One: The first day of January is another day dawning,
the sun rising as the sun always rises, the earth moving as it always moves.

Many: Yet also we stand at a threshold, the new year is something truly new, still unformed, leaving a stunning promise of power and potential in our hands.

One: What shall we do with this great gift of Time this year?

Many: With God, all things are possible!

One: This new year can be new ground for the seeds of our dreams.

Many: Then let us take the step forward together, onto new ground,

All: Planting our dreams well, faithfully, and in joy!

First Reading ~ Luke 2:21-24

Genness Anthony

After eight days had passed, it was time to circumcise the child; and he was called Jesus, the name given by the angel before he was conceived.

When the time came for their purification, according to the law of Moses, the couple took Jesus up to Jerusalem to present him to God. For it is written in the law of our God, ‘Every firstborn heir is to be consecrated to God.’ They offered a sacrifice according to what is stated in the law of our God, “a pair of turtle-doves or two young pigeons.”

Second Reading ~ adapted from Laura Winner in “Still”

When Julian was just twelve years old and preparing to be confirmed, she told her father—the pastor of the church—she wasn’t sure she could go through with it. She wasn’t sure she believed everything she was supposed to believe, at least not enough to make a promise before God and her congregation to believe those things forever. Her father told her, “What you promise when you are confirmed is not that you will believe this forever. What you promise when you are confirmed is that this is the story you will wrestle with forever.”
