I am a Bradenton resident and lived in the area most of my life. I attended Riverview High School and graduated from Venice High School. My parents divorced when I was eight years old, shortly after moving here. I often would flip-flop between parents. I was told as a child I had a lot to say. That must've been the case because I was always getting into trouble at school.

As an adult, I found myself playing the victim of every situation and trying to play the savior to others. That didn't work out well for me, and one day I realized the "victim's" pain is self-chosen. I then decided to never take a side based on popular view nor media. Instead, I would do research and formulate my own opinion.

Since that fateful day, I have started my own business, and I newly started a live streaming podcast called "Suncoast On Point". In the world today, people long for the truth, and they deserve it with no slants needed. I am that truth teller, I am the PC nightmare, and if that means I'm the villain, then I'll be the super villain.
