

INDIANA BAR FOUNDATION

Lily Lawson, a stalwart member of the team for nearly nine years as the Chief Administrative Officer, is retiring at the end of February. Between now and then, Lawson will remain with the Foundation as Special Projects Manager.

Kayla O'Brien has served in various positions within the Foundation during the last six and a half years, most recently as Communications and Events Manager. O'Brien is the new Chief Administrative Officer, and her experience continues to be an invaluable asset to the organization.

Abbie Bush has joined the Foundation as the Grants and Endowment Manager. Bush has been part of the Foundation on a contract basis for the last nine months and will continue working with the Civil Legal Aid Fund administration and other grant distribution programs.

John Althardt is the new Marketing and Communications Manager. Althardt most recently served on the Executive Team at the Indiana Department of Education as Senior Communications Specialist.

Megan Clarke is the newest member of the Foundation team and the Development and Communications Specialist. Clarke has private sector fundraising experience, has worked with donors and donor management systems, and is experienced in working with volunteers.
