Who should attend?

- Foster, Kinship, and Adoptive Families, Foster Care Licensing Agency Staff, Child Welfare Staff, and Behavioral Health Providers

What can I expect?

- Each webinar will include material from Dr Bruce Perry and our Arizona trained facilitators on the Neurosequential Model in Caregiving
- Case presentations about difficult behavior challenges from foster parents
- Concrete suggestions to help families manage behavior challenges

How do I learn more about this?

- Let us know you want to be added to the mailing list by sending your email address to Amy Meyertholen, amy@azcouncil.com
- Call Amy at 602.252.9363 with questions.
- We send information on how to register for the webinars using that mailing list every month.

Space is limited for the live webinars, but all webinars will be archived and available to be watched later the same week—or anytime at your convenience. You can find more information about the program and register for the live and archived webinars on our website at <http://www.azcouncil.com/neurosequential-model-for-caregiving/>.
