What does the Attorney General do and why is the office Important?

The Colorado Attorney General:

- is the head of the Colorado State Department of Law
- acts as the chief legal counsel and chief law enforcement officer for the state
- represents and defends the legal interests of the people of the State of Colorado and its sovereignty
- has primary authority for enforcement of consumer protection and antitrust laws, prosecution of criminal appeals and some complex white-collar crimes, the statewide grand jury, training and certification of peace officers, and certain natural resource and environmental matters

Election Day is November 8.
