

Revive, our support and resource center, is a safe, welcoming and non-judgmental space for women. Strategically located in the neighborhood where we have an ongoing street outreach, the center has open hours in the afternoon with classes or support groups offered during the morning or evening. Case management is available by appointment as requested.

At the center, we offer coffee, cold drinks and snacks as well as providing items to meet practical needs. Women who visit can enjoy a peaceful break, rest or watch a movie. Various art or craft activities provide an opportunity for creative expression and relaxation as well as a means of fostering connections and building relationships.

Many of the women we see are struggling with life controlling issues and have had their trust violated. Our trained staff works to build rapport with a trauma-informed approach. We offer assistance in connecting to support services and community resources as well as program referrals, providing transportation when needed. Specifically designed programs are available as requested for women who are interested and ready to participate, including mentoring, support groups and Bible studies.

At Revive, women learn they are strong, capable, and worthy. They begin to see a future with renewed hopes and dreams, empowered and supported as they set and achieve their goals. This could be moving from homelessness to help in securing safe housing, support in their recovery, reunification with their child(ren), or finding employment. In an atmosphere of safety and acceptance, with the encouragement of their peers and staff who value them, women are experiencing the love of Christ and beginning to see and walk a new path.
