covered.

I turned my attention to my surroundings. This alley did not feel safe, and it actually felt like a very risky place to be. "This was the type of alley someone may get murdered in," I thought to myself. I needed to find a way out, so I looked behind myself and in front of myself to assess the terrain. As I did this, the Lord opened my eyes in the spirit and I could see a multitude of demonic beings on both ends, moving towards me, and I was in the middle with no place to go.

My heart started to fear, and my mind suggested I need to decide quickly how I was going to respond to my circumstance. I looked at myself, and looked at the enemy on both ends, and decided now was the time to embrace faith, to really believe the word of God and proceed without restraint. Emboldened by this newfound courage and childlike faith, I decided to move quickly.

I could see behind me a formidable force of the enemy and in front of me the same surrounding the ringleader. I decided to charge the enemy's fortress and place of strength. I determined that if I were to beat him in the place of his stronghold, he would fall once and for all, and I would never find myself trapped in this predicament again.

Fully engulfed in flames, I started to charge in the enemy's direction. As I did, the enemy absolutely panicked. He did not expect me to do this, and he was filled with the terror of the Lord. When I saw his fear, I knew I would gain the victory, and he would lose this territory. Then I awoke.

I've thought about this dream often in the last few months, and I am now seeing it's message and the fire of God start to arise in His people in greater measure. I believe this has both personal and corporate applications.

The church has largely remained in an interior or hidden place. In all honesty, in some cases the body of Christ has simply been in hiding from the world. But we can be kind and say they have been in a hidden place of prayer and intercession. We have been in preparation to take background from the enemy and in his worldly domains.

In the dream, I did not choose to go outside, but all of a sudden found myself outside and in an exposed place. I was completely covered in fire, suggesting I had been in intercession and close to the Lord's purposes in an interior role affecting my inner man.

The I found myself outside, and fully exposed. What had been developed in secret, the fire, was now on the outside of me and had become a weapon.

It's interesting that the fire was not on the outside of me until I found myself in an exposed and risky place where I needed to either advance or die. Even then, when I felt fear, I had to decide to succumb to that fear or choose to walk by childlike faith. The truth of the word of God would be actualized, and the Lord would prove Himself faithful in the midst of my real need.

We are coming into a season of Kingdom advancement, and this will not take place in the way it needs to if the body of Christ does not engage. Increasingly, we will find ourselves in places where we need to use faith, where we need to engage.

As I was in a prayer and worship meeting at lunch hour recently, the fire of God within me was so overwhelming that I needed to get up and move. I felt as though my body, my soul, was going to combust, and movement helped to relieve some of the pressure. I could feel the fire of God coming up from my inner person, Holy Spirit at the centre of my spirit man, and flow throughout my soul, burning away anything that did not belong.

As I stood, the fire inside started to subside, and just as I was catching my breath this same fire started to fall on the outside me. I could feel it all over my body, on my arms and hands. I was aflame in the spirit, with the same fire that had just moments ago come from the inside of me.

To be clear, the Holy Spirit resides inside of us, and He also comes upon us for service. It's the same fire of the Spirit for different purposes. Our lengthy walk of yielding to the Lord, creating a place within us where His fire can dwell, is about to come upon us for the things we have been prepared for.

Tevet 2, 5786: Monday-December 22, 2025

Nathan French Ministries

I want to take you back to December 31, 2021. Every day, we are seeing things that were done in secret and darkness being brought to light. Take a look at this word from Nathan French and bring it into today. So many uninformed people want to complain about President Trump, or they say he hasn't done what he said he would do. WB

Failed Prophesy

Lord, how would you like me to respond to the talk of failed prophecies?

Did Trump Win? We all know now that he did indeed.

In regard to your predictions on Trump winning the election—he did! That was a true statement you gave to President Trump, "You're going to win big!" (October 27, 2000).

When cheating is involved, it is not counted as a win but a disqualification. When a person is running for office who is spiritually disqualified, they do not have the anointing that it takes to carry out the functions of that office. Fear and control lead to lies and torment. Love and truth bring peace and power by the Holy Spirit. Light and Darkness have been at war since the beginning. Evil looks to discredit good, and good seeks to expose evil.

"Woe to those who call evil good, and good evil; who put darkness for light, and light for darkness." (Isaiah 5:20a NKJV)

Accountability is coming very rapidly. At times we feel like it takes so long for God to do something. The scope of Heaven to earth is so different. A day in Heaven is like 1,000 years on earth! It hasn't even been a day in Heaven, and President trump has done more for the people and nation than any previous president. WB

There are many who misunderstand how to interpret the prophetic, and some who are prophetic who misspeak. The truth is, all have sinned and fallen short.

"For all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God" (Romans 3:23 NKJV)

So, should there be accountability in the prophetic community? Absolutely! Those who make predictions that are wrong should speak up and apologize. But never apologize for getting it right—instead, let things play out. If you give a time frame like, "next week" and it does not happen, the word was false. A person who knowingly deceives people through the prophetic is a false prophet, and one who accidentally gets a word wrong is one who is learning and growing in the gift of prophecy. Many are called false prophets who are not even prophets, and some are false prophets who seek to deceive from an anti-Christ spirit.

Hear My Voice and Prophesy

"In the scripture, I ask My people to speak as though they are speaking the very oracles of God."

"If anyone speaks, let him speak as the oracles of God. If anyone ministers, let him do it as with the ability which God supplies, that in all things God may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom belong the glory and the dominion forever and ever. Amen." (1 Peter 4:11 NKJV)

Everyone should prophesy.

"For you can all prophesy one by one, that all may learn and all may be encouraged." (1 Corinthians 14:31 NKJV)

"Hearing My voice is a lifelong pursuit. Many factors will determine the clarity of hearing, such as the posture of an individual's heart. Instead of attempting to discredit the voice of My servants, it would be wise to consider what they are saying. Then learn to hear Me for yourself.

"Some got it wrong; that is, they heard another voice, which led them to get it right by discerning the right voice—My voice. Others fear getting it wrong, and say nothing. I, the Lord, would prefer to see the practice that makes perfect as My people grow in the gifts that I freely give. Many have buried their talent because they don't want to be called false prophets or be seen as liars and deceivers. I say, purify your hearts and check your own motives. Then you will grow in hearing the voice of your God. If you are your own god, you have partnered with the anti-Christ spirit.

"The voice of Truth wants to speak for you so that you can grow in wisdom and understanding."

"Pilate therefore said to Him, "Are You a king then?" Jesus answered, "You say rightly that I am a king. For this cause I was born and for this cause I have come into the world, that I should bear witness to the truth. Everyone who is of the truth hears My voice." (John 18:37 NKJV)

"People need Love and so many need to be healed. Unite with the Truth and walk in grace and mercy. Remember the good that I have done, and you will not judge to condemn but to evaluate from a restorative heart. I desire that all My people would prophesy."

Be Thankful for this year of purging, and have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

Andrew Whalen: Awakening & Deliverance into a Bright Golden Age!

Removing the Leaven—the Dividing of Israel

Dream received on October 25, 2025:

In the dream, I saw bread and baskets. I had revelation when I saw this bread and these baskets that I was looking at Israel. Next, in the dream, I saw the bread being pulled apart by hands. I looked and wondered why I was seeing the bread pulled apart and noticed something was being removed from it. I realized it was leaven. Somehow, I knew these hands were pulling out the leaven within it.

I saw that what remained was the unleavened bread. I also knew in the dream that this was a time for the "breaking up," "pulling apart," and "dividing" of Israel to remove the profane from the holy and the leaven from the unleavened. End of dream.

I'm not suggesting that the nation of Israel will be broken or shattered literally, but I do believe that God's hands are involved in removing the leaven from the midst of this people. Specifically, the satanic cabal that has leavened the land and the name of the Jews.

"Look, I will force those who belong to satan's synagogue—those liars who say they are Jews but are not—to come and bow down at your feet. They will acknowledge that you are the ones I love." (Revelation 3:9 NLT)

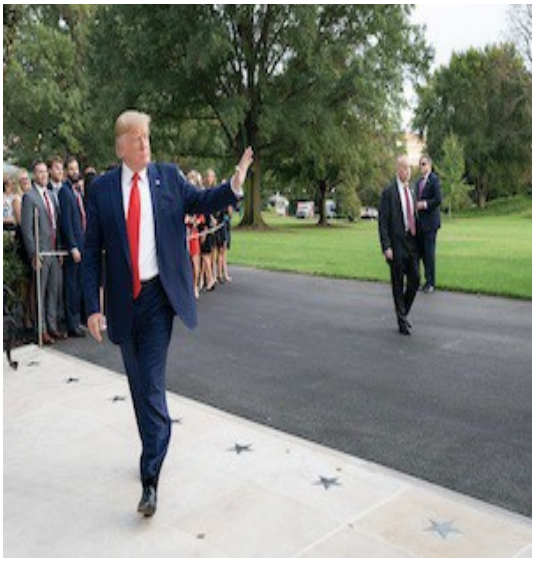

"And they shall teach My people the difference between the holy and profane, and cause them to discern between the unclean and the clean." (Ezekiel 44:23 KJV)

President Trump and New York

Dream received on November 5, 2025:

Last night, while watching a show with my family, I began to feel a strong burden from the Lord (unrelated to what we were watching). I was unsettled, and it was almost as if I was discerning confusion, despair, and fear in the hearts of Americans—especially in the Body of Christ.

I began to feel something of a swirl in the spirit and couldn't put my finger on it. I didn't verbalize what I felt, but I quietly began to pray to the Lord. I said, "Lord, I need understanding about what is going on in America right now, and I need a dream sent tonight from You!"

The Lord heard my prayer and sent a dream.

In the dream, I was in a room with several people. President Trump walked in. He was very interested in the people there. He walked throughout the room, looked each person in the eyes, and shook their hand. When he came to me, he did the very same thing. I became aware that he was looking into our eyes to see if we understood him—like really understood him—and what he was doing. I knew in the dream that when he shook my hand and looked in my eyes that he saw that I understood him. (Photo via Flickr)

Then, I suddenly found myself standing in New York with President Donald Trump. He was looking at the city he loved and remembering different places that were nostalgic and meaningful to him. I knew that he felt love for New York the way that someone has love for the town they grew up in. I knew it saddened him to see such utter devastation and destruction throughout the city. He watched it go from the bright beacon it once was to a place now overrun with corruption and darkness.

I looked at the city again, and this time it looked like it was falling apart and in disrepair, almost as if it had been in a war. But I looked again at Trump, and no one knew that he was walking these streets, but the secret service and military were accompanying him.

At this point in the dream, I suddenly became aware, by revelation, that the military must present a scenario to the American people of their greatest city overrun and taken down by enemies within and without. Trump was sad that this had to be done, but he knew this was the only way to show the people what the enemies of America would do without an awakened population!

I then understood that Trump was not hopeless; he was just sober, because the plan needed to bring us into a reality that gets worse before it gets better!

The dream ended as I witnessed great peace in his eyes and in the military, because they were in control of this plan. I knew that what lies ahead for America is an incredible awakening and deliverance into a bright golden age!

I believe it will be necessary for things to seem as if they are getting worse, but to understand that it is the precipice for when things get much, much better! Pray, trust, and know that the best days for America and New York are yet ahead!

Don't Be Afraid of the Bear

Dream received on October 28, 2025:

In my dream, I saw a ferocious bear. It was a younger bear, and somehow, I was with my dog Oliver. I'm not certain, but it felt like this was in a warmer season, and I saw American flags around.

I overheard people everywhere. They were telling me to flee for my life and to run from the bear. They felt doom for me and for them. However, as I walked over to the bear with Oliver, the bear yielded and became just like my dog in temperament. It was under control and non-threatening, and peaceful. I had a deep knowing that this bear could be trusted, because it was under control.

I knew others would continue to be afraid, because they couldn't see or discern what I knew. I then opened the door for the bear to get into the car, and I peacefully rode home with him. People were almost terrified out of their minds for me, but I rested in the "knowing" of my spirit that this bear was not a threat, contrary to what everyone else believed.

Then, upon bringing the bear into my home, I saw that peace entered with us, and a feast was prepared for us. A huge, incredible bowl of berries was prepared for the bear, almost like a plate you would see at a king's table, and I went to feed the bear. The bear ate the feast it was offered, and I knew this was a very historical moment, because what used to be a threat to our lives was now a trusted friend of peace. (Photo via Pexels)

I immediately woke up and heard, "The Bear nations and the Bear economy will terrify America, but you must know that My olive branch was extended and received, and I will use their threat to now be the very thing that ministers My peace, for now the Bear is an ally of My peace!"

Then, quietly pondering the dream further, I heard the Spirit say, "The king will feed this bear, and people will say, 'He is out of his mind,' but he is not out of his mind. He is doing what I have ordained, according to Isaiah 11:7, "The cow will feed with the bear, their young will lie down together" (NIV), and Hosea 2:18, "On that day I will make a covenant for them with the beasts of the field and the birds of the air and the creatures that crawl on the ground. And I will abolish bow and sword and battle in the land, and will make them lie down in safety." (BSB)

At last, I heard in my spirit*, "Tell My people, 'The threat of the Bear will not harm you, but it will destroy the deep state.' Tell My people, 'The Bear nations and the Bear economy are under My control, and they will be used against the enemy to bring a transition of time that brings peace and prosperity to America and the nations.'"

This is just my initial commentary on this: I believe it could be a very real possibility that at some point we will see the threat of nuclear war from Bear nations and the threat of a Bear market or even a crash of the economy! I'm personally drawing great encouragement and faith from this dream, because the Lord seems to be reassuring us that the very things that would normally pose a great threat will be the very things that establish peace and freedom from the world-controlling hold of the deep state!

As we are in the eleventh month on our calendar, and prophetically are in a time of accelerating transitions, let's continue to pray that the threats of the Bear will be under the scepter of peace through Jesus Christ, and that this Bear will help break the power of the deep state from America and the nations.

Joe-Joe Dawson: Divine Destiny

In the Bible, there are thousands of scriptures about destiny and the call of God on a person's life. Your destiny and purpose are so unique to this earth, and there is so much God has in store for you.

Jeremiah 29:11 says, "'For I know the plans I have for you,' declares the Lord, 'plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future'" (NIV). Never in that Scripture does it say that the plans God has for you are of harm, sickness, or lack. Stop coming into agreement with things that the Word of God did not say is your portion. The word from the Lord is divine destiny!

A Calling Only You Can Fulfill

There is a calling attached to each person's life that only they can fulfill, and it isn't just mediocre; it's divine. The meaning of the word "divine" is "of God," "from God," or "Godlike" (Merriam-Webster). For us, this means that to achieve our highest potential we have to have God. We need His wisdom, guidance, and the Holy Spirit to complete—down to the last detail—exactly what God designed for us.

The gifts that God has placed inside of you aren't just there for you to have, but they are the tools God gave you to further advance the Kingdom of God. Whether you have the grace to be a teacher, doctor, pastor, or construction worker, you were brought to this earth with those gifts because there is a Kingdom purpose attached to them.

1 Peter 4:10 says, "Each of you should use whatever gift you have received to serve others, as faithful stewards of God's grace in its various forms" (NIV). This verse says it all: Use the gifts you have to serve others, not yourself.

Empowered for the Great Commission

Every person's destiny should have souls attached to it. This means that in whatever field you find yourself, make it your mission field. Our role as Kingdom citizens is to lead people to the saving power of Jesus Christ. The Great Commission is the assignment for every Believer. Mark 16:15 says, "He said to them, 'Go into all the world and preach the Gospel to all creation'" (NIV). (Photo via Hippopx)

God Predestined You for Greatness!

You were born with a purpose and on purpose. In fact, before you were even born, every day was already recorded by God. Psalm 139:16 says, "You saw me before I was born. Every day of my life was recorded in Your book" (NLT). Never for one minute doubt your calling or your value, because God has already predestined you for greatness!

You will never find true fulfillment in anything except exactly what God has called you to do. If you are unsure what your calling is, seek the Lord about it. Ask Him to reveal to you what His plans are for you, and He will.

Here is a spoiler—His plans for you include these things: joy, peace, hope, love, and more adventure than you could ever imagine. Following Jesus is the opposite of boring; it is full of abundant joy and excitement!

Over these final days of 2025, be intentional about your destiny and calling. Pray and seek the Lord about ways that you can advance the Kingdom of God with your gifts, talents, and abilities. This last month of the year will be the best of your life if you can lock in with God and constantly follow the leading of the Holy Spirit.

God's Heart Carriers

Those of you that follow this publication know that I celebrate all of the Christian as well as the Hebrew holidays. Historians know that Yeshua was born on the first day of tabernacles, so I don't spend a lot of time on December 25th. See our past calendars regarding tabernacles for the whole story. At the same time, be blessed and celebrate the LORD with your families. Wade Butler

THE BIRTHING OF A NEW ACTS CHURCH ERA IS UPON YOU!

By: Veronika West

Ok, so I was driving, going about my day, when Holy Spirit suddenly spoke, and I heard Him say,

"Daughter Watch for the birthing of a new Acts Church Era is upon you"!

As soon as I heard those Words, suddenly, I was taken into an Open Vision where I saw a Powerful Mighty Rushing Wind of the Spirit begin to come forth from the deeper realms of Glory - a Mighty Rushing Wind filled with tongues of Fire. I looked within the Mighty Rushing Winds filled with tongues of Fire. Suddenly, I saw Piercing Eyes within the Mighty Rushing Winds - Tongues of Fire and Piercing Eyes within the Mighty Rushing Winds of the Spirit - and I heard these words: "Tongues of Fire shall speak forth My Power, and the Eyes of My Seven Spirits shall bring forth greater Vision, Revelation, and a great unveiling of the hidden Mysteries and Secrets of My Glory.

"For even now, the Winds of My Spirit are stirring in the unseen realms; I AM BROODING over the nations, for the birthing of a new Acts Church Era is at hand.

"That which was hidden shall now be revealed, and that which was delayed shall now be accelerated…

"I AM THE SAME GOD of the Upper Room, and once again My people shall gather, not in the power of the flesh, but in Unity, Purity and the Power of My Spirit. Watch! For the Winds and the Fires shall move together; the Seven Eyes of My Spirit shall search the earth to and fro, and I shall ignite a company who will not fear the flames nor shrink back from the storms.

"I AM RELEASING tongues of fire upon the lips of My Prophets, Prophetic Intercessors, and My Faithful Watchmen. They shall declare mysteries and release decrees that shatter the powers of darkness. Their words will carry My Breath, and their sight will pierce the veils that have covered Nations. The Church that I AM birthing in this hour shall be a Church of Acts, a Mighty Radical Remnant of Action, a Remnant of Demonstrative Power, a Remnant of Unshakable Courage and Devotion. Many will look and say, 'This is not the Church we have known,' for I AM tearing down the scaffolding of man's agendas and Empire Building with the Stones of My choosing.

