

Anthony Mpubani - Finance Accountant & Project Manager

professional accountant. Even through hurdles in the academic journey, I purposed not to fail but rather excel and be of help to my nation. That meant that I had to put off so many youthful pleasures that would be distraction to my academic pursuit to make sure I realized my dream. I appreciate Hands of Love for the opportunity to be in charge of the finance office in Uganda.

I bless God for He enabled me to realize my dream.

Academic Testimony:

My academic journey started in 1999 at a school called Lubani Primary school up to 2006 when I finished Primary 7 (equivalent of 6th grade in the US), then I joined Buzaya Secondary School where I sat for Senior 4 (equivalent of 10th grade in the US) in 2010. From there I joined Busoga College Mwiri and sat for Senior 6 (equivalent of 12th grade in the US) in 2012. By the grace of God, I performed well all through primary and secondary education and in 2013 I enrolled for the course that upon completion would qualify me as a Certified Public Accountant (CPA) which I finished August 2024 and just graduated in March 2025.

The desire for accountancy is inherent in me and therefore a passion having been born by a father who is a mathematician. I carry the objective of helping individuals and organizations have effective understanding of their operations with simplified reporting.

The support of the family and the people that God connected me with helped me to achieve my goal of being a certified
