

EXCITING RESEARCH STUDY!

HELP US LEARN MORE ABOUT PARENT-CHILD TECHNOLOGY CONFLICT!

Hello Parents and Guardians!

I am a fourth-year doctoral student in Long Island University – Post's Clinical Psychology Doctoral Program and I am looking for your help with my research. The goal of my research is to learn more about parent-child conflict over technology use. I hope you will consider participating!

Participants can enter to win a $50 Amazon.com gift card!

I am looking for parents and children to complete a short online survey. If you are interested in participating, please go to the following website:
<http://studentvoice.com/liu/parentchildtechnoconflict>

Questions about the research?

Contact me: danielle.francois@my.liu.edu or

Contact my faculty advisor, Dr. Camilo Ortiz: camilo.ortiz@liu.edu

Thank you!

Danielle Francois, M.S.

Doctoral Candidate, Long Island University - Post

