

David Schweikert Has been a resident of Arizona ever since his adoptive parents brought him here as a small child. Growing up in Scottsdale, David graduated from Saguaro High School before going on to graduate from ASU With an MBA..

After graduating, David began a career in the real estate industry and was first elected to public office as a member of the Arizona House of Representatives. After serving in the Arizona House, David returned to his career in business and was then appointed Maricopa County Treasurer in 2005 and won election to the Treasurer's office in 2006. In 2010, David defeated Democrat incumbent Congressman Harry Mitchell to win a seat in the U.S. House of Representatives.

In Congress, David has developed a reputation for being an unwavering fiscal hawk who helped write President Trump's landmark Tax Cuts and Jobs Act in 2017 that reduced taxes for all Americans. As one of the leading conservatives in Congress, David was also a co-founder of House Freedom Caucus.

Today, David is the Chairman of the Joint Economic Committee and a member of the Ways and Means committee where he continues to his commitment to reduce the size, cost, and reach of the federal government.

David and his wife Joyce are the proud parents of two children and live in Fountain Hills. Together they attend St. Bernard church.