

REIMAGINING OUR WORK

As early Childhood Educators we are inundated with assessments, paperwork, and requirements. This does not stop us from refocusing our attention on what is essential for our work with young children and families. The Reimagining Our Work (ROW) book collection is a series of stories written by early childhood educators. These stories illustrate a pedagogical approach that includes a commitment to social justice, deep listening, thoughtful meaning-making about children's conversations, play and representations. We are fortunate to have 6 authors from this collection right here in San Francisco. In collaboration with the Child Development Department at San Francisco City College and Exchange Press, we bring together these thoughtful educators. Please come celebrate the authors and hear their stories of reimagining a better world for children, families, and themselves.

Treasures in the Thicket by Bethica Quin with Rosalina Rodriguez (this book is in English and Spanish).

You Can't Celebrate That! By Nadia Jaboneta

Making Adjustments: Meditations on Learning With Children by Misa Okayama

The Art of Trouble Making by Olga Lacayo with Eliana Elias. (This book is in English and Spanish)

WHEN: Monday, February 12, from 6:00PM to 7:30 PM

WHERE: City College of San Francisco 1125 Valencia Street, San Francisco, Building A room 109

Please click here to RSVP. Light refreshments provided.