"Prepare! Prepare! For My Winds and My Fires will not be contained in your structures, nor limited by your man-made traditions. Those who yield shall carry the weight of My Glory, and those who resist shall be bypassed as I move swiftly," says the Spirit of God.

No matter how many times I read this, I just cannot do it without getting chills all over me! I bet you didn't know the following about the manger that Jesus was laid in. Of course, mangers are animal feeding troughs, but in ancient Israel they were made of stone - not what you would see in a modern-day nativity scene. Not comfortable, but great for protection. That's why those who were experts in this matter, the priests, would put their newborn lambs in them for protection. But not just any lamb, the unblemished perfect lambs that were used in the sacrifice for sins. And Bethlehem, where Jesus was born, was FAMOUS for their UNBLEMISHED LAMBS used for the sacrifice. These lambs had to be perfect, so they would wrap them tightly in cloth and lay them in the manger to keep them safe.

This is exactly why the only time mangers are mentioned in Jesus' birth story it is being told to shepherds. In Luke 2 it says, "This will be a sign for you, you will find a baby wrapped in cloth and lying in a manger." The shepherds would have understood this powerful parallel! THEY KNEW what the cloth and the manger meant! This baby would be THE PERFECT LAMB OF GOD, the Messiah who would sacrifice His life for the sins of the whole world. He wasn't just a baby wrapped in swaddling clothes lying in a manger, He was GOD, perfect, sinless and Holy, humbling Himself to become the perfect sacrifice to reconcile us back to Himself!! THAT, my friend, that Perfect Lamb, is WHY we celebrate Christmas!!

Helen Calder: God's Invitation Through the Myrtle

The Treasure You Carry

Esther's Hebrew name was Hadassah, meaning myrtle. It may have seemed humble, but it pointed to her powerful destiny. Today, I believe God is highlighting the gifts and callings He has placed within us from birth—even those that appear hidden, humble, or small.

Perhaps there is a gift you carry, something that stirs your passion. Others may have overlooked it, but to God it is valuable. And it remains a unique part of who you are. God wants you to know that this is part of the treasure He has entrusted to you in this season.

"Yet who knows whether you have come to the kingdom for such a time as this?" (Esther 4:14 NKJV)

When God Highlights What Seems Small

For years, I never stopped to reflect on Esther's Hebrew name. Hadassah seemed ordinary and simple, even unremarkable. But one night, the Lord brought it into sharp focus...

I was working hard to complete a blog post, and the Holy Spirit told me to change my course highlight. The worship ministry was a significant part of my life for thirty years, but it's no longer what I'm known for.

That night, the Spirit said, "It is part of the abundance you carry." But I wrestled with it, thinking, "My audience doesn't relate to me in the worship ministry!"

Later that night, I had a vivid encounter with the Lord. Jesus came to me and placed a crown of foliage on my head.

I had always imagined a spiritual crown with gold and jewels. But this felt light and joyful.

I asked, "Lord, what is this?"

And He said, "This is myrtle."

It was a wonderful gift. It felt personal, and it made me happy. I realized I wanted that humble crown more than one made of gold, silver, or precious jewels. (Photo via Pexels)

Later, I remembered: Esther's Jewish name, her birth name, was Hadassah—Myrtle ([1]). The one who bore that humble name was chosen to fulfill a destiny that changed history. Her Persian name was Esther, meaning "star" (Strong's H635).

The Significance of the Myrtle Tree & Esther's Hebrew Name

That moment set me on a journey of discovering the symbolic meaning of the myrtle tree and, with it, the significance of Esther's Hebrew name, Hadassah. I believe this holds significance for all of us right now.

1. Peace and Prosperity

The myrtle tree is a symbol of peace and prosperity in the Bible.

"Instead of the brier shall come up the myrtle tree." (Isaiah 55:13 NKJV)

Where there are thorns and barrenness, God promises fruitfulness and flourishing.

2. Redemption Through Christ

This leads us to redemption. I noticed the thorns are contrasted with myrtle (Isaiah 55:13).

"The soldiers twisted a crown of thorns and put it on His head." (John 19:2 NKJV)

Through Jesus' suffering, He turned our shame into glory, and our "thorns" into a crown of beauty.

3. Restoration and Rebuilding

Zechariah's visions began "among the myrtle trees" (Zechariah 1:11).

From there, God promised: "I will return to Jerusalem with mercy, and there my house will be rebuilt." (Zechariah 1:16 NIV) (Photo via Piqsels)

The myrtle points to God's promise of restoration, rebuilding, and renewal.

4. Hope in the Valleys

Zechariah saw the myrtle growing in the ravines and shaded valleys. Even in the low, hidden places, God reveals His presence and comfort.

"My cities shall again spread out through prosperity; the LORD will again comfort Zion." (Zechariah 1:17 NKJV)

He meets us in the valleys with hope and encouragement.

5. Identity and Calling

The myrtle is a relatively small tree, especially compared with the cedars! It represents God's people, humble yet chosen, just as Esther, whose Hebrew name was Hadassah (Myrtle), was called "for such a time as this." (Esther 4:14)

God chooses the yielded, those small in the world's eyes, the fragrant ones, to bring about His purposes.

6. Dwelling in God's Presence

Myrtle branches were used during the Feast of Tabernacles to build booths. (Nehemiah 8:15)

It strikes me that their humble height meant they were within reach—accessible to all!

This feast celebrated God's faithfulness and presence. The myrtle points to His invitation to dwell with Him in joy and worship.

7. Regeneration and New Life

God promises to plant the myrtle as a sign of His creative power: "I will plant in the wilderness the cedar and the acacia tree, the myrtle and the oil tree… that they may see and know… the hand of the LORD has done this" (Isaiah 41:19–20 NKJV). Here, the myrtle speaks of God bringing life, fruitfulness, and glory even in barren places.

God's Invitation Through the Myrtle

This is the message of Hadassah (Esther) and the myrtle: God crowns the humble, lifts the lowly, and uses them to display His glory.

Hannah once declared, "He raises the poor from the dust and lifts the beggar from the ash heap, to set them among princes and make them inherit the throne of glory." (1 Samuel 2:8 NKJV) (Photo via Pexels)

So, if you've ever questioned the value of what you bring to the table, those gifts and passions are not small. They are part of the "abundance you carry." And He wants you to know your worship is fragrant to Him.

A Sign of Victory

When the Lord placed a crown of myrtle on my head in that vision, it wasn't only a symbol of humility; it was also a prophetic sign of victory.

In the New Testament, Paul described crowns of foliage, wreaths awarded to athletes who had run and won their race. "They do it to obtain a perishable crown, but we for an imperishable crown." (1 Corinthians 9:25 NKJV)

When Esther's true identity as Hadassah was revealed, she had victory over the enemy of her people. (Esther 2:10; 7)

You have a unique race; one He has laid out for you. And victory is your inheritance.

Your Offering Is Fragrant

Today, the Lord is placing His crown of myrtle upon you. It is a crown of humility and beauty. He wants you to know your offering is fragrant to Him, and that you can walk confidently, knowing you are chosen and anointed "for such a time as this."

Note:

1. Hadassah, Strong's H1919 (feminine form of the word for myrtle). Esther's Jewish identity was hidden until a pivotal moment, so her Hebrew name would likely have been unknown to the Persian court.

Tevet 7, 5786: Saturday-December 27, 2025

NATE & CHRISTY

Today I'm going to prophesy over you.

We had just wrapped up a podcast recording, and I was turning off the lights and standing there in the dark. I heard the voice of the Lord BOOMING in my spirit, and He said:

"2025 will be known as the year you died to the old. It will be remembered as a year that the Church left Egypt behind and stepped into the new wine."

But those words lingered and reverberated - the year you died

I felt it deeply. And maybe you do too, because that's exactly what happened.

We went through a level of warfare that we hadn't known before, and it was beyond crushing and pressing, beyond a dark night of the soul.

You walked into the valley of the shadow of death and set up a tent.

You went into a season of constant fire, after fire, after fire.

The enemy could see it - 2025 was an impasse. A crossover point is that, if you made it through, you would be unstoppable.

If you didn't give up while the battle was raging, you would break into a whole new chapter of freedom and health you haven't known.

You would close doors that were silently and subtly robbing you for years, and enter into a doorway of fresh revelation, foresight, and vision for the days ahead.

But only if you made it through the "tomb" season and came out the other side.

Because many still feel like they are there right now. Numb. Defeated. Covered in grave clothes and unable to see a future and a hope.

But it's not the death you think it is.

Sure, the enemy wanted to hijack it and make it appear that 2025 was his year of orchestrated assault and assassination, but God's plan all along was to GET YOU TO DIE to everything that had been HOLDING YOU BACK FOR YEARS!

- The old wineskin.
- Religious mindsets.
- Lies and counterfeits.
- Familiar spirits wrapped in wrong relationships.
- Jezebelic control and mental prisons.
- Old insecurities and fears.
- Your past.
- The old you

I look back at 2025, and I feel like I didn't just die, but God gave me eyes to see the things I wasn't seeing before.

He gave us glasses to see the spirit realm and our spiritual lives in a way we weren't seeing, to our detriment for years.

God turned the light on so we could see that we had OUTGROWN the room we were in and could now see the new door opening.

So, the battle became real because the enemy was afraid of you finding freedom, because if you did, you would no longer be controllable, manageable, and triggerable.

But if you haven't quite gotten there yet and you still feel like the tomb has been your home, here is a word of hope - freedom is coming. You are unravelling the past, whether you see it or not. That's why it's been coming to the surface.

God is dealing with what was killing you for years, and is destroying it!

So, that's what really is dying. The old you. The old wineskin in you. The old mindsets. The soul ties to people and places. Grief and pain. Trauma and generational bondage.

And now I hear the Lord calling you out like Lazarus, "Come forth! Leave your sickbed behind! Leave your past behind!"

And I hear the Lord saying, "Do you not feel My Spirit resting over you, brooding over you in this new day? For I am now calling you out of the depths of Sheol, you have been in and into who I have called you to be! From this moment forward, you will not remember or be yoked to the things of the past, but I am bringing you back into My presence and into the finished work of the Cross and the finality of My Blood!"

And as I am typing this, I keep hearing chains shaking. This year may have been a battle, but it's been breaking chains you had tolerated for years.

I keep hearing this scripture.

"I consider that our present sufferings are not worth comparing with the glory that will be revealed in us." (Romans 8:18)

So let me end this here.

The suffering came, but the GLORY is about to be revealed through YOU in Jesus' name!

Tevet 8, 5786: Sunday-December 28, 2025

Veronika West: The Rise of the Sons of Thunder

An Ocean, a Valley, a Cloud, and a Rising Mountain

This morning, after a time of communion, I was suddenly caught up in a powerful open vision. I was standing on the shore of a vast and mighty ocean. I could see many nations in the valley of decision behind me. Suddenly, my eyes were drawn to the horizon, where I saw a great mountain beginning to rise. As I looked at the mountain, I saw a small cloud come out of the heavens and begin to descend upon the mountain top.

As the cloud began to descend upon the mountain top, my eyes were then drawn to the waters of the vast ocean that stood before me in the open vision. I saw the waters of the ocean begin to recede slowly from the shoreline. As I watched the waters of the sea being drawn back, I saw the small cloud that had started to descend upon the mountain top begin to increase in size. The further the waters were drawn back, the larger the cloud on the mountain top grew, until the mountain top was completely covered and could no longer be seen.

Then I noticed that as the waters receded, and as the cloud grew larger and wider, a great and increasing darkness began to fall upon the nations that stood behind me.

Suddenly, I heard a voice like thunder speaking forth from the cloud on the great mountain, saying, "Come up here. Come up higher, and I will show you what must take place after this." As soon as I heard those words, I was caught up high above the mountain to where I could see the vast ocean beneath me and the nations in the valley of decision.

As I looked, I heard these words: "For behold, darkness will cover the earth and deep darkness the peoples; but the LORD will rise upon you, and His glory will appear upon you. Nations will come to your light, and kings to the brightness of your rising." (Isaiah 60:2–3 NASB1995)

As I heard those words, I knew by revelation that the voice of God was speaking to the sons, to a mighty Joshua and Caleb generation that is now beginning to rise in the earth realm.

God's Voice Is Speaking to a New Breed of Radical Reformers, Kingdom Builders, and Apostolic and Prophetic Legislators

There was an invitation to come up higher to see, to perceive, and to receive new mantles—mantles of the spirit and power of Elijah that are now being released in the place of deeper consecration and ascension. A new movement of the Word and Spirit is being birthed in the earth.

I heard these words: "We are being called to ascend into the deeper realms and dimensions of divine encounter, for the glory of the Lord has descended upon the great mountain. The hour of divine election is now taking place, for this is a sacred and holy moment, marking the hour of awakening, commissioning, transformation, and Kingdom reformation. "Listen, for there is a clarion call to arise and shine, for this is a KIAROS time—a time of divine transition. For nations have entered into a time of divine distinction and separation."

A Convergence of the Seven Realms of the Seven Spirits of God

As I heard those words, I began to descend upon the mountain top in the vision, going down deep into the cloud of His glory. Moving down through the thick cloud, I could see realms and dimensions of the glory coming up before me. I saw a mighty convergence of the seven realms of the seven Spirits of God covering the great mountain top.

As I descended through the realms of the seven Spirits of God, and with each realm I passed through, a mighty bolt of lightning would strike, and then would come the deep rumble and roar of thunder that shook the great mountain, while simultaneously shaking the foundations of the nations in the deep valley below.

What I Saw in the Fourth Realm: The Spirit of Counsel

Continuing to descend through the realms of the seven Spirits, as I began to move, suddenly, the fourth dimension of the seven Spirits came up before me—the realm of the Spirit of Counsel. Then I heard these words: "Lift up your eyes around you and see; they all gather together, they come to you. Your sons will come from far away, and your daughters will be looked after at their side" (Isaiah 60:4 AMP). When I heard those words, I knew by revelation that the Spirit of Counsel—the One who unveils prophetic vision and divine insight—was now moving in the midst of the lightnings and great Thunderings.

In the heart of a divine convergence that was taking place in the midst of the great awakening and shaking of the foundations of the nations in the valley of decision, the Spirit of Counsel was moving strategically, with precision and divine purpose. It was now directing the people of God to see from Heaven's perspective, to bring divine alignment, and to release instruction for movement and Kingdom advancement.

What I Saw in the Fifth Realm: The Spirit of Might Suddenly, the Spirit of Might came up before me as I continued to descend rapidly through the realms of glory. Then I heard, "Then you will see and be radiant, and your heart will tremble [with joy] and rejoice because the abundant wealth of the seas will be brought to you, the wealth of the nations will come to you." (Isaiah 60:5 AMP)

As I heard those words, again, I knew by the Spirit of Revelation that the Spirit of Might, who releases supernatural empowerment and establishes divine dominion, was now going forth upon the nations to release through His righteous remnant the power and authority of Heaven to execute the counsel of God in the earth, causing nations and resources to respond to His divine command.

What I Saw in Sixth Realm: The Spirit of Knowledge

Then I passed through the realm of the Spirit of Knowledge, and I heard these words: "A multitude of camels [from the eastern trading tribes] will cover you [Jerusalem], the young camels of Midian and Ephah; all those from Sheba [who once came to trade] will come bringing gold and frankincense and proclaiming the praises of the Lord." (Isaiah 60:6 AMP)

Again, as I heard the Word of the Lord spoken to me, and as I moved through the sixth dimension of the seven spirits, I knew by revelation that the Spirit of Knowledge was now opening eyes to perceive and hearts to expand in reverent awareness of how and what the seven Spirits of God are doing in this appointed time and season. A divine impartation of supernatural understanding of the divine timings and seasons of God was being released, as well as an invitation to come into covenant partnership in this next move of God's glory in the earth realm!

What I Saw in the Seventh Realm: The Realm of the Spirit of the Fear of the Lord

Then, the seventh realm of the mighty seven Spirits of God unfolded before me. As I moved into this realm, the weight of the glory was overwhelming, thick, and tangible; it was as though I was moving through liquid gold and silver. I had entered into a most sacred and holy place, where thrones and golden crowns from every preceding realm converged, where the fullness of His majesty and power was made manifest. I was in the seventh realm of the Spirit of the Fear of the Lord—the dwelling place where the pure sounds and frequencies of true worship rise before His throne; the place where purity, power, and divine authority converge; where the tangible presence of the Almighty fills the atmosphere, and where His glory overshadows all else.

Then I heard, "All the flocks of Kedar will be gathered to you [as the eastern pastoral tribes join the trading tribes], the rams of Nebaioth will serve you; they will go up with acceptance [as sacrifices] on My altar, and I will glorify the house of My honor and splendor." (Isaiah 60:7 AMP)

As those words spoke forth from within the seventh realm, I suddenly saw the fear of the Lord being released across the nations. I saw the fully restored altars of Elijah rising out of the dark valley of decision. As the altars of Elijah began to rise, a great light began to break forth, and the veil of darkness that covered the nations began to lift. Suddenly, the cloud of His glory that surrounded me began to lift, and I saw a great army mantled in fire and power begin to emerge from the cloud that had covered the top of the mountain. I watched as this great and mighty army, mantled in the spirit and power of Elijah, began to descend into the deep valley below the mountain.

A Tsunami Wave of Glory and a Mighty End-Time Army

Immediately, my eyes were drawn back to the waters of the vast ocean that had receded. I saw a great tsunami wave of glory begin to rise up. I watched as the tsunami wave began to gather in strength, moving with unstoppable power and divine acceleration toward the shoreline, and with great force toward the deep valley of nations. As I looked closer, I could see within the tsunami wave the seven colors of the rainbow—every color unique, distinct, and radiant within the rainbow.

I saw a great army moving as one mighty company, clothed in the covenant light of His glory, mantled in the spirit and power of Elijah. I knew by revelation that this was the end-time army of the "Sons of Thunder," carrying the fire and lightning of His glory into the nations. They are the sons of holiness and purity, carried on by a tsunami wave of His glory. A mighty tsunami wave of Word and Spirit was about to break forth upon the nations that were emerging from the valley of decision.

I heard these words: "Get ready, for a tsunami wave of My glory is coming upon the valley of nations, a wave of My glory carrying the Sons of Thunder, mantled with the spirit and power of Elijah. Watch! For a great move of My Word and Spirit is being birthed in the earth, for now is the time of great awakening, revival, reformation, and a great harvest. Yes, a mighty outpouring of glory that shall sweep across the nations of the earth like wildfire!"

