Looking for a way to support your SaddleBrooke neighbors? Join Senior Village's 400 volunteers who live the motto "neighbors helping neighbors." We promote independence and well-being among our 2,000 members through various programs and services. Immediate volunteer opportunities are available in the areas of data entry, dispatch, event coordination, forms/documents, drivers, home technology, photographers, SaddleBag Notes newspaper delivery coordination and writers. Ideal volunteers have computer skills, regular availability, and empathy for older adults. To begin the application process, visit www.seniorvillage.org/volunteer. For more info, contact Volunteer Coordinator Mary Toth at mary.toth@seniorvillage.org or (520) 314-1042, press 4.

Special Deliveries!

SENIOR VILLAGE
Neighbors Helping Neighbors in SaddleBrooke

If the volunteers delivering Saddlebag Notes look like your neighbors, you're not imagining things. Despite busy schedules, more than 100 dedicated volunteers trek across SaddleBrooke on the last Friday of each month to deliver Saddlebag Notes on behalf of Senior Village.

Be sure to wave hello next time you see them hard at work!

Sean's a solo guitarist/vocalist now closing in on 700 performances in Washington and Arizona. He and his wife Katy are four-year Saddlebrooke residents, and he's a regular performer at area venues including Fork & Fire, The Hoppy Vine, Catalina Craft Pizza, The Landing, The Views at Sun City, Fini's Landing, the Windmill Winery in Florence and more, playing music that spans decades. Join us at the Desert View Theatre as Sean plays popular selections from the 50s, 60s and 70s — including Elvis, The Beatles, Burt Bacharach and Everly Brothers to the Eagles, Neil Young, James Taylor, George Strait and much more. You'll also hear a few selections from his 14-song, all-original 2023 album, Time Will Tell, available through all the usual streaming platforms as well as in CD form at the show.
