

Mechanics Institute

Founded 1858

An Educational Program of The General Society of Mechanics & Tradesmen of the City of New York

Mechanics Institute offers tuition-free educational programs to individuals who are employed in the building and construction trades and provides them with the technical knowledge necessary to advance in their respective fields.

Two-Year Educational Programs

- Electrical Technology
- Plumbing & Heating Systems
- HVACR Systems
- Construction Project Management

Important

- All classes require in-person attendance, two evenings per week.

Required Admissions Material

- Letter from employer confirming employment in the construction and building industry (must verify at least two years of experience).
- Copy of high school diploma, GED or college transcript.
- Photo ID.
- All programs require an essay. Details are available during open enrollment.

Eligibility Requirements

- All applicants must be currently employed in the construction and building industry with a minimum of two years experience in the field of your desired program.
- Must be a high school, GED or college graduate.

How to Apply

- Email us at admissions@generalsociety.org to receive an application packet.
- Submit all required admissions material to admissions@generalsociety.org.

Required Fees

- $100 Registration Fee due every semester.
- $75 Membership Fee due every year.

All applications are due Friday, July 21st.

Applicants will be notified of their acceptance on Friday, August 4th. If accepted, classes begin on Monday, September 18th and Tuesday, September 19th.

Email admissions@generalsociety.org for more information.