Michigan Equitable Service Collaborative

Catapult Learning and the MESC invite you to a full-day Professional Development Institute. The morning sessions will focus on building a professional learning community for the leadership and teachers.

■ LEADERSHIP SESSION 1:

Building a Professional Learning Community For: Instructional Leaders

For school-wide change to take hold, teachers must be actively involved in the process, communicating and collaborating to achieve results. Professional Learning Communities (PLCs) are a way to achieve this. Participants will:

- Understand the essential components of effective PLCs
- Generate shared mission and vision statements
- Create norms for effective collaboration
- Draft an action plan for establishing PLCs with a focus on learning

■ LEADERSHIP SESSION 2:

Developing Effective Teams For: Instructional Leaders

Teamwork involves collaboration, and creating a productive, results-oriented team is a process. Participants will:

- Explore the characteristics of an effective team
- Determine what is needed for successful collaboration
- Develop a rubric to chart the team's progress
- Draft a template to structure the team meetings

■ TEACHER SESSION 1:

Building a Professional Learning Community For: K-12 Teachers

For school-wide change to take hold, teachers must be actively involved in the process, communicating and collaborating to achieve results. Professional Learning Communities (PLCs) are a way to achieve this. Participants will:

- Understand the essential components of effective PLCs
- Generate shared mission and vision statements
- Create norms for effective collaboration
- Draft an action plan for establishing PLCs with a focus on learning

■ TEACHER SESSION 2:

Building a Culture of Achievement For: K-12 Teachers

Educators in this workshop will examine the four domains for building a culture of achievement—climate, time, celebrations, and communication—and explore and adapt ideas and strategies to grow within each domain. Participants will:

- Analyze their current practices within the four domain for building a culture of achievement
- Assess their school's strengths and areas for improvement within each of the four domains
- Create an action plan for enhancing their school's culture of achievement