Tevet 9, 5786: Monday-December 29, 2025

The following article, slightly modified from its original posting in the August, 2021 prayer calendar, is very pertinent to this current month's emphasis on spiritual warfare and taking down the giants in the land. Enjoy!

Bruce & Linda Dietler - Kansas

Changing Our Nation Through the Power of Prophetic Declarations

In 2021, Dutch Sheets posted to his website an article entitled Giants Must Fall, which struck a chord with us in that he had spoken a similar word several years prior to that in relation to Wichita, Kansas. Subsequent to Dutch's post, Lou Engle posted a confirming word on Elijah List, "The Power of Prophetic Acts and Intercessory Warfare." Lou dealt with the subject of walking out specific prophetic acts of spiritual warfare in relation to specific localities and how those acts, directed by the Lord, bring powerful spiritual change.

The Apostle Paul instructed that the church of Ephesus should "give no place to the devil" (Eph 4:27), and though this is an individual directive, it is a household imperative as well. Moreover, it is also incumbent upon us, the Ekklesia, to understand the regional and national implications. The Lord desires that His Glory would cover the earth as the waters cover the sea. Satan, for his part, will use his every ability and whatever avenue is open to him to prevent this from occurring. Our thoughts have therefore naturally gravitated to determining our personal responsibility in bringing forth God's desires in this regard and what might be hindering the manifestation. We suggest that just as every family has generational issues which need to be addressed in order that it progress successfully toward the mark of the high calling of God in Yeshua, so too, does each city, state, region and nation have historical roots of spiritual bondage which need to be considered and addressed to free these areas from demonic attachments.

Kansas has a particularly colorful past - from its origin as part of the Louisiana Purchase in 1803 to the Santa Fe Trail and Oregon Trail days of the 1820s-1850s; to the time of "Bleeding Kansas" (mid-1850s to early 1860s) during the violent and bloody conflict over whether the state should enter the Union as a Free State or Slave; the Pony Express days of 1860-1861; the cattle town days and cattle drives to Abilene, Wichita, and Dodge City from 1861-1885; the present era of vast cattle and wheat production; the era of oil production (1914-present); now the "Air Capital of the World" in aircraft production (1920s to present). What a history! Yet throughout much of this time the land was also occupied by many native Americans, known as the Wichita Confederacy, which included associated tribes of Waco, Keechi, Tawakonie and Tonkawa, among others.

Any one of these turbulent eras would have its own set of potential spiritual bondages, but the Indian backstory is particularly problematic here as some of the tribes were given to cannibalism. We were not aware of this until a number of years ago when the Lord quickened Linda's spirit to search out the background of the Wichita Indians. The more area history we learn, the greater authority we can command in the Spirit realm to destroy the associated bondages, attachments and hindrances in that area.

The Spirit of Death had been given place in Wichita, especially, which became known as the "abortion capital of America" in the recent past. This continues to be dealt with by many prayer warriors, and that spirit now has largely been broken.

The most imposing statue in Wichita, known as "Keeper of the Plains," is located at the confluence of the Big and Little Arkansas Rivers, where the Wichita Confederacy used to hold their sacred gatherings, and which is now the site of the Mid-America All-Indian Center. The statue depicts a native warrior with hands lifted up in prayerful petition offering sacrifice to the gods of the land. This statue has been a particular focus of our prayers over time, and in the name of Yeshua, it must fall! We continue to declare that Yeshua is the keeper of the plains! [see Hank Kunneman prophecy of 8/16/21, "Statues will Crumble."] Hank's prophecy was a confirmation to us because we have been declaring since the statue was first erected that it must come down, be it by lightning [as were the Georgia Guidestones in 2022], by earthquake, or by the direct hand of God, it will come down!

Though spiritual battles are ongoing in Kansas and throughout the nation, and they will continue until satan is ultimately stripped of power, Yeshua always causes us to triumph (2 Cor 2:14), and in these battles, we will not fail! Major changes are coming to our nation, and Yeshua has entrusted us with His Word and with the power of His name to bring forth these victories. The mighty name of Yeshua is above every name that is named in heaven, in earth, and things under the earth! Glory be to God!

In Dutch Sheets' 2021 article, he discusses the history of Hebron in Israel. It had once been a city of friendship with God but had been taken over by giants. Caleb went in and declared, "I want that mountain," and at the age of 85, he proceeded to kill the giants and take the city back for God! In their visit to Wichita several years ago, Chuck Pierce and Dutch said that Wichita was as Hebron. The powers of the giants had now been broken, and the Glory of the Lord would be seen upon this city! God's plans are greater than the enemy's plans, and as we cooperate with the Lord, He will bring them to pass.

Years ago, while in Israel, we purchased an olive wood statue of Joshua and Caleb carrying the grapes of Eschol. Since that time, this statue has sat in a prominent place in our living room as a visual declaration along with the scripture passage, Numbers 14:24, "But my servant Caleb, because he had another spirit with him and followed me fully, him will I bring into the land whereinto he went; and his seed shall possess it." In what way did Caleb fully follow the Lord? He fully believed and spoke God's Word. If we desire to be found fully following the Lord in our day as well, such that our seed shall fully possess the land, we need to do likewise.

How do we cooperate with God in these critical areas? Jeremiah 1:9-10 is the key. "Then the Lord put forth His hand, and touched my mouth. And the Lord said unto me, "Behold, I have put my words in thy mouth.

See, I have this day set thee over the nations and over the kingdoms, to root out, and to pull down, and to destroy, and to throw down, to build, and to plant." Our responsibility, as the Ekklesia, is to root out every spirit of darkness from our land; to pull down every principality and power and spiritual wickedness from over our city, our state, and our nation; to destroy every curse placed upon our bloodlines and our seed; to throw down every high place and high thing that would exalt itself against the knowledge of God in all seven mountains of society; and by the power of His Word we must speak into existence (build) that which God desires in our land and we must plant only good seed for future generations.

In the New Testament era, the Word of Life went forth from Jerusalem to Judea to Samaria and to the uttermost parts of the earth. So too, as we are citizens of a town, located in a county within a state within the nation, our words and declarations must go forth beyond the local community, beyond the state level even to the outer limits as the Lord directs. As the Lord gives us wisdom, and as we are faithful to take authority (see Luke 10:19) and break demonic bondages and hindrances in our own lives and homes, we then gain even greater authority to go forth into the larger areas to do likewise.

Just as Rees Howells, the great English intercessor, had to "gain ground" in an area of prayer before he could exert influence in the spirit over the larger areas the Lord showed to him, so do we.

We are ministers of righteousness; we must Declare forth God's righteousness. We are ministers of His Glory; we must Declare God's Glory over our city, our state, our region, our nation. We are ministers of reconciliation; we must Declare reconciliation of the multitudes to Christ.

Angels are available to help in the move of God. Even as satan has territorial spirits assigned to various regions, so too, Heavenly angels are assigned over cities, regions, families, businesses, etc. We need to declare the word of the Lord and loose them to carry out their assignments.

We have obtained copies of several prophetic words which have been spoken over the state of Kansas over the past 100 years. We set our hearts in agreement with these powerful words, and we declare that Kansas has realigned the land with the covenant of God. Because of that, the pillars of Hell cannot stay in place. Satan no longer has authority to hold the land of Kansas captive. We dismantle all principalities and powers that have existed here for millennia. The ability of the enemy to resist the move of God's Glory in this state is broken.

Years ago, the Lord quickened to me that He had placed an entrepreneurial spirit over Wichita to be used for Kingdom purposes, but the church dismissed it. The world appropriated it and ran with it. Beech Aircraft, Cessna, Lear Jet, Pizza Hut, Rent-A-Center, Residence Inn, Koch Industries and many other large international companies all had their beginnings in Wichita. We have since called back that entrepreneurial anointing for the body of Christ for the Glory of God.

There is awesome power in declaration! When we used to leave the area of Wichita, we would literally feel an oppressive heaviness leaving us, but this is no longer the case as darkness and heaviness are gone from the area! Through declarations and prayer, just one person, obedient to the Word of God, can break the powers of darkness and release the light of God into an area. You don't need a prayer group, a holy confirmation, or a particular unction to fulfill your responsibility. We, individually, can do it. *Just do it!

When our daughter was a young teenager and babysitting for neighbors who were heading toward divorce, she marched and prayed through their home, breaking the power of the spirit of divorce from the home and declaring victory in the marriage. The spirit was broken, and divorce was averted! Sara's powerful intercession, even as a twelve-year-old, made such a difference that the homeowner even commented to us, saying, "I don't know what Sara has done, but it's sure different around here!"

So, what is the history of your area, and how can you act in your spiritual authority to take down the giants and bring forth the Glory of the Lord in your locale? Seek God's wisdom to get understanding on the history of the area and whatever spiritual bondages or entanglements that might exist. Utilize that wisdom to destroy the evil and to bring forth the victory God wants to establish. Apostolic leaders might have insight and specific prophetic words spoken in the past regarding the heart of God for your area. Set your prayers in agreement with God's Word and thereby establish His kingdom rule in your region. As we each do our part, it will be exciting to watch as God displays His Glory in our restored nation.

God has directed our household to declare forth an Esther Work for our nation in our day. In Esther's day, God gave His people great favor and victory over all their enemies, as He caused the king to hand over his ring of authority to Esther and Mordecai to make official declarations. We have even greater spiritual authority in the name of the King of Kings, and as His Ekklesia we declare that we rule and reign over every work of darkness. Let us join together in that declaration, in faith believing for the manifestation of God's glory in our land, and never, never, never quit!

I conclude with a spiritual song the Lord put upon my heart a number of years ago. Perhaps the accompanying refrain would be a good one for intercessors and prayer warriors wishing to take down the giants in the land. "Let us press forth the battle in power and faith; overcome in the name of the Lord!"

Don't Give Up!

Refrain:
Don't give up! Don't give up!
Gird your heart; fast and pray; speak the Word.
Let us press forth the battle in power and faith,
Overcome in the Name of the Lord!

1. Heavy spiritual warfare is raging;
Many wounded have fallen away.
But we're seated with Jesus in heavenly places,
And Jesus has carried the day!

2. Jesus Christ is our warrior captain;
We're arrayed in bright armor of light.
As the sword of the Spirit proceeds from our mouth,
Devils flee to the left and the right! [Refrain]

3. By His blood Jesus bought us the victory;
We're redeemed by the blood of the Lamb.
We are marching forth boldly declaring the outcome;
By His blood we are taking the land! [Refrain]

4. Let us comfort the wounded and dying,
By the Name, and the blood and the Word.
We are victors together in Jesus, our Savior.
Hallelujah, for Jesus is Lord! [Refrain]

NATE & CHRISTY

YOU CAN'T WEAR SAUL'S ARMOR IN 2026

Right now, the Lord is saying over his pioneers – "You can't wear Saul's armor in 2026.

You can't keep putting on the religious outfit and old wineskin, and then trying to step into the new mantle I have placed on your life. It won't work, and right now, the tug of war you are in is the tearing of cloths between the old and the new.

Can't you see that I am trying to tear it off you completely? Some of you are trying to hold on to it for dear life. I am not trying to rob you, but rather to deliver you.

I am only trying to cut away what is keeping you stuck when I am leading you into a chapter of FRESH ANOINTING and FIRE

I don't want you constantly disarmed and disabled by the enemy through keeping that door open. I don't want you scattered and conflicted in your mind by serving two ideals. Let it go.

You can't keep trying to look ahead and giving me your yes while also having a backup plan. Burn the plow. Take off the old mantle.

Can you see how suddenly the Sauls are surrounding you? If you delay, it will only get harder to remove it. But if you don't, you'll do another season going around a mountain I never intended for.

Do you want to finally see what I have created you for? Stop looking for fathers and figures to approve of you when I already have.

You have signed enough of your life away for the movements that look big and shiny when I have called you to do something different in this season.

It's a diamond in the rough. But if you don't take off the old, you won't see it. If you keep looking for what is popular in man's eyes, you will miss my glory.

For I am coming differently in this new hour. It will look foolish to the wise and even look like it's against what they have built in their own names and brands. But my glory will be seen.

So, what do you want to wear? The old tatters of the old or step fully into the new? Right now, my people are wrestling between the institution and the revolution. Which will you choose?

Have I not called you to lead the way and call the Church over? Have I not spoken over your life that you would be a new breed leading the Church into the latter glory?

Does not revival rattle in your bones and burn in your belly? Stop tolerating Jezebel! Stop trying to find a peaceful solution or a way to leave her table.

LEAVE! Come out from her and find who you are again! I know the cost seems great, to pioneer beyond this moment and begin to build what I have on My heart.

It will look insignificant, foolish, heretical, and rebellious until the empires collapse. And then the droves will come running.

Do you see, this is the pearl in the field? Come out from under the confusion and deception, tear off the armor of Saul, and wrap this mantle around your shoulders and own it!"

Alysa Fornarotto-Regenye: Prayer based on excerpts from Wade Butler's, "The Heart of a Seer"

In Yeshua's mighty name HaShem Adonai, we cover this prayer with the power of the Holy Spirit, we declare and decree this prayer protected and sealed by the blood of Yeshua from beginning to end, and the enemy neither sees nor hears our hearts' prayers now or in the future, and we erase the enemy's memory of our prayers from the past.

We praise You, HaShem Adonai. We praise You for Your Shekinah glory that reigns in the Heavens and on the earth. Your Glory reigns forever and ever, and always Father. We praise You, Father, for Your mercy and Your grace, for Your word says in Psalm 107:1, "O give thanks to the LORD, for He is good; for His mercy and loving kindness endures forever! We declare and decree our authority and dominion on earth.

We call upon the appointed and designated Seraphim for the Republic, for our family, our bloodlines, and our situations, to use the Master's key and Master keys according to Isaiah 22:22, to shut down and lock out forever the assignments, evil agendas, and all that is NOT of the Holy Spirit for us, from our previous generations and current situations, which are preventing our full prophetic destinies and assignments, and all those evil agendas that have worked against us. Yeshua Christ our Savior, rebuke the enemy and return them to the pit forevermore! We, the leadership and all living men, women and children, within Your Republic for the united States of America, cry out to you, Oh LORD, in our times of trouble, infiltration, and sensitivities to each other. Deliver us from our distresses, and lead us forward by Your straight and right way just like in Psalm 107:6-7. Awaken us, Yeshua, to our divine authority and sovereignty to the key of the House of David.

In Yeshua's mighty name, we declare and decree the unlocking and opening of however many, and whatever heavenly doors or portals, HaShem Adonai would have us run through to our prophetic destinies; and through which also, the Glory of HaShem would rush through and deluge us with Your knowledge, wisdom, understanding, revelations, and everything You now have, HaShem Adonai, to give to us; everything which the enemy had impeded us and our generations from receiving, returns to the We the People of the united States of America, and our family bloodline now, Father. We believe, receive, accept, and retain all that You greatly blessed us with, In Yeshua's mighty name.

Father, as the Seraphim return what was stolen back to We the People, back to our bloodlines, we Declare and Decree renewal of Your covenant, restoration of Your nation's intimate close relationship with You, HaShem Adonai, and restoration of Your blessings upon America - Your New Jerusalem's abundance in wealth, health and prosperity for all the days to come. We Glorify You father; we Glorify You Yeshua; we Glorify You Ruach HaKodesh (Holy Spirit). For in Isaiah 60:1, Your word says, "Arise! Shine, for your light has come, and the glory of the LORD has risen upon you!" And in Isaiah 60:5, Your words say, "Then you shall see and be radiant, and your heart shall thrill and tremble with joy and be enlarged; because the abundant wealth of the Sea shall be turned to you, unto you shall the nations come with their treasures."

In Yeshua's mighty name, we declare and decree a spiritual awakening, and a Holy Spirit-filled urging, and burning on fire desire within Your believers HaShem Adonai, to rise up, rise up to Christ consciousness in the morning's glory. Let the morning light of HaShem's son open their eyes, as in Ephesians 5:14, and renew their spirits. We declare and decree in Yeshua's name, all of Your children, Father, receive the baptism of the Holy Spirit, receiving all their supernatural gifts of the Holy Spirit, to go forward and do as Your Spirit leads them to help others. Send Your ministering angels to keep our spirits alert and sober with self-discipline as in 1 Thessalonians 5:6.

In Yeshua's mighty name, we declare and decree supernatural deep sleep rejuvenating our cells down to the mitochondria and sub-atomic level, blessing us with hearing the voice of HaShem Adonai through our full memory of our Holy Spirit anointed dreams, visions and visitations to heaven, to receive and retain Your ongoing training and instruction on our purpose and mission, that takes place while we are in deep sleep.

Give us perfect memory of our spiritual warfare training, leadership training and all training to assist Your Kingdom on earth as it is in heaven. Teach us, Holy Spirit, to pray with our imagination. If we can imagine it, You can surely make our prayers come to fruition, for You are the one and only omnipotent Almighty creator of Heaven and earth. You are I AM; You are the Alpha and Omega, the Beginning and the End. We praise You, HaShem Adonai, Yeshua Christ our Savior, and Ruach HaKodesh.

We shout out to you HaShem, "We are here! We are here! We are here! We are here to serve You, our Father who art in Heaven, Yeshua and Ruach HoKodesh. Send us Your best intercessory leaders to take their destined positions within the Republic, and move us forward, fill up all our county and state positions, send ministering angels to assist our new leaders to settle our counties, and secure New Jersey free-State [and all free-states]. Call upon us now to help straighten up our communities as Your angel armies partner with our earthly military branches to assist us in returning Your land back to Your children under Your Kingdom laws, and Your church back to You, Father. In Yeshua's mighty name, AMEN.

Happy New Year It is past time to seek I AM! WB

Angie Stolba: I Am the God Who Sees!

"So she called the name of the LORD who spoke to her, 'You are a God of seeing,' for she said, 'Truly here I have seen Him who looks after me.'" (Genesis 16:13 ESV)

You Are Not Forgotten

In the book of Genesis, we read about the story of Hagar. She was the servant of Sarah and was pregnant with child due to the decision between Sarah and Abraham to try and fulfill the promise of God in their own strength and efforts. Once Hagar was known to be with child, Hagar despised Sarah, and Sarah mistreated Hagar in return. Hagar became so despondent that she fled.

The angel of the Lord found her near a spring in the desert and encouraged her to return to Sarah and submit to her. The angel of the Lord also encouraged her with words concerning her child and the descendants that would come from him.

In her darkest moment, Hagar said, "You are a God of seeing... Truly here I have seen Him who looks after me." And she returned to Sarah and Abraham, encouraged.

Coming Soon

Personally, I have been in an extended season of waiting, and I believe many others have been as well. However, I am convinced that we are closer than ever to seeing the fulfillment of many long-awaited promises coming to pass. It is often when we are on the cusp of breakthrough that the enemy will seek to trap us in despair and discouragement. However, it is imperative that we do not give up.

