ABOUT US

The FSPCA is a broad-based public-private alliance of key industry, academia, and government stakeholders. It was established in late 2011 by a grant from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to the Illinois Institute of Technology's Institute for Food Safety and Health (IIT IFSH).

The mission of the FSPCA is to assist the human and animal food industry and related entities in building food safety capacity through education, training, and outreach with an emphasis on small-, and medium-sized businesses.

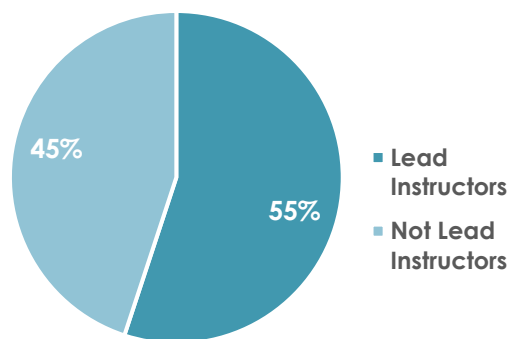

WHO ATTENDS THE FSPCA ANNUAL CONFERENCE?

Since 2017, the FSPCA annual conference attracts food safety experts and decision-makers in government, food manufacturing and processing, research, academia, and more. As the pie chart below on the left shows, government food safety regulators and academic food safety researchers, administrators, and course instructors attend in roughly equal numbers. More than 75% of the attendees are industry food scientists, technical consultants, certification bodies, and more.

These food safety professionals teach thousands of industry food safety practitioners how to comply with the prevention-oriented standards of the Food Safety Modernization Act (FSMA). FSPCA Lead Instructors come from all attendee segments and, as the pie chart above on the right shows, make up more than 50% of all attendees.
