

God is Here in Overcoming Bias

Did you know our amazing brains receive 11 million bits of information each second? To help us, our brains take shortcuts which are hugely beneficial, but sometimes lead us to act in ways contrary to our beliefs. For example, in 1968, Charles Shultz put his career on the line to include Franklin at the Thanksgiving table in the Peanuts cartoon... and then drew him all by himself in a beach chair. This was just one of the many fascinating things the audience of over 100 people learned from Derek Mosley during his God is Here in Overcoming Bias presentation. Judge Mosley encouraged us to become aware of how bias seeps in without our awareness, to avoid being “colorblind”, connect with people different from ourselves, celebrate our differences, and pause and reflect before making decisions.

Recognizing our own unconscious bias is just one tool to connect with other people. If you want to learn more tools, join us for God is Here in Bridging Divides - Resetting the Table Workshop on Jan 13, 8:15-noon!