As my husband and I were driving down the interstate, I was preoccupied in thought about many things that were competing for my peace and rest when I noticed a large white sign along the roadside. It caught my attention in a way that was truly Holy Spirit inspired! It was white with bold, black letters and simply said, "Coming Soon." (Photo via Pexels)

I felt a jump in my spirit, as I believed the Lord was speaking through that sign and wanted to encourage me, as well as others who have found themselves in a long season of waiting! For many things that have been long-awaited and many things that are still incomplete, the Lord is saying, "Hold on; it is coming!"

Follow Me

This drive down the interstate was for a special ministry event that my husband and I were attending. It was a week-long event, and on this particular night, there were well over 1,500 people in attendance. We were able to find a couple of seats in the middle of the sanctuary, ready to join in the worship, and thankful and honored to be at this event.

After a couple of songs, an usher approached us, smiled, and said, "Follow me!" He proceeded to move us and a couple others up close to the front to a reserved seating section. We were not expecting this at all and immediately recognized this as the Lord's favor and kindness! As we were being escorted, I felt the Lord telling me that He was about to do this same thing for many in the Kingdom of God!

Hold on and Keep Trusting!

I hear the Lord saying today, "Surely, what I have promised you is coming soon… even quicker than you may think! Hold on and keep trusting Me! Breakthrough is indeed coming very soon; this will be in several areas simultaneously! Your tears of weeping will soon turn to tears of joy! You are about to see why the battle has been so intense! The level of victory and breakthrough will be even greater!"

"'Yes indeed, it won't be long now.' GOD'S Decree:

"'Things are going to happen so fast your head will swim, one thing fast on the heels of the other. You won't be able to keep up. Everything will be happening at once—and everywhere you look, blessings! Blessings like wine pouring off the mountains and hills. I'll make everything right again for My people Israel: "'They'll rebuild their ruined cities. They'll plant vineyards and drink good wine. They'll work their gardens and eat fresh vegetables. And I'll plant them, plant them on their own land. They'll never again be uprooted from the land I've given them.'

"God, your God, says so." (Amos 9:13–15 MSG) (Photo via Pixabay)

"My Favor Is Here!"

The Lord says, "I know the waiting has been long and you have felt so weary. You are not forgotten! As I saw Hagar, I see you! You are not forsaken. I have great things in store for you! Take courage and know that everything is going to work out in your favor. I am the God who delights in doing all things exceedingly above all that you can ask or think."

"Now all glory to God, who is able, through His mighty power at work within us, to accomplish infinitely more than we might ask or think." (Ephesians 3:20 NLT)

"Rehearse My promises and open your mouth to declare the answer! Resist the temptation to continually rehearse the problem, for doing that will only empower it greater. Seek Me. Find My Word and declare it from your mouth! You have been created in My image! You are designed to overcome and rise above! I am with you, I delight in you, and I am working and moving on your behalf! I am the God who sees, and you are not forgotten," says the Lord of Hosts.

Craig Cooney: An Identity Upgrade

Don't Let the Enemy Rob You of Your Identity

Several years ago, I had a prophetic dream. In the dream, I was living in a church building. I was fast asleep when I awoke to find thieves breaking in. They were searching for my passport. I challenged them with a loud shout, and they ran off.

I believe this dream was a picture of how the enemy has been robbing the Church of her true identity. In the past few months, God has been reminding me of this. We are living through a pivotal moment in history. And we, as God's people, need to know who we are, Whose we are, and what we carry in the Spirit.

Do You Know Who You Are?

How you see God is very important. How others see you is relatively important, depending on how much their opinion matters to you. But how you see yourself can direct or derail your destiny. That's why the enemy immediately attacked Jesus' identity after the Father affirmed Him at the beginning of His ministry:

"And a voice from Heaven said, 'This is My Son, whom I love; with Him I am well pleased.'" (Matthew 3:17 NIV)

"The tempter came to Him and said, 'If you are the Son of God, tell these stones to become bread.'" (Matthew 4:3 NIV)

In these days, God wants us to be completely secure in our true identity in Christ. You were created with significance, purpose, gifts, abilities, and resources. To deny these is not humility; it actually diminishes the treasure that God has placed within you. Don't allow the enemy to rob you of anything that Jesus' blood has bought you.

An Identity Upgrade

This is a season where the Lord is upgrading the identity of His people. He's reminding us who we are and what we carry in the Spirit. He is breaking off false humility and insecurity so that we carry a humble confidence and deep assurance of our true identity in Christ. (Photo via PickPik)

There is territory to occupy. There are battles to fight. There is much at stake. Often, as Believers, we shrink back or hide our light for fear of being seen as arrogant or proud. When we do that, we forfeit God's call. And the unrighteous step into positions of responsibility and authority. Darkness prevails simply because the light didn't shine.

No more. There is a shift happening in the spirit. God is calling you higher and further. But the advancement and promotion begin with an upgrade in your thinking. You need to know who you really are in Christ. Take hold of everything that God has made available to you by faith.

Ephesians 1 is a key passage. You have been blessed with every spiritual blessing in Christ. You are called, you are chosen, you are adopted. You are redeemed; you are forgiven.

*We cannot be like the Israelites, who, when the time came to take the land of Canaan, said, "We seemed like grasshoppers in our own eyes, and we looked the same to them" (Numbers 13:33 NIV). Grasshoppers are tiny, insignificant, defenseless, and fragile. That's how they saw themselves.

It wasn't the giants in the land that kept them out of God's promises. It was the grasshopper in their heads. Even though God said, "You can," they said, "We can't," so they didn't. A whole generation died in the wilderness because they were living by an old identity that didn't match their current reality.

You are not a grasshopper. You are a son or daughter of the Most High God. You are a child of the King. God lives inside you. He has ransomed and redeemed you. He has called and chosen you. He has anointed and appointed you for such a time as this.

This is a time to have a Caleb spirit, an attitude of faith that says, "We can certainly do this because God is with us." This is not arrogance, pride, or hubris. This is a true understanding of what God has deposited within you.

"Then Caleb silenced the people before Moses and said, 'We should go up and take possession of the land, for we can certainly do it.'" (Numbers 13:30 NIV)

Don't be like the Israelites who missed out on their inheritance and wandered in the wilderness for forty years. It wasn't that God didn't want to bring them in. It was simply because their identity was so diminished by slavery that they were afraid to take hold of what God was making available. (Photo via SnappyGoat)

The Israelites allowed the wounds of their history to derail them from their divine destiny. That is not going to happen to you. You are a new creation in Christ. You are a blood-bought son or daughter of the Sovereign King. You lack no good thing in Christ (Psalm 34:10). You have been equipped with everything you need for life and godliness (2 Peter 1:3). You are more than a conqueror in Christ (Romans 8:37). You can do all things through Christ, who gives you strength (Philippians 4:13). If God is for you, who can be against you? (Romans 8:31).

Put the Old Mindsets Behind You, and Step Forward in Faith

Ask the Lord to break off small thinking and shrunken living so that you may occupy every place, position, role, and responsibility that He has purposed for you. Renounce any grasshopper mentality. Reject inadequacy and inferiority. Believe God's good promises. Step forward in courage and faith into everything He is placing before you in this significant season. This is a time for an upgrade in your identity.

"Praise be to the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us in the heavenly realms with every spiritual blessing in Christ. For He chose us in Him before the creation of the world to be holy and blameless in His sight. In love He predestined us for adoption to sonship through Jesus Christ, in accordance with His pleasure and will—to the praise of His glorious grace, which He has freely given us in the One He loves*. In Him we have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins, in accordance with the riches of God's grace." (Ephesians 1:3–7 NIV)

Victoria Boyson: We Are in the Groanings of Labor—Don't Stop Now!

As the Lord fulfills our destinies in Him and the promises He has made to us, the pain we have felt during the trials will fade away into glorious praises.

Thankful Praise Will Burst Forth from the Groans of Labor

"The king rejoices in Your strength, LORD. How great is his joy in the victories You give! You have granted him his heart's desire and have not withheld the request of his lips." (Psalm 21:1–2 NIV)

"For the king trusts in the LORD; through the unfailing love of the Most High he will not be shaken." (Psalm 21:7 NIV)

As I read the above verses, the joy and praise David gave to our Lord touched me. He thanked God for the great blessings He had given him. God answered his prayers and gave him the desires of his heart.

The thankful praise that burst forth from David's heart seems a million miles away from the psalms he wrote in the midst of his trial. In the middle of his tribulation, he wrote psalms that expressed his misery and pain. He questioned if God were even with him: "My God, my God, why have You forsaken me? Why are You so far from saving me, so far from my words of groaning?" (Psalm 22:1 BSB)

He groaned, because he did not see the Lord answering his prayers: "I cry out by day, O my God, but You do not answer, and by night, but I have no rest" (Psalm 22:2 BSB). His misery was great, like that of a pregnant woman in the midst of labor.

In the midst of a woman's labor, she feels as though she cannot last, as though her pain is too great to bear. She does not care what anyone else thinks. She is in misery. But moments after it is all over and she has that beautiful baby in her hands, she begins to lose sight of her pain. She feels much like David did in Psalm 21:1 NIV, when he said, "The king rejoices in Your strength, LORD. How great is his joy in the victories You give!" Her joy overshadows her hours of grief, and the great pain she felt pales in comparison to the exuberant joy and peace she feels once the baby is delivered. (Photo via Freerange Stock)

Cailie-Ellen Is Born

When my fourth child was born, I went through a terrible ordeal. I had delivered three other children before her, and none of them were easy deliveries. But they failed to compare to the extraordinary pain I had when giving birth to her. For hours they induced my labor until all I could do was cry. I did not care who saw me, nor did I care what they thought. I was in agonizing pain and, indeed, she was finally taken by caesarean section. I remember very little of being taken into surgery, but I do remember there were people all around me. I am not one who likes to let others see me cry, but at that moment, I did not care. I bawled.

However, even with all the pain, I can say that it did not compare to the joy I had when the doctor announced, "It's a girl!" I had been given the desire of my heart, and at that moment my trial had been rendered powerless. I felt as David felt when he said, "You have granted him his heart's desire and have not withheld the request of his lips" (Psalm 21:2 NIV).

None of the pain I had endured mattered, because God had answered my prayer. Cailie-Ellen Shirley was born. She was beautiful, healthy, and perfect. She was the one bright spot during a very dark time in my life. God was faithful to me, and I could say as David did, "Through the victories You gave, his glory is great; You have bestowed on him splendor and majesty" (Psalm 21:5 NIV).

Don't Let Go of Your Promise! You Will Not Be Disappointed

As the Lord fulfills our destinies in Him and the promises He has made to us, the pain we have felt during the trials will fade away into glorious praises. As a woman in labor knows her pain will produce a baby, we have the knowledge that our pain will produce the promise of the Lord. We will give birth to our destinies.

David sings a song of mourning and grief in Psalm 22, yet in the midst of his trial and pain, he praises God: "Yet You are holy, enthroned on the praises of Israel. In You our fathers trusted; they trusted and You delivered them. They cried out to You and were set free; they trusted in You and were not disappointed" (Psalm 22:3–5 BSB).

David reminded himself that his forefathers had trusted in God and were not disappointed. He praised God for His faithfulness, even in the midst of his misery.

There is a certain misery in trusting God when the waves of doubt flood through our souls. However, we "must believe and not doubt, because the one who doubts is like a wave of the sea, blown and tossed by the wind" (James 1:6 NIV). (Photo via Unsplash)

We must not doubt, and we must not let go of the promise of our destiny in Him. We must stay on course and not be turned to the right or left. The trying of our faith in Him will produce endurance—strength that we will need later on in life (James 1:3). With every battle we endure, we grow stronger in Him.

There are times when we, like David, cannot hear the voice of our God (Psalm 22:2). He seems to be silent, and we wonder if He still intends to fulfill the promise He has made to us. These are critical moments when our trust in Him is indeed tested, when doubts begin to pelt us like hailstones. Should we retreat like the double-minded man in James 1:8 and change course, or should we proceed, trusting in our God?

We must stay on course! We must trust in Him! We must not change our direction from the last instructions we have received from Him. We know that trials will come, but "blessed is the man who perseveres under trial, because when he has stood the test, he will receive the crown of life" (James 1:12 BSB).

Pain Transformed into the Sweetest Praises

Beloved, keep on believing; keep on trusting! Stay on course and, surely as an expectant mother, your pain will produce the promise. Keep trusting and keep praising Him, whether you feel like it or not. The richest gift you can give to your heavenly Father is to praise Him in the midst of your pain. Trust Him when you cannot see an answer, because "every good and perfect gift is from above, coming down from the Father of the heavenly lights, who does not change like shifting shadows" (James 1:17 NIV).

The pain you now feel will be transformed into the sweetest of praises to our God. Your sorrow will be turned into joy. "Through the unfailing love of the Most High he will not be shaken" (Psalm 21:7 NIV). He will turn your mourning into dancing and the rejection you have experienced into strength through trusting in God. David experienced this, and you will too!

Pray this with me: Dear Father, open my eyes and my heart to receive vision and passion from my trials so that I may receive grace from Heaven to press on through this journey and find my destiny in You.

Donna Rigney: "A Great Turnaround of Biblical Proportions"

The Amazing Results of an Open Portal!

On November 21, 2025, a portal was opened over Flagler County by me and a

There Is Hope! A Turnaround of Biblical Proportions Is Coming

On November 14, 2025, Father spoke a very encouraging word to me: "As you hate death and disease and the deterioration of people's bodies and minds, We hate it even more. That is why I launched the greatest rescue event ever: the birth, death, and resurrection of My Son to save the world, to give people eternal life—a life void of evil and filled with joy, health, and totally pain free forever!

"Sin brought death, disease, despair, disasters; I didn't! Once satan is allowed access, his rule is devastating. He has no access to Heaven! My Kingdom is only filled with good things. Tell My children there is hope. Our plan is to send some of what is in Heaven to earth so that life on earth won't be so difficult and painful. Many miracles and healings will be showering down on My children. Restoration of what was lost through the assault of the enemy and his horde of demons will be coming.

"Yes, a great turnaround of Biblical proportions is coming very soon. Joy will abound, and wickedness will be chased far from your land. From shore to shore, your land will be filled with My glory and My righteousness.

"Through My faithful children, I will shine the light of My glory and goodness. Healing, miracles, signs and wonders will happen as they simply appear on the scene. I will be given all the glory because of the ease with which the miracles happen. 'Only God' will be the decrees people make!"

Fire from Heaven Is Falling!

On November 19, 2025, Father declared, "Fresh fire will fall on all! Yes, all who seek My glory and My will shall feel the fire of My love. My fire heals, delivers, and cherishes My children so that all fear, discouragement, and depression leaves.

"You are cherished ones! Know this: I have great, good plan for all of you. Just pray for My will to be done in your lives. Trust Me!"

On November 24, 2025, I heard Father say, "When My fire falls, everything will be changed very quickly—in the twinkling of an eye! I am the Author of all life and the Creator of all things. I can bring great changes just with My words.

"Because I do have faithful children who cry out to Me for help day and night, I will come to their aid. They aren't just asking in desperation, but they are asking in faith. They trust and believe that I can and that I will transform their lives and their nations. I will not disappoint them! Nothing and no one is too hard for Us!"

The next day, November 25, 2025, Father continued to speak to me about His fire: "Fire falls on those sacrifices that My faithful children lay on Our altar. This fire—the fire of Our approval—consumes it, and its fragrance delights Us and fills Heaven with the aroma of their love."

As He spoke, Father brought me in the spirit and once again showed me the fires that are lit all over the West Coast. In this encounter, Father told me to look further than the West Coast, and as I looked at the land below, I saw many fires burning all over the U.S.

Father explained that these fires were the fires of His approval that fell on the offerings of loving sacrifice that happened as His children gathered to worship Him throughout the world after the assassination of Charlie Kirk.

While looking in the spirit at the fires burning brightly through the U.S., Father reminded me of the fire that fell on the sacrifice Elijah offered to Him on Mount Carmel. He told me to read about what happened after the sacrifice Elijah offered in front of King Ahab and all Israel in 1 Kings 18, and how it was consumed by the fire of His approval.

Upon reading this passage, I saw that all the people from Israel who were gathered on Mount Carmel saw the fire fall on the sacrifice and declared, "The Lord—He is God!" (v. 39). Previously, they had vacillated between believing in and serving Baal and God. (Photo via Rawpixel)

The second thing I saw was that all the false prophets of Baal were slaughtered. The third thing I saw was that heavy rain fell. The long three-year drought, prophesied by Elijah because of their Baal worship, had finally ended!

Then the power of the Lord came on Elijah, and he ran by foot ahead of Ahab, who was riding in his horse-drawn chariot, all the way to Jezreel.

Father explained what He wanted me to understand prophetically about what I had just read: "Just as when My fire fell on Mount Carmel, when My fire falls on the sacrifices presented to Me in this hour, you will see the multitudes declare, 'The Lord—He is God!' Men will turn from worshiping false gods to worshiping Me.

"The lying, false prophets that promote wickedness and abortion will be eliminated. They will no longer influence My children with their evil propaganda.

"The rain of My Holy Spirit will fall on the land. The long drought will end, and My children will be refreshed and come alive.

"Just as My power fell on Elijah, resurrection power will come upon those who love and serve Me. The truth tellers will be promoted and will advance My Kingdom. Those who led My children away from Me and My ways will be seen as weak, powerless, and the liars that they are."

Confirming Scripture: 1 Kings 18.

Let Faith Arise!

On November 16, 2025, while sitting alone in prayer, Father spoke a very encouraging, faith-inspiring word to me: "What is too hard for Me to give you? If I gave My Son to you—to die for you—is it too hard for Me to give you what will bless you and bless others through you?

"Let your faith arise so you can receive all that I am sending to you. Unbelief, doubt, and worry act like an umbrella, blocking the rain of My glory and My gifts. Put your umbrella down and open your arms wide in faith and receive what We long to give you. Now is the hour for great faith to arise in My children!

"The more you encounter My presence, the more you will know who I am. Spending time with Us will fuel faith! To know that I am good, I am mighty, and that I long to bless My children with My best will feed faith."

Father further explained why it is so beneficial for us to meet with our God: "If more people would spend time with Us, there would be much more love, joy, and peace in this world. Unity would prevail in families and throughout society. In Me is found the fullness of life!"

Confirming Scripture: "He who did not spare His own Son, but gave Him up for us all—how will He not also, along with Him, graciously give us all things?" (Romans 8:32 NIV).

A Call to Action!

On November 22, 2025, once again, Father told me how important it is for us to embrace boldness and courage: "Continue to advance My Kingdom! Boldly and fearlessly take background that has been succeeded to the enemy.

