

Program Highlights

- Learn about JHU education, career, and social networking opportunities
- Professional networking activities will include:
 - Research shadowing opportunities
 - Interaction with current students and faculty through Research Honors Program seminars, JHU presentations, and workshops
 - NIH Clinical Center engagement
 - Multiple levels of mentorship from Research Center Directors, faculty mentors, and PhD Candidates

Contact Us!

525 N. Wolfe Street
Baltimore, Maryland 21205

+410-955-4766

jhuson@jhu.edu

<https://nursing.jhu.edu/programs/doctoral/pathway-to-phd/>

Scan here to learn more about our program and the Johns Hopkins School of Nursing

PATHWAY TO PhD NURSING SCHOLAR PROGRAM

Eligibility

- Graduate (or pending graduation) from an accredited Baccalaureate or Master's Entry Nursing Program
- Minimum scholastic GPA of 3.0 on a 4.0 scale
- Two letters of reference attesting to applicant's academic promise and potential for pursuing a PhD
- Short essay responses detailing interest in Pathways Scholars program and research
- CV or resume

Overview

8 weeks: 6 weeks onsite &
2 weeks online
Summer Program

Outstanding nurses from diverse backgrounds are invited to become the next generation of nurse scientist-scholars through an intensive, eight-week accelerated summer program to prepare them for nursing PhDs.

The program provides mentorship, resources, networking, and career guidance alongside existing courses and seminars. Participants also engage in unique research opportunities with the school's outstanding research faculty.

This highly competitive program fully funds scholars for the 8-week summer experience.

Selection Process

- Interviews with a Center Director, a PhD program faculty, and a PhD Candidate
- Indication of interest in working with JHSON Research Centers and their advertised research team opportunities/engagement
- Submission of an optional supplement to the written essay (e.g., artistic representation, photo project, A/V recorded content) for those who find the written essay does not represent life experience or abilities adequately