April 12-14, 2019

At The Rinks Anaheim ICE

PROGRAM INCLUDES:

- 2 Training/Developmental Sessions
- 3 Games with College Coaches
- Seminars on Player Development, College Hockey Opportunities and Exposure

The Lady Ducks College Development Camp is designed to give aspiring collegiate players, ages 13-18, exposure to college coaches in both a developmental and game environment. Any player looking to play at the college level shouldn't miss the opportunity to work with NCAA women's coaches and take your game to the next level. Over 60 girls participated in the camp last year. The camp provides exposure to both the Division I and III level coaches and gives players from the west coast an opportunity to get on the radar with women's collegiate hockey programs.

Players will be placed on competitively matched teams and will work with their coach to develop the needed skills to become a college player, understanding of flow, game situations, positioning and decision-making during practice and game play. In addition to the coaches on the ice, the event will be open to other college coaches for scouting. Over 50 invites will be sent to NCAA women's programs. The program and skill level will be competitive and is for Tier I and II players only who are highly directed and motivated.