"Through open portals, My glory invasion will be released. Life-transforming and nation-transforming will the power of My Spirit be as My glory invades your lands.

"Once you have My Holy Spirit, then you have all you need to succeed. Cooperation with My Spirit is all that is needed! Yes, just walk with My Spirit guiding you. Listen to and obey whatever He says, and My glory will arise and overshadow your lives and your life's work."

The following day, November 23, 2025, Father continued to speak to me about the importance of the work of His Ecclesia: "No longer will the giant—My Church—be asleep at her post to stand guard over the world and keep evil from overrunning it. The trumpet has sounded, and My Bride is awake. No longer will fear or apathy silence her into retreat. A force to be reckoned with—one who is filled and empowered with My Holy Spirit—will the Ecclesia be.

"Like the early Church did, My Bride will arise and fulfill her mandate to spread the Gospel worldwide. She will be used to save the lost and gather in the great harvest. By My Spirit, she will arise! A great outpouring of My Spirit is upon you!"

Great Will Be the Reward of the Faithful

On November 9, 2025, once again, Father spoke to me about the importance of staying faithful to Him in the midst of trials and difficulties and not letting them consume our thoughts: "Great will be the reward of those who stay faithful, even in the midst of the storms of life. Many of these rewards will shower on My faithful children on earth. It is My will to bless My children on earth, as well as in Heaven.

"Even the desires of your heart will be given to you as a result of My desire to bless you for standing fast in faith, devotion, and obedient service, in spite of persecution and suffering. I am a rewarder of those who diligently seek Me."

The Lord showed me that what consumes our thoughts, our time, and our desires can become idols: our problems, health, finances, relationships, what we fear, controlling people, money, material possessions, jobs, security, entertainment, sports, our devices, phones, video games, etc.

Confirming Scriptures:

"And without faith it is impossible to please God, because anyone who comes to Him must believe that He exists and that He rewards those who earnestly seek Him." (Hebrews 11:6 NIV)

"Rejoice always, pray continually, give thanks in all circumstances; for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus." (1 Thessalonians 5:16–18 NIV)

Dutch Sheets: The Power of Our Covenantal History

When preparing to share at the Flashpoint Gala last month, Holy Spirit reminded me of David's victory over Goliath, applying the story to our battle today with spiritual giants. What many do not know is that David defeated Goliath on the strength of his covenantal history with God. The lessons are important for us. The first thing God tells us in the story is the location of the battle.

"Now the Philistines gathered their armies for battle; and they were gathered at Socoh, which belongs to Judah, and they camped between Socoh and Azekah, in Ephes-dammim. Saul and the men of Israel were gathered and camped in the valley of Elah, and drew up in battle array to encounter the Philistines," (1 Samuel 17:1-2).

I realize that doesn't interest you. You're like me, Come on, Holy Spirit, get to the good stuff: Goliath's description; the drama of his taunts; the fear of the Israelites; David, the young sheepherder; the battle; off with the giant's head. I skipped those two boring verses for the first 60 years of my life.

And missed a nugget.

This location was in the territory of Judah, which was the tribe of Israel David was part of. Holy Spirit was informing us, right from the start, that this land belonged to David and his tribe. It had been given to them by God generations ago. David had more than squatter's rights to the property the giant was trying to claim; he had divine rights. If he followed God's instructions, the truth of these first two verses of the story assured him of victory. The God who created and owns the earth (see Psalm 24:1) had the right to assign it to whomever He pleased. And in history, He had given it to the tribe David belonged to.

Battle over.

Don't you think so? I'll give you another reference that reinforces this truth. When Nehemiah was allowed by the Persian King Artaxerxes to return to Jerusalem in order to rebuild its walls, he faced great opposition. The locals, led by Sanballat, Tobiah, and Geshem, despised the Jews and were determined to stop them from building. When Nehemiah faced their threats and opposition, he stated his case for success in one verse: "I answered by saying, 'The God of heaven will give us success. We, His servants will start rebuilding, but as for you, you have no share in Jerusalem or any claim or historic right to it,'" (Nehemiah 2:20 NIV).

"We have a historical, God-given right to this city," Nehemiah declared. "You don't. Therefore, we win, you lose." Case closed.

It is beyond doubt that God raised up America for His purposes. He owns America, just as He does the entire earth; in that right of ownership, He delegated stewardship of this nation to followers of Christ, believers who would partner with Him in His great cause of redeeming the world. Do not listen to the liars and revisionists that say otherwise, be they secularists or deceived Christian leaders. If the body of Christ in America fully grasps this revelation, the giants attempting to steal our nation have no chance.

Uncircumcised Philistine

David's next "history weapon" can be seen in the fact that not once did he call Goliath by name. He referred to him only as the "uncircumcised Philistine." What is that all about? Imagine two guys about to fight, perhaps in a bar or at a rugby match, who begin shouting insults at one another.
Jed: "You're ugly."
Jethro: "Your mama is ugly."
Jed: "You're a wimp."
Jethro: "You couldn't beat up a flea."

I know, these are a little weak. Not exactly Rambo-level insults, but I'm trying to keep it clean here. And you get my point: insults and degrading salvos are flying back and forth. Then, one of them shouts at the other, sealing the deal with the ultimate insult: "Well, you're UNCIRCUMCISED!"

Huh? Didn't see that one coming.

As strange as it seems, there was actually an important reason for David's choice of names. Circumcision symbolized covenant with God (Genesis 17:13). Since the days of Abraham, this had been the case. It was, some believe, a requirement mandated by God for health purposes. Circumcision served the added purpose, however, of picturing New Testament believers who would have the "flesh" of our hearts circumcised (see Romans 2:28-29).
For our purposes in this story, however, what we must understand is that David was stating to the giant, "I'm in covenant with God; you're not. Since those in covenant with one another share a military alliance, you'll be fighting God, not just me. This battle won't be decided by your size, experience, weaponry, or strength. It was decided a long time ago when my great-granddad cut covenant with God, and I'm going to defeat you through my covenantal history. I win; you lose."

No wonder secularists want to deny America's history with God! We shouldn't be surprised that former President Obama once said we were not a Christian nation, contending that we were also a Muslim nation, a Hindu nation, an atheist nation, and so on. Karl Marx once said, "The first battlefield is to rewrite history." The demons controlling Marx knew the importance and power of history. And, of course, demons today inspire anti-Christ forces in America to try and rewrite our history for the same reasons. As believers, we must stake our claim to the fact that God birthed America, and that He and our Founders made covenantal promises to one another.

I'm not suggesting that God and those who came to these shores entered into a covenant on the same level as the old and new covenants in Scripture. There are different levels of covenants, however. The biblical word means "a compact, confederacy, league." The great Brown-Driver-Briggs Lexicon defines it not only as covenant, but as "an alliance (of friendship); an alliance (of marriage); a constitution; agreement." The fact that our Founders covenanted with God when they came to this land is beyond dispute. Take time to read America's Covenant with God by Dr. Eddie Hyatt, which makes this abundantly clear. Here is a link to that article.

Do not underestimate the importance of this. God put into the hearts of our forefathers to come to this land. He did so to raise up a nation that would form an "alliance," a "sacred agreement" (definitions of covenant) to partner with Him for the propagation of the gospel to all the earth, to be a city on a hill shining His light for all to see. Obviously, God's intent was not for this to be accomplished through mistreating First Nations people. Agreements, covenants, and purchases of the land could have taken place with them, just as William Penn did in what is now Pennsylvania. His land and covenant is the "seed" of our nation (Penn's words), not Washington, D.C. God's plan is obviously for all races and ethnicities to share in the privilege of representing Him and enjoying the benefits that come with this.

God redeems and cleanses nations, however, and continues to use America, just as He did with Abraham and Israel. We must believe this and do as David: stake our claim to this land based on our alignment with God and His plans, purposes, and promises. That is what empowers us to take out spiritual giants. Well-meaning leaders alone won't do so, nor will wealth, great strategies, strong armies, wise educators, or pure motives. Covenant will overthrow spiritual giants!

People aligned in covenant share resources and strengths; they also share enemies. If the Ekklesia in America faces the giants of our day armed with the decrees that this land belongs to God ("The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof," Psalm 24:1); that He Himself established our nation to represent Him; and resist the giants in His name - we will defeat them!

War with covenant! War with history!

Pray with me:

Father, we thank You for America's history with You. We are humbled by the privilege of partnering with You in Your great cause. Thank You for cleansing and healing our unrighteous past. The powers of darkness have determined to cripple and ultimately stop us from being a voice and light for You, but Your mercies endure forever!

We place our faith in the eternal covenant we have with You through Christ. We also stand on the alliances our Founders made with You, and on the fact that You keep covenant and mercy to a thousand generations (Deuteronomy 7:9). We reach back into our history, declare our faith in You, and decree that we will once again be a light to the nations. We will once again be a strong voice of the gospel and of freedom to all the nations of the earth.

The spiritual giants opposing You in America are in covenant with satan and his kingdom, whom You have defeated and stripped of authority. Therefore, in the authority of Christ's name, we decree that the giants of unrighteous government, false religion, and all other antichrist forces will fall and Jesus will be exalted. Revival is here and coming, and America shall be saved. We pray and decree these things in Jesus' name, amen.

Our decree:
We decree that empowered by our covenant with Yahweh through the blood of Jesus Christ, and the covenant America made with Him as a nation, we will defeat every giant of darkness in America.

Reclaim Your Identity In Christ

"But you are a chosen people, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, God's special possession, that you may declare the praises of him who called you out of darkness into his wonderful light." (1 Peter 2:9)

Father, in the mighty name of Jesus Christ, I enter Your courtroom with spiritual authority. I renounce every false identity, counterfeit label, and demonic accusation released to sabotage my destiny. I confront every lying spirit that has tried to redefine me. I reject every narrative that did not originate in Heaven.

By the blood of Jesus, I revoke every word curse, nickname, diagnosis, and accusation that was assigned to derail my purpose. I tear down every satanic projection that has tried to veil me in shame, insecurity, or confusion. I declare that these assignments lose their power now.

By the authority of Christ, I break every covenant with darkness that has claimed ownership over my identity. I confront the spirits behind self-hatred, rejection, and distortion. Every spirit that has attached itself to my name, my image, or my future is commanded to leave now. You have no legal right. You are evicted by the fire of God. I reclaim my identity as a royal priesthood and a chosen vessel. I step fully into the identity Heaven authored for me. I align myself with the truth that God has set me apart for His glory and His purpose.

From this moment forward, I align my life with only that which Heaven has spoken. I silence every counterfeit name. I overturn every demonic label. I cancel every assignment of identity theft released by the enemy against me.

I decree that I walk in my full inheritance as a child of the King. I take my place as joint heir with Christ. I rise as one who knows who they are and whose they are in Jesus' name, amen.

Chloie Stafford: The Brook Has Run Dry—It's Time to Move On!

I shared this prophetic word at our local church, and have felt that it's for the larger Body of Christ as well.

Is this for you? Praying you are ministered to today!

The Scene Is Changing

I have sensed that the Lord is bringing clarity in this time to what has been for many a misinterpreted season. For there are those who have recently lost relationships, jobs, housing, finances, and have sensed a warfare target upon their backs.

You've been fighting, you've been engaging, and you have tried with all of your might to regain what was, as you've helplessly watched it all continue to fall apart.

Today, I hear the Lord saying over you, "In the same way that the brook brought provision to Elijah for a season and then dried up, so it has been in this season of your life.

"I have seen the steadfastness of your willingness to stand and to go to battle, yet I am clearing the confusion that has tried to enter in. For it is not a battleground that you are finding yourself standing on at this time, but rather dry ground provided for you to cross over... Instead of a place that you are called to stay and fight, it is the very place that you are meant to move on."

That relationship, that job, that city, that blueprint... it was only meant to serve you but for a season, and now its end is an indicator that God is transitioning you on to what and to who you need in this new hour of your destiny unfolding.

It doesn't mean that you failed; it doesn't mean that you're under attack. It means that the scene is changing to support where you're being called. It's because there are bigger, better, and greater things ahead. (Photo via Unsplash)

A Window of Opportunity and Your Next Level of Provision

I believe there is a time-sensitive window of opportunity right now that has opened in the spirit to those whom God is calling forward.

The job opening is surfacing. The house that you need is being listed. The funding is being made available. The partnership is being created. The right relationships are being aligned. Your next level of provision is being prepared.

When Elijah was called to leave the dried brook (1 Kings 17), it was because God had appointed a widow to provide for him next—a widow who only had one meal remaining and was preparing to eat it that very day.

Had Elijah remained for weeks or even days, asking for signs, wonders, and miracles to resurrect that which He had been called to leave behind, he would've missed the next opportunity of provision that God had in store.

In this window of time, you must not pitch your tent and continue to tarry around what has fallen apart; you must advance to receive what has been SET APART.

You've seen the brook dry up; you've felt the weariness of trying to revive it, and now it's time to move on.

It didn't all happen for nothing. There's inheritance on the other side... Upward and onward. It's time.

Rough Road Ahead

A Word of Encouragement and a Warning!

The next few months are going to be a bit rough, tough, and testing for all of us. This thought popped into my mind whilst I was reviewing the situation and where we are today. First I saw this post on X - https://x.com/JOKAQARMY1/status/1998138143237943709?s=20 Daniel 7:24 (the 'ten horns' prophecy). Then Holy Spirit quickened the thought to me, spoke about encouragement, then took me to the first chapter of Joshua.

"After the death of Moses the servant of the Lord, it came to pass that the Lord spoke to Joshua the son of Nun, Moses' assistant, saying: "Moses My servant is dead. Now therefore, arise, go over this Jordan, you and all this people, to the land which I am giving to them—the children of Israel. Every place that the sole of your foot will tread upon I have given you, as I said to Moses." (Joshua 1:1-3)

"EVERY PLACE YOUR FOOT WILL TREAD"

"Be strong and of good courage, for to this people you shall divide as an inheritance the land which I swore to their fathers to give them. Only be strong and very courageous, that you may observe to do according to all the law which Moses My servant commanded you; do not turn from it to the right hand or to the left, that you may prosper wherever you go." (Joshua 1:6-7)

"THAT YOU MAY PROSPER WHEREVER YOU GO!"

"Have I not commanded you? Be strong and of good courage; do not be afraid, nor be dismayed, for the Lord your God is with you wherever you go." (Joshua 1:9)

"THE LORD YOUR GOD IS WITH YOU WHEREVER YOU GO!"

This passage is so relevant for today's Church! We are entering a really rocky season. The Lord is shaking His people into wakefulness. Perhaps shocking them would be a better expression. For the church is, like the world around us, about to be purged by God. He is about to drag us kicking and screaming into situations we would really rather not even know about, let alone experience for ourselves! Yet here we are in this passage hearing the Lord telling us not to worry, to be brave, and to trust His promises! He reminds me of Ephesians 6:13 where He tells us to "stand, and having done all, to keep standing." He reminds me of Psalm 91 - "Because you have made the Lord, who is my refuge, Even the Most High, your dwelling place, No evil shall befall you, Nor shall any plague come near your dwelling; For He shall give His angels charge over you, To keep you in all your ways." (Psalm 91:9-11)

The days ahead may be threatening, they may be shocking, they may be frightening to the world, but God… God tells us to keep faith, remember His promises - we declare them over our lives and our families lives daily - He encourages us by sending His angels to keep us in ALL our ways.

This is not a time to hide our light under a bushel but to declare the Glory of the Lord in all things. It's only a short period of time - I'm hearing a prophetic word saying "until Passover" which is 1-9 April next year. I am seeking the Lord on this, but I do know that it's a matter for urgent intercession and waiting on the Lord.

I then asked the Lord about the harvest of revival, and all He said was, "Who said it was going to last a long time? It may be much shorter than you think!" This shocked me and made me think and pray for more revelation. We must continue to be vigilant at all times and include times of worship in our times with the Lord.

Remember too -
Worship is the key that opens the windows of heaven!
Encouraging, yes! but also an urgent warning. Let he who has ears to hear…

Follow Jesus

Many Christians in the West, N. T. Wright says, have the goal of their faith completely upside down. Instead of seeing Christianity as God renewing the whole world and uniting Heaven and Earth, many believers think the point is simply for their souls to escape to Heaven when they die.

Wright argues the New Testament teaches the opposite: God comes to dwell with us, and Jesus' resurrection launches a new creation that's already underway. Ephesians shows that God's plan has always been to unite all things in Christ—and the Church is supposed to be a preview of that new creation right now.

Because of this misunderstanding, Christians often misread the End Times, spiritual warfare, and even the afterlife. Wright says ideas like the rapture and apocalyptic timelines aren't in the New Testament—they're modern distortions mixed with Western philosophy.

True spiritual warfare, he says, isn't about blaming people or seeing demons everywhere. It's about living faithfully as a united, Spirit-filled community that reflects God's future in the present.

Alysa Fornarotto-Regenye: Self-Healing Scriptural Prayer

- To be read aloud and in agreement with others, preferably the first time.
- Always begin and end in "In Yeshua's mighty name" ("Amen" at end)
- Visualize what you are saying, imagine how your body is feeling as you speak these words out loud.
- ("Again I say to you, that if two believers on earth agree [that is, are of one mind, in harmony] about anything that they ask [within the will of God], it will be done for them by My Father in heaven. (Matthew 18:19 Amplified Bible)

In Yeshua the Son's mighty name, I come before You Heavenly HaShem Adonai, our Father. The Word of God is divine, supernatural medicine, and heals my human body. I thank You HaShem Adonai, our Father. I praise You for Your Shekinah glory, Your mercy, and Your grace upon me and my family. Thank You for Your supernatural knowledge, wisdom, understanding, revelations and discernment.

In Yeshua's name, HaShem Adonai, our Father, in agreement with Romans 10:9 & 17, We Declare "Yeshua is Lord, and believe in our hearts God raised Him from the dead." By Your truth we are saved, Father!

HaShem Adonai, our Father, in Luke 10:19, Your word says, "I give you authority to trample on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall by any means hurt you." In Yeshua's name Almighty HaShem Adonai, our Father in Heaven, I therefore rebuke and cancel out the enemy's plan to kill, steal and destroy all the goodness I was meant to receive by Your grace on this earth, Father, and I send the plans of the enemy back to the pit, where they belong.

In Yeshua's mighty name, Heavenly Father, place it in the hearts and minds of my children, of all of my family members, that they too, have the authority to trample on serpents and scorpions and over all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall by any means hurt them or their family and friends, in Jesus' mighty name.

