Music Will Prevail

A Message to the Class of 2021

It's Been a Difficult Year. This is the title of one of my favorite tracks from the British pop band that my family had ironically planned to see live the week after COVID-19 hit our area. The pandemic led to an unprecedented and dramatic period of cancellations for everyone, including the Keane concert that we were about to attend. But the prophetic title even better describes the year that followed, filled with so much uncertainty, restriction, and sudden changes of direction.

The pandemic has taught me to cherish the good times. For me, this included preparing and presenting some memorable concerts, starting with Celtic dancing, Austro-Hungarian, Animation, Water and Animals. I remember ice storms and epic bus rides. I recall dazzling the entire student body with you at holiday assemblies. And I remember one spectacular night when we shared our stage with a college symphony for the largest and most ambitious performance of my teaching career.

But this experience has also taught me to pivot quickly and to embrace new opportunities, as you have done so gracefully. I will always be grateful to the patient students who helped me find structure and meaning in a distance learning format that was so unfavorable to ensemble musicians. Thanks to your leadership and ingenuity, we created some synchronous recordings that will always have a special place in my heart. The online broadcasts were my brightest moments in a dark and isolating time, and the productions will endure as a testament to your creativity and perseverance.

Anyway, I want to thank you all for joining me in this journey and to wish you all the best on your next adventures. I hope that you will always look back fondly on your time with the orchestra. I hope you will find that music is a powerful catalyst that will lead you to positive connections. It is also my sincere hope that many of you will return to our stage at Langley someday (maybe next year's Spring concert) to be honored with the usual graduation traditions that you earned. I believe the world could use unifying, live events like orchestra performances more than ever now -- and that music will endure.

Sincerely,
Doc

THANK YOU!

Special thanks to Dave Belazis and Brian Scarborough at Foxes Music Company in Falls Church (www.foxesmusic.com) for working tirelessly on sprucing up our fleet of cellos. Over the past 2 months, many of Langley Orchestra's cellos have benefitted from new tailpieces and fine tuners, as well as had their bridges straightened and other work done to improve their playability and sound quality. LOS funds were used to pay for replacement parts, but Dave and Brian did much of this work gratis.
