

April is Occupational Therapy (OT) month! Occupational Therapy focuses on helping children develop the skills they need to grow into functional, independent adults. An occupational therapist will aim to strengthen the body, empower the mind, and improve quality of life.

Here are the many reasons our therapists love being an Occupational Therapist:

"I love being an OT because a child's work is play, and I get to play too!"

"I love the flexibility to work with different types of people in a variety of settings."

"I love the look on 'my kids' faces when they discover that they can do something new."

"It's such a rewarding career to have. To work with children, watch them grow and succeed. I hope to have a positive impact on their lives and I'll carry their little handprints on my heart."

"I like to know that in some way, I have affected a favorable change for the child and hopefully, their family. I love to relive the innocent perspective of a child."

"It's so rewarding to see how much the children grow and how much they learn to do new things. I enjoy 'playing' with them and giving them the skills they need to grow."