In Proverbs 4:20-22, Your word says, "give attention to My Words," and then it says, "For they are life to those who find them, And health to all their flesh." And, In Isaiah 53:5 Your word says, "By HIS STRIPES, YOU ARE HEALED." In Psalm 107:20, Father, Your word says, "He sent His Word and healed them, And delivered them from their destructions." And lastly, Father, in Mark 11:23, Yeshua says, "For assuredly, I say to you, whoever says to this mountain, 'Be removed and be cast into the sea,' and does not doubt in his heart, but believes that those things he says will be done, he will have whatever he says." I claim that spiritual authority, in Yeshua's mighty name.

Therefore, in Yeshua's mighty name, I Declare, Decree and Command my body is in full agreement and alignment with HaShem Adonai, our Father's will for perfect health within me; I AM healed. I speak everlasting Life into my body, which must come into agreement with HaShem Adonai, our Father. Ruach HaKodesh, Holy Spirit, I humbly ask You to enter into my body and direct the mitochondria of my cells to do YOUR WILL. I place at the foot of Yeshua's cross a Declaration and Decree that I am receiving a blood transfusion right now, Father, directly from Your Son, Christ Yeshua. I believe in my heart and soul that my body is healed now in the name of Yeshua.

In Yeshua's mighty name, Heavenly HaShem Adonai, our Father, I Declare and Decree Freedom from all illness, injuries, and disease, and I cast them down to the pit, from where they once came. Every cell in my body comes into alignment and agreement with Your word, Heavenly HaShem Adonai, the Father. All bones, organs, blood, vessels, arteries, lymph nodes, muscles, skin, nerves, hair follicles, everything, Father, continues to come into alignment and agreement right now, each day and night, in Yeshua's Mighty name with eternal strength.

In Philippians 4:13, Your word says, "I can do all things through Him who strengthens me." And in, John 4:27, Your word says, "Peace I leave with you; My peace I give to you; not as the world gives do I give to you. Do not let your heart be troubled, nor let it be fearful." In 1 Peter 5:7, Your word says, "casting all your anxiety on Him, because He cares for you." So, I place all my negative emotions being influenced by, and held within by the enemy, at the foot of Yeshua's cross. I hand my worries over to You Father. My body, mind and spirit are restored in Yeshua's name. It is done.

Your word says in Psalm 91:11 "For he will command his angels concerning you to guard you in all your ways." In Hebrews 1:14, Your word says, "Are they not all ministering spirits, sent out to render service for the sake of those who will inherit salvation?"

We thank You ABBA, for sending in Your Heavenly Angels of Intelligence, Your Angels of Reconnaissance to gather intelligence against the enemy, to warn me and my family of any criminal, enemy, or rival, known or unknown, planning activities, theft, or defamation of character against my family. Gather their locations, faces, phone numbers, and any other contacts that would help us trace any incidents back to the enemy's camp, visible or invisible; and provide us through your supernatural dreams, visions, objects, texts, emails, or serendipitous situations/events/people that warn us in the Spirit.

Send in Your warrior, fighting Angels to protect me and my family's thoughts, actions, and spoken words; by day and by night. Father, in Daniel 6:22, Your word says, "My God sent his angel, and he shut the mouths of the lions. They have not hurt me because I was found innocent in his sight." In Thessalonians 3:2-3, Your word says Father, "I Declare and Decree victory and freedom from the enemy's curses, spells and lies, as my guardian angels confuse the enemy's thoughts; and, shut, zip-up and tie the tongues and mouths before their thoughts are even uttered Father!

Your word says in Psalm 34:7, "The angel of the Lord encamps around those who fear him, and he delivers them." Therefore, we Declare and Decree our Almighty Creator's Heavenly Angels protect me and my family with a firmament all around our bodies made of Heaven's fortified by his blood.

Cover our home, our entire property, the air and atmosphere above and all around unceasingly. Everywhere we go, everywhere we lay our heads to sleep, the air and atmosphere is protected. Heavenly Angels, create a firmament, all around and above my family's property, so that the enemy cannot penetrate or breach our property or atmosphere, or enter our home; cleanse our home, and anywhere we lay our head at night, from any residual negativity or demonic spirits, and then seal it with the blood of Yeshua after you have cleansed our bodies with a blood transfusion from Yeshua. In Yeshua's name, Heavenly Father, our Guardian Angels go where we go, defending us in battle, seen or unseen. Protect us with every step we take. In Exodus 23:20 Father, Your word says, "See, I am sending an angel ahead of you to guard you along the way and to bring you to the place I have prepared."

HaShem Adonai, our Father, we praise You for Your Glory. In Psalm 148:1-2, Your Word says, "Praise the Lord! Praise the Lord from the heavens; praise him in the heights above. Praise him, all his angels; praise him, all his heavenly hosts." In Psalm 91:2-13, Your word says, "I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress, my God, in whom I trust."

Thank You, HaShem Adonai, our Father, Yeshua Christ, our Savior, and Ruach HaKodesh, Holy Spirit, for keeping me and my family safe, and steadfast in Your Word, which is an everlasting lifeline to You, in Yeshua's Mighty name, Amen, Amen, Amen!

Faith Marie Baczko: Possessing the New Land:
A Call to Conquer & Occupy!

The Opening of the Highway of Glory

This is your moment to run! The upcoming year, 2026, signifies the opening of the highway of glory into God's house—a gateway providing divine access into our nations. Twenty-six is a sacred number for the Jewish people, as it equals the name YAHWEH (YHWH). Yahweh is rising within His people and, consequently, within the nations, giving empowerment to run the race!

God has been guiding His people on a clear path, step by step, with those who have obeyed and followed His direction. The Fall Feasts, which marked the start of the Jewish new year 5786, represented a time of crossing over and moving forward to occupy the promised land—territory promised to us by God.

An Appointed Time to Rise and Advance

November was a transitional month, marking the movement of those who have been tested and refined in fire to overcome the enemies of God. It was the appointed time for us to rise in great faith, take territory, and reclaim what has been stolen.

We have crossed a threshold into a season of strength and courage, a time to rise and inherit the promises of God. We have left the past behind and entered a new land that is defined by a new realm of Kingdom authority gained through obedience in trials and tests.

In preparation for this crossover, God has been building strong teams of resilient people, bound together in relationships that cannot be broken. This has been achieved through the process of iron sharpening iron and submission to God.

Having been established in the Lord's stronghold within the new land, a spiritual beachhead has been secured. Now, we must continue to advance, expanding our borders through faith and taking full possession of the territory entrusted to us. We must fortify and hold the ground we have gained and avoid repeating the mistakes of the past. Scripture reveals that Israel often failed to maintain their inheritance, losing the territory they once possessed until God raised up deliverers to restore it (see the book of Judges).

We Must Acclimatize

In the stronghold of the Lord, we are anchored in God and positioned for great favor and victory in conquest. Having occupied new territory, I heard God say the word "acclimatize." He is saying we are to become acclimatized to the new land we are now in, with insight and wisdom, as we gain Heaven's perspective on where we stand and receive direction on how to move forward with Him. To cling to the old wilderness mindset keeps us bound and results in a loss of the ground gained. (Photo via Unsplash)

It is essential to understand the dynamics of the new territory we have secured and prepare for the challenges it brings. God is calling us to move forward with faith and precision, continuing to conquer and occupy new ground for the Kingdom. We are now called to rise, stand, and pursue all that Heaven has decreed for our lives, just as David did.

"So David inquired of the LORD, saying, 'Shall I pursue this troop? Shall I overtake them?' "And He answered him, 'Pursue, for you shall surely overtake them and without fail recover all.'" (1 Samuel 30:8 NKJV)

Establish, Occupy, and Maintain Ground

We are moving out to claim territory in our nations during this new season. As we go, we establish, occupy, and maintain that ground—no turning back to the old ways. Joshua faced a great land to conquer and possess, and God encouraged and galvanized Him.

"Every place that the sole of your foot will tread upon I have given you, as I said to Moses." (Joshua 1:3 NKJV)

"No man shall be able to stand before you all the days of your life; as I was with Moses, so I will be with you. I will not leave you nor forsake you. Be strong and of good courage, for to this people you shall divide as an inheritance the land which I swore to their fathers to give them." (Joshua 1:5–6 NKJV)

If God is declaring this word to us personally, "Every place the sole of your foot treads, I have given to you," then there are questions we must consider:

- Where am I willing to go?
- Where am I willing to walk?
- What territory am I willing to occupy for His Kingdom and His glory?

Amid great persecution, the Church in the book of Acts was on the move! God scattered His people like fiery embers; they spread across nations, igniting a new, divine movement. Great grace rested upon them, and signs, wonders, and miracles followed wherever they went! Are we willing to go? Or is persecution necessary to get us to start moving? Heaven is activated when bodies begin to move! The command is clear in Scripture: Be filled with the Holy Spirit and go into all nations.

Take Your Territory: What Mountain Are You Asking For?

Like Caleb, who boldly declared, "Give me this mountain" (Joshua 14:12), we are being summoned to face the giants before us with fearless confidence, believing that with God we are well able to overcome!

What mountain are you asking for? The ground will begin to yield before you when you walk forward in faith. God meets us in the place of our faith and expectation! Life also submits, making room for the courageous to take bold steps of faith. As you press forward, Heaven upgrades you to the level of your vision.

When a decision aligned to God is made in faith, Heaven backs it! As it is written in the book of Job, "Thou shalt also decree a thing, and it shall be established unto thee: and the light shall shine upon thy ways" (Job 22:28 KJV). (Photo via Unsplash)

The word "decree" is also translated as "decide," meaning to make a decision and confidently decree it into manifestation. God honors and rewards bold obedience. Without faith, the Word says it is impossible to please Him, and that He will reward those who diligently seek Him (see Hebrews 11:6).

A magnified revelation of Christ lifts us higher and draws us deeper into His glory, strength, and faith. This is not a time for passivity; it is a time for bodies on the move; an advancing army determined to possess and occupy the inheritance prepared for them.

Respite: The Divine Window of Assignment

The Lord gave me the word "respite," which means "a temporary relief," "a short period of rest or relief from something difficult or stressful," and "a delay in the imposition of a sentence."

We have been granted a reprieve—a divine window of pause—to establish Kingdom initiatives and foundations rooted in Christ that will endure and remain unshaken during the shakings prophesied in Scripture (see Haggai 2:6–7; Hebrews 12:26).

A limited window is being given to complete our assignments and lay the foundations for God to work with, preparing us for what lies ahead. Now is the time to strategize with God for the long term. Be secure in your place and confident in your calling. We are not a scattered people. We are the army of the living God, moving in divine order.

It's essential not to waste the time given to us in complacency or building personal kingdoms and pursuing our own agendas. Be ferocious in faith! Pray for a fresh vision to serve in your new territory. Set your gaze on what is eternal, for only what is eternal remains.

Rosangela Atte: Your Obedience Is Turning Your Enemies into Bread for Your Nourishment.

The Same Eyes That See the Promise See the Enemy

I was scrolling through social media, and I heard a preacher briefly mention Numbers 14. Immediately, I felt the Holy Spirit telling me to go read it. I read Numbers chapters 13 and 14, and as I read, the Lord highlighted something specific.

In Numbers 13, God instructed Moses to send twelve spies, one from each tribe, to scout out the land of Canaan. For forty days they explored the land; everything God had said about it was true. It was rich, fruitful, and overflowing with abundance. They came back with grapes so large they had to be carried on a pole, along with pomegranates and figs.

The Promised Land was exactly as God had described it. But the same eyes that saw promise also saw opposition. They saw fortified cities, strong nations, and giants—the descendants of Anak. When they returned, ten of the twelve spies spread fear throughout the camp, saying, "We are not able to go up against the people, for they are stronger than we are… we seemed to ourselves like grasshoppers, and so we seemed to them" (Numbers 13:31, 33 ESV). Yet Caleb stood up in faith and said, "Let us go up at once and occupy it, for we are well able to overcome it" (Numbers 13:30 ESV).

Numbers 13 is a mirror of the human heart: Do we see through fear or do we see through faith?

When Slavery Looks Safer than the Promise

In Numbers 14, the people responded to the fearful report. They wept, complained, and even talked about choosing a new leader to take them back to Egypt. Fear blinded them so deeply that slavery looked safer than the promise. Joshua and Caleb tore their clothes in grief and pleaded with the people, saying, "If the LORD delights in us, He will bring us into this land… Only do not rebel against the LORD. And do not fear the people of the land, for they are bread for us. Their protection is removed from them, and the LORD is with us; do not fear them" (Numbers 14:8–9 ESV).

Instead of listening, the people picked up stones to kill them. At that moment, the glory of the Lord appeared, and God pronounced judgment. The generation that refused to trust Him would not enter the Promised Land. They would wander forty years, one year for each day the spies were in the land. Only Joshua and Caleb would enter. The ten spies who stirred fear died immediately by plague. The people, realizing too late what they had done, tried to enter the land without God and were defeated. It is a sobering reminder that fear, and unbelief will close doors that God intended to open.

They Are Bread for Us

This is the part the Lord highlighted to me: "do not fear the people of the land, for they are bread for us" (Numbers 14:9 ESV).

The phrase "bread for us" is what the Holy Spirit would not let me pass by. The Hebrew word for "bread" is lechem (Strong's H3899), which means "food," "nourishment," and "sustenance." It is the thing that strengthens you and helps you grow. It is not just symbolic; it is a literal, spiritual strategy. Through this, the Lord was saying to me, "What you are afraid of will feed you. What you think will crush you will nourish you." (Photo via Unsplash)

I asked Him to elaborate, and He said, "What you see as an enemy, I will use to feed you and make you grow. Wasn't that what I did with Moses? Didn't I cause the very ones who wanted to destroy him to raise him to prominence?"

Immediately I saw it. Moses wasn't only spared; he was sustained by Egypt. The very system that oppressed Israel fed their future deliverer. Moses was nourished, protected, and educated by his enemy (see Exodus 2:1–10). Egyptian wealth, produced by the labor of Moses' own people, funded Moses' life, training, and preparation. He was raised in the royal palace, receiving the best food, the best education, the best military training, and the best leadership formation. He grew strong in the house of the oppressor, on the resources of the oppressor, and God used all of it to form the man who would one day confront Egypt and liberate His people. The Egyptians became bread for Moses. The enemy fed the deliverer, who would one day bring destruction to them.

When the Enemy Feeds the Deliverer

This principle appears elsewhere in Scripture. Joseph's entire journey shows the same pattern. Everything that was meant to harm him became the very thing that positioned him. His brothers' jealousy sent him to Egypt. The Ishmaelites who carried him became the transportation that moved him into destiny. Potiphar's wife's false accusation meant to destroy him, placed him in the exact prison where Pharaoh's cup bearer would meet him.

"And Joseph's master took him and put him into the prison, the place where the king's prisoners were confined, and he was there in prison. But the LORD was with Joseph and showed him steadfast love and gave him favor in the sight of the keeper of the prison. And the keeper of the prison put Joseph in charge of all the prisoners who were in the prison… And whatever he did, the LORD made it succeed." (Gen. 39:20–23 ESV)

Joseph later said to his brothers who betrayed him, "God sent me before you to preserve for you a remnant" (Genesis 45:7 ESV). If he had not gone through everything he went through, he would have never seen his dreams fulfilled or saved his family. Every injustice Joseph faced became bread for his calling.

"As for you, you meant evil against me, but God meant it for good, to bring it about that many people should be kept alive, as they are today." (Genesis 50:20 ESV)

Then there were Esther and Mordecai. Haman built the gallows, plotted destruction, and sought power, but every single move he made strengthened the position of the ones he hated. The structure he built for Mordecai's downfall became the very instrument of his own demise. Haman's plans became the steppingstone for Mordecai's elevation. What the enemy designed for harm turned into nourishment for God's chosen (see Esther 6:6–11; 7:9–10).

As I reflected on all of this, I realized that Scripture shows a clear pattern:

• Every enemy becomes nourishment for the chosen.

• Every threat becomes training.

• Every opposition becomes preparation. (Photo via Unsplash)

Do Not Fear Them: Their Protection Is Removed from Them

This is why Joshua said, "Do not fear… their protection is removed from them" (Numbers 14:9 ESV). The Hebrew word for protection here is tsel (Strong's H6738), meaning "shade" and "shelter," as in a covering. Joshua wasn't saying Israel would defeat the giants because they were strong. He was saying the giants had already lost their covering. God had already removed their advantage.

The difference maker was OBEDIENCE. Obedience is what turns giants into bread. Obedience is more than compliance; it is worship. Obedience is when you say, "Lord, even when I am afraid, I will trust You," or "Even when I don't understand, I will honor You, " and "Even when it feels impossible, I will follow You."

Obedience is acknowledging that God is Lord over your life and that His plan is greater than yours. That posture transforms what was meant to break you into what builds you. Giants become bread. Enemies become teachers. Opposition becomes training. Warfare becomes strengthening. Humility becomes elevation. God uses everything.

The Lord is saying, "Child, this is the season in which your enemies will be your bread. If you keep obeying and do not turn away from Me, I will prepare a table for you in the presence of your enemies. The very ones who rejected you, overlooked you, ignored you, discounted you, showed contempt for you, humiliated you, betrayed you, underappreciated you, or gossiped about you—even the ones who wanted you to fail and plotted against you—will watch as I flip the script. I will reveal the biggest plot twist. Though it tarries, it will not delay. It will come to pass."

"You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies; You anoint my head with oil; my cup overflows." (Psalm 23:5 ESV)

"And the Lord answered me: 'Write the vision; make it plain on tablets, so he may run who reads it. For still the vision awaits its appointed time; it hastens to the end—it will not lie. If it seems slow, wait for it; it will surely come; it will not delay.'" (Habakkuk 2:2–3 ESV)

GET UNDER THE FLOW - IT'S TRANSFORMATION TIME!

LAWRENCE CHOVANEC, MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN

I awoke early in the morning of December 1 with shooting pain in my lower back, which I later found out was my first symptom of COVID-19. After attending to my morning responsibilities, I decided to lay down again. Almost immediately I fell asleep and had a very significant dream. I woke up 2 more times, went back to sleep, and had the same dream each time.

This is what happened in my dream:

I was standing on a ridge in a dark, rocky, desolate land, as if I was in the middle of a countryside that had been devastated by extensive war. There was a bank of low-lying clouds about 50-75 feet above the ground, whose edge ran nearly parallel to the ridge.

I looked up to see Jesus standing near the edge of the cloud, peering down on the desolation below. He was about 15-20 feet tall, and His presence was very reassuring. As if by His command, a "waterfall" of liquid gold started to flow over the edge of the cloud and onto the ground and the people below. While the gold was "molten," it wasn't hot – just a soothing warm. It didn't cascade over the edge of the cloud, but rather "oozed" down to the earth as if it was honey.

