

Taking America Beyond The Legacy of Enslavement

Especially in Richmond, Virginia

CELEBRATE with Coming to the Table-RVA (CTTT-RVA)

CTTT-RVA HAS RECEIVED A $250,000 CHALLENGE GIFT

To receive the full amount of this generous offer, we must raise equal matching funds.
We are certain we can meet this goal with the support of friends like you who believe in the work of racial healing and reconciliation.

SUPPORT OUR GROWTH

CTTT-RVA HAS BECOME THE LARGEST AND MOST ACTIVE of the 32 groups in the national Coming to the Table organization. At CTTT-RVA, 250-300 people interested in racial healing gather around the table in face-to-face conversations. They come together for monthly community dinners, book discussions, and movie viewings. Gatherings focus on developing a more accurate understanding of our racial history and deepening new relationships. Pilgrimages, lectures and field trips add depth through shared experiences. These activities are all lead and supported by committed, trained volunteers.

OUR MISSION GOALS ARE BEING ADVANCED: Through shared activities and a lively Facebook presence

- new cross-racial relationships are being forged;
- a more inclusive and accurate narrative is being shaped;
- the commitment to heal the wounds of racial injustice is strengthened;
- the motivation to act for change is fueled.

OUR CAPACITY IS EXPANDING: We are increasing our capacity to offer transformative experiences and to actively work for change. We are developing a local network of collaborators -- museums, universities, schools, churches, nonprofits and other organizations (see below). We have also become a resource for new and established organizations where our missions intersect.

CTTT-RVA IS NOW OFFICIALLY A NONPROFIT CORPORATION: We

- have a Board of Directors
- are registered with the State Corporation Commission
- have received our 501-3c tax exempt status from the IRS

If you, like our anonymous donor, recognize the pressing need for the work of racial healing and reconciliation, CTTT-RVA's growing effectiveness and expanding potential, and the depth of commitment of the volunteers who do this work, we ask that you

HELP US REACH OUR GOAL!

Support Coming To The Table--RVA's efforts by making a donation.

Together we can meet this Challenge and build a more just and truthful community.

Thank you,
Danita Green, Martha Rollins and the Coming To The Table--RVA Team
