VegFest Celebrates Music, Yoga, and Vegan Chili Cook-Off in Cincinnati, June 7

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 1, 2025

On June 7, 2025, Cincinnati celebrates plant-based living hosting the seventh annual Cincy VegFest drawing in foodies, environmentalists, music lovers, yogis, children, and more. The Cincy VegFest will be held in Clifton at the Burnet Woods Bandstand from 12 pm – 5 pm. Admission is FREE for all.

At this year's event the Cincy VegFest is highlighting the third annual Vegan Chili Cook-Off. Last year 11-year-old Sreeja entered the 2024 cook-off and won first place. This year she is back as a judge alongside Katherine Barrier of CityBeat, Alex Nager of Harmony Plant Fare and Alecia Petroze of Juniper Seed at Findlay Market. All community cooks, chefs, home kitchen gurus, and anyone who loves sharing delicious plant-based chili may enter the contest. More info on how to get your TASTE TICKET or to ENTER here.

This year you can expect some inspiring talks and laughs with standup comic Emmy Buttrick, The Succubus of Satire. Bring the kids for pre-event children's yoga at 10:00 am or the Arts and Crafts area sponsored by Clifton Cultural Arts Center. Enjoy food demos with some of Cincinnati's inspired plant-based chefs, music with incredibly gifted local talent, and fare to satisfy all your senses. From beautiful humans like Danielle Delaine of Herban Vegans and Naimah Sams of To Be Vegan and Black and Like Mom's Only Vegan presenters, performers, vendors, and exhibitors alike come together under the shared common values of peaceful, compassionate plant-sourced living. Community yoga at 11:00 am with Anna Ferguson, author of the World Peace Yoga book is a great way to start your Saturday. Make sure to also catch a tune with MayaLou Banatwala, Siri Imani, Maria, etc. and Nicholas Radina.

There are over 150 VegFest events across the country every year. VegFest events continue to build momentum and popularity with audiences beyond just vegetarians and vegans. This year Cincinnati hosts their VegFest on June 7, 2025 thanks to Clifton Community Fund, Clifton Business Association, and Cincinnati Parks.