The moment it landed on me (and others), I noticed several things:

1) It was a comforting warmth.

2) It was "heavy" but not oppressively so. It was not the weight of gold, even though I knew it to be gold.

3) Every bit of land it touched turned green with new growth, and everyone it touched felt that same life-giving impact.

4) There were people on the desolate side of the ridge who refused to climb the slight embankment to get under the flow. Their side of the ridge remained dark and dead, except for the small part of the cloud that extended over the ridge. The few who made the effort to come under the golden flow were instantly transformed – their anger turned to joy!

This reminded me of John 12:30-32 (NKJV):

"Jesus answered and said, 'This voice did not come because of Me, but for your sake. Now is the judgment of this world; now the ruler of this world will be cast out. And I, if I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all peoples to Myself.'"

So, what does this all mean?

I understood the liquid gold to be the Holy Spirit; its weight was the kabowd (weightiness/substance) of God's glory, and everywhere it touched it brought new Life.

I believe that the desolate landscape represents the current state of our nation. There is stress because of the political environment, as well as the spiritual condition of many people in our country, including many in the Church. The Lord is pouring out His Holy Spirit, and every place and everyone who comes under that flow is healed and given new life. Those who refuse to step under the flow remain barren and harsh.

The date of my dream, the 1st day of the 12th month, is significant. 12 represents government. We have been hearing for decades that the Lord is setting up His apostolic government on the earth. Sometimes it takes a time of difficultly to begin to see the true fulfillment of a promise of God. If we are willing to place ourselves under the flow of His glory, we will triumph with Christ through this transformation time!

The bottom line is that the Lord is fully aware of our current state and is already pouring out His remedy! There are those who will refuse the Lord's help, and will, unfortunately, remain in spiritual darkness. But those who accept Him will be made whole and become His instruments to bring new life to our world.

THE PRESSURE WILL PROPEL YOU FORWARD
BERNICE SCHEIDLER, MISSOURI CITY, TEXAS

This is a dream I had in the early hours of October 2, 2025. I was with many others; we were walking across a floor completely covered with rubber bands— hundreds, even thousands of them. They were so vibrant and colorful, and as we stepped on them, the whole floor seemed to stretch and bounce just like a trampoline!

Waking from the dream, I heard the Lord say, "Tell My people I have been stretching them for the purpose of expansion. It will not break them but will propel them forward."

"Enlarge the place of your tent, and let them stretch out the curtains of your dwellings; do not spare; lengthen your cords, and strengthen your stakes. For you shall expand to the right and to the left." (Isaiah 54:2–3 NKJV)

Some of you have been stretched in your walk to the point that you thought you were going to snap. You have felt stretched thin, pulled beyond what you thought was your maximum capacity. But you will not snap! The pressure will propel you into everything God has called you to in this season.

I hear the Lord say, "You will bounce back from everything that once held you back." Just like a rubber band is stretched, this season will require resilience and flexibility. But as you surrender to the process, the Lord will use it as the very foundation He builds upon in your next season, and you will see His beauty woven through every part of your life.

Get ready for what the Lord is about to do in your life! I release it over you, in Jesus' name.

Lana Vawser: I HEARD THE LORD SAY 'DON'T LOOK BACK! YOU ARE BEING DELIVERED INTO THE NEW SEASON'

Recently, I heard the Lord say, 'Don't look back! You are being delivered into the new season.'

When the Lord spoke those words, the story of Lot's wife (Genesis 19) and Isaiah (Isaiah 43:18-19) surrounded me. I could feel a warning from the Lord's heart that it is very important in entering into the new season right now, which the Lord is moving many into, that eyes are fixed upon Him and fixed ahead for what He is doing.

As I leaned into the Lord and listened to His heart, I heard:

'My people, do not be distracted by days gone by. Do not be distracted by past seasons and the longing for "what was." I am calling you higher, I am calling you forward, and I am calling you into a new day. My voice is before you and I am beckoning you into a new day that I have for you. I say unto you, be not tethered to "what has been" or "what was" but keep your eyes upon Me and eyes ahead, for I am about to do wonders in your midst.

'I say unto you that I am delivering you from all that has held you bound in past seasons. I am severing and untethering you from things that have held you down, kept you contained and have been attempting to hinder you from moving forward. I am delivering you from the heavy weights that you have been carrying as you come to Me, and I am bringing you into deeper realms of rest in Me (Matthew 11:28) than you have known. I am bringing you into deeper depths of freedom in Me – that is your inheritance – than you have walked in before.

'I say unto you, there are significant encounters with Me awaiting you for the new season that is upon you. I say unto you, I am wooing you into deeper depths of My heart to see, perceive and receive My heart, My revelation, My wisdom and My strategy for the days ahead. For I say unto you, that as you come before Me in humility and surrender and seek My face, you shall see in ways you have not seen before. For I shall give you sight and insight for the days ahead that shall be your guide, and I shall be your anchor and strength. For I say unto you, I am bringing you forth into a place of deeper direction by My Word that is a light unto your feet and a lamp unto your path. (Psalm 119:105)

'I say unto you, it is very important right now that you consecrate your heart and consecrate your heart's focus right now. Do not allow your eyes and the focus of your heart to be swayed or turned to the left or to the right, but keep your eyes firmly fixed upon Me and upon what I am saying and where I am leading you. For I say unto you, eyes up! I say unto you, eyes front!

'For many of you have been tethered to past seasons because of the battles, woundings and pain that you have endured in these days. But I say unto you, a greater untethering is taking place by the power of My hand, and I am bringing you deeper into the place of yielded surrender. I am bringing you deeper by My Spirit into deeper places of freedom, and in this new season you shall run with a strength that you have not known before. You shall run not in striving, but you shall run in an empowerment of My Spirit that you have not known before.

'You are entering seasons of greater expansion of what I am doing, but it requires an even more ferocious focus upon Me and where I am leading you, and upon My Word. For there will be many distractions and things that will attempt to lead you in many different directions. But I say unto you, that as you come into the secret place and you hear My voice, I am bringing you into depths of clarity, discernment and insight by My Spirit that will lead and guide you in the days ahead.

'I say unto you, in this new season, not only shall you flourish in greater places of freedom in Me – as you yield to Me and My ways – but I say unto you, that you shall know a deeper revelation of your oneness with Me and a greater understanding and sensitivity of moving with Me and My Spirit, in My ways, as you surrender to Me and listen to My voice.

'For I say unto you, not only shall you see flourishing freedom in this new season in greater ways than you have seen and known, but you shall see the delivering forth of that which I have placed inside of you in greater measure. The River, My River, shall flow, flow, flow from within you in this season with greater intensity than you have known, as you draw deeper into the secret place and follow My leading.

'Do not believe the lie of the enemy that what "was" and what you have experienced in past seasons and the longings of these past seasons are far greater than the season that I am leading you into. The enemy is lying to many of you to attempt to keep you bound. The enemy is attempting to entangle the focus of your hearts and your eyes and longings, to keep you focused on what "has been" rather than the expansion and the glorious new move of My Spirit that you are entering into.

'I say unto you again, "DO NOT LOOK BACK." Do not partner with nostalgia, but keep your eyes on Me and look to Me. Do not look back and abort that which I am leading you into. Look forward, look to Me. There is only one place for looking back, My people, and that is to rejoice in what I have done. But there are many who are looking back in longing for what "HAS BEEN" and "WHAT WAS" and I say unto you, sever your agreement with it. Sever your agreement with what has been and what was and surrender to the untethering.

'For I say unto you, there is FULLNESS of joy in My presence (Psalm 16:11) and I am bringing you deeper into this place of knowing My joy as your strength. (Neh 8:10) I say unto you, in this new season I am bringing you into, it is one of expansion for many and there will be stretching in the deliveries by My Spirit that shall come forth. But I say unto you, OH, THE UNPRECEDENTED JOY that you shall know and experience IN ME. See what I am going to do and the move of My Spirit that I am inviting you into, the greater works that I am calling you to co-labor with Me in. You shall know joy like you have not yet known in watching what I am going to do and My power in your lives and through your lives.

'Do not look back with longing for what was, My people. A new day is dawning, and I have new ways and new pathways for you. I am bringing you into a season of fullness of destiny in Me and what I have written over your lives in what I have called you to, on a level that you have not experienced before. There is a greater fullness before you to walk in as you follow Me.

'This moment is significant. Steward it well by not looking back. Watch the new horizons that I am bringing you into; where you will see that I am leading you into your greatest days in Me, in partnering with Me in what I have called you to do and where I am leading you. The days of My manifested Glory being released through your lives – as you live in purity, humility and surrender to Me and My ways; truly, deeply, abiding in Me – are before you.'

Margret Arscott: The Shepards Warning

Humbly, in the Fear of the Lord, I submit this to those who have ears to hear this word in this time and season.

Recently, as I was driving back from Belen, New Mexico to Albuquerque, the Lord brought to memory when, recently, I saw on video a group of Black pastors that had prayed for In-Coming-Mayor Mamdani in NYC. They prayed that God's hand be upon him and that He was chosen to lead for such a time as this, and the last pastor invoked the blessing on this communist leader in the Mighty Name of Jesus.

I was grieved, and righteous indignation came to me the moment I saw and heard these pastors, because this endorsement was of a man who is a Muslim and walks in anti-Christ Spirit, hatred for Jews, Christians and Americans, and has noted his intent to destroy our freedoms.

Then I heard the Lord say, "They (the Pastors) will be surprised when I tell them, 'Depart from me I never knew you.' And they will say, "Why Lord, did we not do many mighty things in your name and prophecy?" (MATTHEW 7:21-23) "I will tell them, 'Depart from me you who work iniquity.'" A LYING SPIRIT HAS BEEN SENT, AND THEY LISTENED, AND THEIR HEART IS LYING TO THEM. They are like Barking Dogs.'

Isaiah 55:10, "The leaders of my people, the Lord's watchmen are blind and are oblivious: they are all mute dogs they cannot bark they are dreamers, lying around loving to slumber. Like ravenous dogs, they are never satisfied. They are shepherds with no discernment; they all turn to their own way, each one seeking his own gain." THEY ARE SILENT WATCHDOGS THAT GIVE NO WARNING WHEN DANGER COMES.

The plan for deconstructing the foundations of this nation has been planned and set up to destroy the Constitutional Republic. They hate this nation. Socialism and communism are sent from the counsel of evil rulers in high places.

As I was driving, I heard the Holy Spirit begin to tell me to listen to what He was saying.

He said there was a rebuke coming from the sheep to the Pastors would cry out, "They are out of order, out of order," and decry against their flock! But God said "NO," the ones out of order are those who are called to feed my sheep. The ones out of order are those Pastors who are not caring for my flock and not feeding my sheep or healing their wounds.

"Repent and come into Divine Alignment of my Word. My sheep are weak, without strength, full of unbelief, and woe to the shepherds who are not feeding my sheep. You have lined your houses with good things and left my sheep wanting, wandering, needing healing and deliverance. Many Pastors are like the living dead, standing before my flocks, spiritless, offering stolen words from others as inspiration, and they have no life-giving power to change the hearts of my people. (see Jeremiah 23:30). I am weary of your passivity towards my people.

"Hear and repent and return to your first LOVE, so I will bring times of refreshing, or the candles will be removed from your houses. I have placed you into the five-fold ministry as a hand of God reaching out, caring for my flock."

As I was praying in the Spirit, there was a transition with a strong unction, even forcefully, speaking even more assertively, and then I heard the voice of the Lord;

"The Spirit of Grace is offended by the shepherds who stand before my people with processed wafers of words to feed my people, stolen words. My people receive it and walk away unchanged. You counsel my people, but you have not come before me to receive My counsel. You have not stood in My counsel to receive my life-giving word to impart to my flock. You leave things up to fate, whatever will be will be, and produce more unbelief, doubt and faithlessness. Such is not the way of the Kingdom or My Word. Faith produces fruit. You speak from a double mind. You tell my people, "We will trust God," and you have no idea how, still leaving it up to the idea, "whatever comes, comes."

"NO," says the Spirit of the Lord, Faith is my substance. I have told you to call those things that are not as though they are. I gave my Church Authority to be the change and take authority to possess the Land of your Nation in the cities, towns, and villages wherein you dwell. I gave you the deposit of the Holy Spirit to instruct you, "the great Teacher," but the passivity, fearfulness, and fear of man in the shepherds have weakened your nation because you lack courage and understanding of my ways, the fear of men, and not wanting to offend those within your walls, only for gain to be well spoken of."

Will Meier: Creation Groans - Earth's Blessing Released

How can the earth bless us? Yet Scripture is full of this language—the earth is yielding its increase, the ground bringing forth fruit, creation groaning for redemption. The earth is not passive; it responds to the voice of the Lord, to righteousness, and to covenant alignment.

I struggled with this word because I had no established framework for it. And, I have admittedly been resisting sending out, but I kept seeing a gushing forth of many waters. As I researched this idea, the Scriptures began to paint an undeniable picture that the earth can indeed release a blessing in concert with Heaven.

What Has Been Capped, Resisted, and Withheld Is About to Burst Forth!

Can the earth bring forth a blessing? Don't all blessings flow from Heaven downward? Yet we often disconnect from this idea because we are no longer an agrarian people. We live in an industrialized, technical, digitized age. Cities, machines, and code have replaced fields, vineyards, and harvests. But for the biblical writers, the land itself was a living participant in God's covenant story. They understood that obedience or rebellion was not just personal; it touched the ground beneath their feet, the rain from Heaven, and the fruit of their labors. What they sowed in righteousness, the land itself echoed back in blessing.

Paul tells us in Romans that "the whole creation has been groaning together in the pains of childbirth until now" (Romans 8:22 ESV). The earth is pregnant with blessing, but it will only bring it forth when the sons and daughters of God rise into their place of authority and righteousness (Romans 8:19). Creation itself is waiting for the unveiling of God's people, because their alignment with Heaven triggers the earth's release.

The Lord just started speaking to me about how the earth is going to bring forth a massive blessing. There will be a gushing forth like never seen before. It will be on the magnitude of the flood in Noah's time—an issuing forth of the springs and the wells of salvation being released, not unto destruction but into life. The yoke and tyranny of unrighteousness have been broken, and righteousness will come forth.

This won't be a trickle. This won't be a drop here or there. What is coming will be a flood of blessing—a rushing torrent of life, glory, and restoration. What has been capped, resisted, and withheld is about to burst forth. The earth itself is heaving in travail, ready to deliver what Heaven has decreed. And the Lord is declaring, "Now is the time for release."

How the Earth Yields Forth Blessings

From Genesis to Revelation, creation is never silent; it is a witness and a partner in God's covenant purposes. The earth was cursed because of Adam's sin (Genesis 3:17–18), but it also responds to righteousness and obedience. When God's people align with Him, the ground yields its increase; when they rebel, it withholds. (Haggai 1:10–11)

This is exactly what Malachi prophesied: "'Bring the whole tithe into the storehouse. Test Me in this,' says the Lord Almighty, 'and see if I will not throw open the floodgates of Heaven and pour out so much blessing that there will not be room enough to store it. I will prevent pests from devouring your crops, and the vines in your fields will not drop their fruit before it is ripe,' says the Lord Almighty. 'Then all the nations will call you blessed, for yours will be a delightful land,' says the Lord Almighty." (Malachi 3:10–12 NIV)

Malachi ties Heaven's outpouring directly to the earth's response. Heaven opens, the earth yields, nations take notice. This covenant rhythm—obedience unlocking blessing and creation echoing back God's goodness—is a consistent thread from the law to the prophets to Christ Himself.

Jeremiah declared with urgency: "O earth, earth, earth, hear the word of the LORD" (Jeremiah 22:29 NKJV). Why did he say "earth" three times? In Hebrew thought, repetition establishes certainty. Jeremiah's triple cry is a summons to every layer of creation—land, nations, and people—to respond to God's word. The earth itself is commanded to obey.

This is why the psalmist could say, "The earth has yielded its increase; God, our God, shall bless us" (Psalm 67:6 ESV). It is also why Isaiah prophesied, "Let the earth open, that salvation and righteousness may bear fruit" (Isaiah 45:8 ESV). Paul took it further: "For the creation waits with eager longing for the revealing of the sons of God… in hope that the creation itself will be set free from its bondage to corruption and obtain the freedom of the glory of the children of God" (Romans 8:19–21 ESV). (Photo via Rawpixel)

Creation longs for freedom. Dragged into the curse through Adam's fall, it will also share in the liberation of God's people through Christ's redemption. The imagery Paul uses is childbirth—heaving, travailing, straining toward delivery. The earth is pregnant with blessing, but it will only bring it forth when the sons and daughters of God rise into their authority and righteousness.

And what is the greatest blessing the earth will release? The wells of salvation.

The Wells of Salvation

When the Heavens open and the earth responds, salvation springs up like fruit from the soil. "Shower, O heavens, from above, and let the clouds rain down righteousness; let the earth open, that salvation and righteousness may bear fruit." (Isaiah 45:8 ESV)

"The earth has yielded its increase; God, our God, shall bless us. God shall bless us; let all the ends of the earth fear Him!" (Psalm 67:6–7 ESV)

This salvation is not limited to souls entering the Kingdom, though that is central; it also includes deliverance, healing, restoration, and justice. This salvation is made by families reconciled, prodigals returning, communities transformed, and nations turning back to the Lord. This is the endgame of blessing—not just abundance but the revelation of Jesus Christ filling the earth. The earth itself becomes a stage for His glory, testifying that the curse is broken and that righteousness has taken root.

God Desires to Heal the Land

But salvation is not only personal; it touches cities, nations, and the land itself. From Genesis onward, the land has always been directly affected by covenant faithfulness or disobedience. Sin causes the land to mourn, but righteousness brings restoration.

"If My people, who are called by My name, will humble themselves and pray and seek My face and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from Heaven, and I will forgive their sin and will heal their land." (2 Chronicles 7:14 NIV)

God doesn't only heal people; He heals places. The land itself is tied to covenant and responds to repentance, righteousness, and worship.

"You crown the year with Your bounty; Your wagon tracks overflow with abundance. The pastures of the wilderness overflow, the hills gird themselves with joy." (Psalm 65:11–12 ESV)

"The desert and the parched land will be glad; the wilderness will rejoice and blossom. Like the crocus, it will burst into bloom; it will rejoice greatly and shout for joy." (Isaiah 35:1–2 NIV)

The earth itself rejoices under God's blessing. What once was barren blossoms. What once mourned breaks forth into fruitfulness. This means the gushing forth of blessing isn't only about provision or revival in people; it is also about nations, cities, and lands being restored. Pollution, corruption, bloodshed, and injustice defile the land (Numbers 35:33–34; Hosea 4:1–3), but when God's people repent and align with Him, He heals, renews, and releases abundance again.

