Indy Reads Receives $4,000 Grant from the Nora Roberts Foundation

Indianapolis, IN — (March 17, 2022) The Nora Roberts Foundation, created in 2001 by Nora Roberts as an avenue of support for organizations promoting and encouraging literacy, children, the arts, and humanitarian efforts, has awarded Indy Reads a $4,000 grant. The grant supports Indy Read's High School Equivalency curriculum transition from the TASC certification exam to the HiSET certification exam.

"We are so grateful to the Nora Roberts Foundation for their support as we continue to build out new lesson plans, practice tests, and training materials to prepare our students for skill mastery on a new High School Diploma certification exam that has been implemented statewide," said Ruba Marshood, Indy Reads' CEO.

Indy Reads serves adult learners through free literacy, ELL, job readiness, and credential-earning certification courses. The High School Equivalency (HSE) diploma program, launched in 2020, has bloomed over the last two years and this funding will support the development of instructional materials tailored to our students' growing needs.

"HSE diplomas open doors to employment, further education, and workforce training programs that are unavailable to individuals without a diploma," Marshood said. "In Marion County, 14% of our neighbors over 25 years old do not have a high school diploma or equivalency. At Indy Reads, our core value of student-centeredness ensures that whatever the literacy level of students entering our program, we will work with them from pre-HSE to taking their High School Equivalency exam and beyond. Nora Roberts Foundation funding allows us to help adults at all levels of literacy prepare to meet - and exceed - their goals."
