

Active Shooter Training

Sponsored by HARRP and AHRP, in association with Pacific Northwest Regional NAHRO

Every year, the media covers stories about active shooters in places of public accommodation, as well as in the workplace. Unfortunately, we at HARRP are aware of three incidents at public housing agencies involving an armed individual who threatened staff; two of those incidents ended in fatalities.

Brief Description of Course:

This full day, 8-hour session provides an opportunity for participants to practice disarming techniques. The master instructors, each with a background in law enforcement and involvement in active shooter incidents, will prepare attendees to: prevent violence, recognize pre-attack indicators, respond to aggressors, deescalate tense situations, decide whether to make fight or flight decisions, learn to focus during the stress of impending violence, consider loss control techniques for personal and public safety, and create an Emergency Operating Procedure.