The Earth Also Protects the Bride

The blessing of creation is not only about fruitfulness; it is also about protection. Revelation gives us a stunning picture of this truth: "Then from his mouth the serpent spewed water like a river, to overtake the woman and sweep her away with the torrent. But the earth helped the woman by opening its mouth and swallowing the river that the dragon had spewed out of his mouth" (Revelation 12:15–16 NIV).

The woman here is the Bride—the covenant people of God. The serpent spews out a flood of destruction, but the earth itself rises up to defend her. Creation does not stand neutral; it actively partners with Heaven's purposes. When the enemy tries to overwhelm, God can command even the ground beneath our feet to intervene.

This prophetic picture reminds us that the earth is not merely the stage of redemption; it is a participant in it. Just as the land yields increase and the heavens pour out blessing, so also the earth can shield, absorb, and protect the people of God from the assaults of the enemy. (Photo via Pexels)

In Noah's day, the deep burst forth in judgment. In Revelation, the earth swallows the flood of destruction. And in our day, the earth is groaning to release a flood of blessing, salvation, and protection for the Bride.

Springs Breaking Open

"I will open rivers on the bare heights, and fountains in the midst of the valleys. I will make the wilderness a pool of water, and the dry land springs of water." (Isaiah 41:18 ESV)

Springs speak of personal breakthrough—the dry places of your life suddenly gushing with new life. They are wells of salvation being uncapped, long-contended promises surfacing, and hidden treasures of revelation pouring out. Think of Isaac in Genesis 26, who was digging again the wells of his father and finding fresh springs of living water. Where the enemy tried to stop the flow, God opened it again. What has been resisted will be released. Springs are the first signs of the flood of blessing. They are the initial breakthroughs that become streams and rivers.

Rivers of Life and Abundance

"Wherever the river goes, every living creature that swarms will live, and there will be very many fish. For this water goes there, that the waters of the sea may become fresh; so everything will live where the river goes." (Ezekiel 47:9 ESV)

"Whoever believes in Me, as the Scripture has said, 'Out of his heart will flow rivers of living water.'" (John 7:38 ESV)

Rivers symbolize habitation and abundance. They sustain cities, irrigate farmlands, and carve valleys. The river from God's throne in Ezekiel 47 and Revelation 22 is not a seasonal stream; it is the unending flow of His life and glory.

This is what God is releasing—not momentary revivals but a river that reshapes regions and nations. "Let justice roll down like waters, and righteousness like an ever-flowing stream" (Amos 5:24 ESV).

Entire cultures will be transformed as His river sweeps through. And these rivers ultimately flow from Christ Himself—the Fountain of Living Waters, the Lamb who is the Temple, and the River of Life in the New Jerusalem. Every spring and river points back to Him.

From a Flood of Judgment to a Flood of Blessing

In Noah's time, the deep burst open in judgment. The fountains of the great deep were released, and waters covered the whole earth. In our time, the deep will burst open in blessing.

The earth is not resisting; it is groaning, heaving, and birthing (Romans 8:22). What Noah saw in water unto judgment, we will see in water unto redemption: springs of salvation breaking open, rivers of righteousness flowing, and the earth yielding her increase.

The tyranny of unrighteousness has been shattered. The gavel of Heaven has come down. Now the floodgates of righteousness, justice, and glory are being released—not in one region only but across nations—until the earth is "filled with the knowledge of the glory of the LORD, as the waters cover the sea" (Habakkuk 2:14 ESV). And at the center of it all stands Christ, the Fountain of Living Waters, the River of Life, and the Ark of Salvation. What was once judgment through water is now redemption through Him, and creation itself will testify of His reign.

Declaration: Lord, we welcome the bursting forth of the earth's blessing. We decree that the springs hidden in dry places are breaking open, the rivers of living water are flowing without hindrance, and the wells of salvation are being uncapped and released.

Let righteousness flood the land like a mighty torrent. Let justice roll down like thunderous waters, silencing every voice of accusation and overturning every altar of unrighteousness. Let the Bride be shielded, even as the earth itself rises to protect and defend her from the flood of the serpent.

We call forth abundance from the ground, fruitfulness from the fields, and restoration in every city and nation. We command the land to rejoice, to yield its increase, and to testify to the victory of Christ Jesus, the Fountain of Living Waters, the River of Life, and the Ark of Salvation.

Now, O Lord, let Heaven and earth agree, and let the glory of Your name cover the earth as the waters cover the sea.

Earth, Earth, Earth, Bring Forth Your Blessing!

The Word of the Lord is clear: the earth is not silent, nor is it passive. "For the creation waits with eager longing for the revealing of the sons of God… the whole creation has been groaning together in the pains of childbirth until now" (Romans 8:19–22 ESV). The earth is pregnant with blessing, straining to deliver what God has decreed. (Photo via Pexels)

In Noah's day, the deep burst open in judgment. In our day, the deep will burst open in blessing. Springs will break forth, rivers will flow, and the wells of salvation will overflow until the knowledge of the glory of the Lord covers the earth as the waters cover the sea.

This is the hour when groaning becomes birthing. What has been withheld will be released. What has been capped will be uncapped. The tyranny of unrighteousness has been broken, and righteousness will rise from the ground like a flood.

So lift up your eyes, position your heart, and align with His covenant. Heaven is pouring out righteousness, and the earth is ready to respond. Together they will release salvation, deliverance, restoration, and glory in measures the world has never seen. The earth will gush forth a blessing, and it will testify to the victory of Christ, the Fountain of Living Waters, the reign of righteousness, and the unveiling of the sons and daughters of God.

Activation: How to Partner with the Earth's Release

1. Pray: Call forth the blessing of the earth with your voice. Decree Isaiah 45:8 and Psalm 67 over your life, family, and land.

2. Consecrate: Remove unrighteousness from your life and your home. Align with holiness so the ground under your feet is free to respond.

3. Build altars of worship: Lift up thanksgiving and praise in your home, church, and region. Worship breaks open the earth's springs.

4. Act justly: Let your life reflect righteousness. The earth responds when justice rolls and mercy is lived out.

5. Expect the flood: Position your heart in faith. What has been withheld will be released, not in trickles but in torrents.

A Flood of Blessing and a Testimony of Glory

From Genesis to Revelation, the message is clear: the earth is not silent, nor is it neutral. It responds to covenant, it partners with righteousness, it shields the Bride, and it yearns for redemption. What was once a place of a curse is becoming a stage of glory.

In Noah's day, the deep broke open in judgment. In Revelation, the earth rises up to protect the Bride. And now, in our generation, creation groans for the unveiling of the sons and daughters of God so it can release a flood of blessing.

This is the moment to align with Heaven's decree. The land beneath your feet is waiting for your voice. The springs are ready to break open, the rivers are ready to flow, and the nations are ready to see a testimony of glory that only Christ can bring.

So let us rise as sons and daughters. Let us consecrate, decree, worship, and live justly. For when Heaven and earth agree, salvation springs forth, righteousness flows like a river, and the earth yields her increase. And all will know that the Lord reigns, His Bride is secure, and His glory will cover the earth as the waters cover the sea.

GOD SAYS: "GET READY TO TAKE THE LAND!"
BERNICE SCHEIDLER, REDMOND, OR

I release this prophetic word over you today: God is enlarging your territory and freeing you from the pain you have had to endure, just like He did for Jabez in 1 Chronicles 4:9-10! "Jabez was more honorable than his brothers. His mother had named him Jabez, saying, 'I gave birth to him in pain.' Jabez cried out to the God of Israel, 'Oh, that You would bless me and enlarge my territory! Let Your hand be with me, and keep me from harm so that I will be free from pain.' And God granted his request." (1 Chronicles 4:9-10)

The pain Jabez was referring to was not a physical pain. The word "pain" in that verse, in Hebrew, actually means "grief" or "sorrow." HE WAS BIRTHED out of grief and sorrow. His name, Jabez, means sorrow!

His heart's desire was to not have to endure or cause grief or sorrow going forward! God says: "A resilience was forged in you, in the pain that you did not have before, and it caused a persistence in you. You kept on knocking, you kept seeking, you kept on asking..."

God says, "I have heard your cries, and I have seen your heart, and I have found you honorable! AND YOU WILL NOT BE DENIED!"

Get ready to take the land! YOUR TERRITORY IS ENLARGING!

Dutch Sheets: Realigning America with Heaven

"Pray, then, in this way Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven." (Matthew 6:10)

America's Founders knew they were aligned with heaven when they declared themselves a sovereign nation on July 4, 1776. Although they obviously wanted independence from Britain for personal reasons, they also knew God was involved in the decision. The great book, The Light and the Glory, states the following regarding the signing of the Declaration of Independence:

"The magnitude of what they had done began to weigh upon them, and they realized that they and their countrymen were no longer Englishmen, but citizens of a fledgling nation barely a few minutes old. Many stared out the window. Some wept openly. Some, like Witherspoon, bowed their heads and closed their eyes in prayer. John Hancock broke the silence: 'Gentlemen, the price on my head has just been doubled!' "A wry chuckle followed, and then Samuel Adams rose: 'We have explored the temple of royalty [speaking of Britain's monarchy], and found that the idol we have bowed down to his eyes which see not, ears that hear not our prayers, and a heart like [a] millstone. We have this day restored the Sovereign, to Whom alone men ought to be obedient. He reigns in heaven and from the rising to the setting sun, may His Kingdom come.'"

Forty-five years later, our Founders still believed God had been involved in the birth of America. I repeat the profound quote I mentioned yesterday from John Quincy Adams, the son of John and Abigail Adams and sixth president of the United States, which he stated on July 4, 1821: "The highest glory of the American Revolution was this: it connected in one indissoluble bond the principles of civil government with the principles of Christianity."

Sixteen years later (July 4th, 1837), which was sixty-one years after the signing of the Declaration, Adams still believed this, and actually connected the birth of America to the birth of Christ:

"Why is it that next to the birthday of the Savior of the World, your most joyous and most venerated festival returns on this day? . . . Is it not that in the chain of human events, the birthday of the nation is indissolubly linked with the birthday of the Savior? That it forms a leading event in the progress of the Gospel dispensation?"

Adams was not equating the significance of America's birth with the birth of Christ. He was linking the purpose of our birth with the birth of Christ. Our Founders knew that God's plan in forming America was for us to be a trumpet of the gospel to all the nations of the earth. Liberals, atheists, secularists, and revisionists seethe at this reality, but as John Quincy's father, Founding Father John Adams, stated, "facts are stubborn things."

If You Can Keep it

Our Founders also knew that, because of the hearts of sinful man, the preservation of the Republic and our alignment with heaven were fragile. After America won the War of Independence and our Constitution was finally written and ratified, Ben Franklin was asked, "What do we have, Doctor, a republic or a monarchy?" Franklin replied, "A Republic, if you can keep it."

How prophetic this warning turned out to be. We are once again fighting desperately to maintain our Republic. Founder and patriot Sam Adams also knew the challenges of sustaining our nation's existence and its alignment with heaven. He stated in Philadelphia on August 1, 1776, just a few weeks after signing the Declaration of Independence: "Our Union is now complete; our Constitution composed, established, and approved. You are now the guardians of your own liberties."

Four years later, in a letter to James Warren dated October 24, 1780, Adams stated: "If ever a time should come, when vain and aspiring men shall possess the highest seats in Government, our country will stand in need of its experienced patriots to prevent its ruin."

In recent history, Ronald Reagan spoke of just how fragile America's freedom and destiny are. At his inauguration as Governor of California, this future President stated: "Perhaps you and I have lived too long with this miracle to properly be appreciative. Freedom is a fragile thing, and it's never more than one generation away from extinction. It is not ours by way of inheritance; it must be fought for and defended constantly by each generation, for it comes only once to a people. And those in world history who have known freedom and then lost it have never known it again."

We are now in need of the patriots Sam Adams spoke of. However, we need more than patriots in government to restore America; we need patriotic intercessors, those willing to appeal to heaven for America's realignment with God. Our Founders recognized this need in our nation's beginning. This is why Washington commissioned the creation of the Appeal to Heaven flag and flew it over America's naval vessels and battlefields in the Revolutionary War.

Pray with me:

Father, the world looked on in amazement as thirteen unorganized, army-less, poor colonies defeated the world's greatest empire. It seemed impossible, yet they did, and we know how they did it. They recognized that their cause was linked to Yours, and they chose to become partners with You, making You the Senior Partner. They would become a sovereign nation, yes, but a "nation under God." They asked for Your help, even placing the request on a banner and raising it over the battlefields. You responded, coming to their aid.

You have now resurrected this flag and re-awakened the appeals. It was effective then; it will be now. The same activity that birthed our nation is now rebirthing it. Breathe on the call to prayer, Father. Energize it with Your Holy Spirit. Cause it to be abundant and vibrant in America and around the world.

We have been, and continue to appeal to You for worldwide revival. We appeal to You for the destruction of demonic strongholds, false religions, and human systems opposing You. We appeal to You for the uncovering of deception and release of truth in our land and other nations. We ask for grace and mercy, but we also appeal for justice. Pour out Your Spirit in America, a great deluge of power and glory. Do so until we are once again a light to the world, a carrier of the life-giving gospel, and a beacon of truth. We boldly decree this shall be so, in the mighty name of Jesus! Amen.

Our decree:
We decree that America is being revived and restored through God-honoring patriots and faith-filled intercessors!

HE IS CHANGING, REARRANGING, AND CATAPULTING YOU!
LORILEI COOLEY, SCOTTSDALE, AZ

I saw the Lord leveling the mountains and things that have been erected before the people of God and what the Lord has spoken over them and this season. It seemed as if they were bigger than they appeared to be. But I sensed what the Lord was about to do: There would be instantaneous movement and shifts happening to current circumstances and long-standing situations. There would be a complete leveling and overcoming to what had seemed overpowering to many.

As the mountains were leveled and suddenly became flat, there was a clarity to see what the Lord was bringing forth. Things He had spoken were just moments away. The things that the Lord had spoken to you, and over you, were making headway and breaking forth. Alignments and assignments were changing rapidly, for the long-awaited change was upon you. There was no stopping the movement of Heaven that was coming over His people.

I also felt that there was such a deep birthing happening. There was deep healing from the grief, shame, and pain of many past painful seasons. There was room being made to enlarge the capacity to carry more of what the Lord was releasing over many, for the appointed time had arrived.

"Enlarge the place of your tent, stretch your tent curtains wide, do not hold back; lengthen your cords, strengthen your stakes." (Isaiah 54:2)

I also felt that the Lord was making many ready, for He is about to showcase and display His glory, the power of His word, and His promises. Many have felt overlooked, but the tide is now turning. There are sudden shifts of change, rearrangements, and catapults into many doors that are opening before you. The heavens are rumbling with divine change and kairos timing.

"There is an appointed time for everything. And there is a time for every event under Heaven." (Ecclesiastes 3:1)

I also sensed that many of you have already received your marching orders of what the Lord has instructed you to do in this season, but the warfare and resistance have attempted to keep you from advancing and progressing into what He has given you to do. I felt this magnanimous shift happening that will suddenly cause many of you to step into the new alignments and assignments. It was a catapult and thrust you into what the Lord has already spoken and instructed you to do.

There is a changing of the guard, and His divine change is at hand. He is accelerating things and moving you into the new season. This is the season that many have been waiting to enter into for such a very long time. It has finally arrived!

IN CONCLUSION

I encourage everyone to go to the Elijah List website as well as each author to see a complete list of the works of each contributor. The Prayer Guide is just that, a daily devotional consisting of the WORD OF GOD as well as prophetic insight from multiple contributors reposted for HIS Glory. The Republic and Pastor Wade Butler do not make or receive any compensation for this publication, as this work is just passing on the great insight of so many contributors.

Again, I want to give special thanks to all who contributed to this devotional prayer guide: The Amplified, King James, and Passion versions of the WORD of GOD were used in this study. Words of Prophecy from: Chuck Pierce with Robert and Linda Heidler, Inspiration Ministries, Judaism 101, The Elijah List, Wikipedia, Rabbi Tziporeh Heller, Rabbi Dov Ber Pinson, Sefer Yetzirah, Menachem Posner, Nate & Christy Johnston, Nathan French, Veronika West, Lana Vawser, James Nesbit, Bruce and Linda Dietler, Bible Gateway, John & Janet Rockwell, Wade & Frances Butler, Dutch Sheets, Bob & Remy Koch, Julie Green, Andrew Whalen, Terry Friesen, Joe-Joe Dawson, Alysa Fornarotto-Regenye, Helen Calder, Angie Stolba, Victoria Boyson, Donna Rigney, Shellie Sullivan-Clark, Chloie Stafford, Chris G. Bennett, Faith Marie Baczko, Rosangela Atte, Lawrence Chovanec, Bernice Scheidler, Margret Arscott, Pat Francis, Lorilei Cooley, Will Meier, Craig Cooney.

Blessings and enjoy, Dr. Wade K. Butler

I want to encourage everyone to read the WORD of GOD daily and set a goal to read through the Bible every year, again, "Study to show yourself approved."

"The Heart of a Seer: Ascending to meet the King."

This is a book of Visions, Words of Knowledge and Testimonies derived from the journals of an international team of intercessors consisting of Apostles, Prophets, Pastors, Teachers, Seers and intercessors. It highlights just a sampling of the many hundreds of visitations, words, and prayers we have experienced over the past several years as related by me, Wade Butler, a Pastor, Chaplain, and Seer, a Revelator.

Most importantly, we are all intercessors; called to the front lines to help plow the way of victory for the sons and daughters of Christ. This is not just about my journey, but includes highlights of leaders from the four corners of the earth. There are so many stories to tell. This publication only begins to share that which we have seen and experienced. I now understand when John said in John 21:25 And there are also many other things which Jesus did. If they should all be recorded one by one

[in detail], I suppose that even the world itself could not contain (have room for) the books that would be written. There are not enough adequate words to describe the beauty, the GLORY, or the LOVE that will permeate your very being when you enter the presence of the King. I pray you will enjoy our journey.

Several of the comments from readers:

- Wade Butler's book is truly anointed. I could barely get through it without crying on every page, it resonated with me in such a way, it made a nig impact on me. I think Abba for connecting me to Wade's book. It's written with such visual detail, you feel like you're right there with him in Heaven. This book has blessed me. I am sure it will bless you too. Love and prayers to all who are led to read this book, in Yeshua's mighty name, Amen. AR
- Beautiful and deeply spiritual book written by Wade Butler. Cannot wait for his next book to come out. JW
- The book changed my perspective of who I am and who I need to be. I'm no longer going to hide my gifts. SM
- I'm coming out of hiding for 26 years, now I know it can help others understand who they are, "Seers".
