Trabuco Hills High School Art Program was honored to attend the Chapman University Holocaust Art and Writing Contest Ceremony with 5 of the last living Holocaust survivors.

Since 1999 our art students have participated in the Chapman University Annual Holocaust Art and Writing Contest. Students gain an intimate perspective of a holocaust survivor's testimony and create a drawing or painting to illustrate the survivor's story. This is an international contest involving hundreds of junior high and high schools with over 5,000 entries each year.

Please join me in recognizing our awesome artists:

- Amber Schieffer was one of the top three artworks accepted into the highly competitive competition for THHS.
- Naomi Ahmed was a top 7 finalist.
- Alexa Yam was awarded 2nd place and received a $200 award.

Congratulations!
