District 6 Newsletter November 2018

Dear Neighbors,

Preparing for the upcoming holidays is fun, but it should also include precautions to keep you and your family safe. We recently met with Captain Heather Randol, our San Jose Police Department Captain for the Western Division, and she shared some tips about keeping safe during the holidays.

First, and foremost, please don't drink and drive this holiday season. Choose a designated driver at the beginning of the evening who promises not to drink alcohol. In 2016, there were 10,497 fatalities in motor vehicle traffic crashes in the United States. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's information page is useful in understanding the impact drunk driving has on our communities.

Unfortunately, this is the time of year when thieves are alert to all our holiday-related activities, such as taking large shopping trips and receiving more frequent package deliveries. For more holiday safety tips, please view this special video message from SJPD Western Division Captain Heather Randol.

I'm thankful that our community can celebrate our blessings during the Thanksgiving Holiday. I wish you and your family a holiday abundant with food, good friends, and the joy of a happy family!

We're here to serve you. If you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to contact my office at 408-535-4906 or district6@sanjoseca.gov.

Sincerely,
