Who built Aimee?

Americans who care about Ukraine built Aimee. VSee is a video telehealth platform with a 14-year history supporting health efforts in North America, the Middle East, Africa, conflict zones, NASA at the International Space Station, and supporting refugee assistance efforts. Dr. Laura Purdy is our Chief Medical Officer, a retired United States Army physician with a national reputation for developing telehealth solutions. Shawn Targosz, Founder of Red Element, curated the vision to deliver telemedicine to Ukraine, assembled the team, and is leveraging relationships to bring resources to achieve mission success. American Duty is a U.S.-based 501(c)3 non-profit supporting refugee assistance.

How will patient data be handled?

Aimee operates on HIPAA-compliant servers, managing patient data for millions of American patients. We will handle Ukraine patient data with the same focus on security and privacy.

What is Aimee's value proposition?

Each emergency room visit can cost $1,000 or more. VSee designed Aimee to deliver over 100,000 free telemedicine trauma care visits and instantly scale up. We will add more than $100M in value to Ukraine while saving tens of thousands of lives.

Why support Aimee?

Aimee's donors receive tax deductions for donations through American Duty. We work with our supporters to deliver a strong ROI – earned media opportunities to expand donor name recognition and enhance their brand while supporting Ukraine's independence with a 'Made In America' platform. Our effort directly saves lives, defends democracy, and strengthens capitalism.
