

Ohio University Advancement Communication and Marketing (ACM) is recruiting for several student writer positions for summer 2020 as well as for the 2020-21 academic year. Applications are being accepted for the following positions:

Advancement Communication and Marketing Student Writer – News

Summary

The Advancement Communication and Marketing (ACM) student writer works with the Assistant Director of Content and other ACM staff to research, write and edit stories, releases, event promos and recaps. This is a great opportunity for a student to expand his/her writing portfolio with both news and feature articles, get his/her work in front of an audience of 200,000-plus OHIO alumni and friends, and network with some of our talented and supportive graduates.

Your work can appear in the following:

- ohiotoday.org/news, OHIO's alumni and friends news site
- Ohio Today, OHIO's alumni magazine
- Ohio Women, an imprint of Ohio Today

Applicants should have a strong background in writing and/or a desire to pursue the field of communications. Time management skills, critical thinking skills, and the ability to work well both independently and in a collaborative setting are required.

Details:

Hours: 10-15 hours/week. Pay is $8.55/hour.

The successful candidate: possesses a basic knowledge of researching, reporting, and interviewing. Top prospects show an understanding of or interest in writing news and feature stories and are motivated, responsible, enthusiastic, reliable, and take a professional approach to his/her work.

Other: Applicants must be familiar with Associated Press style.

To apply: Complete this form. Candidates selected to interview for the position will be asked to provide writing samples.

**This opportunity can qualify as an internship assignment. Please indicate when applying if you seek this arrangement.*

Student Writer for Ohio Today

Like to write? Compelled to find out things? Meticulous and accurate? Contemplating journalism as a career? Then consider applying for a student writer position at Ohio Today, the magazine for alumni and friends of Ohio University, and its companion website ohiotoday.org.

You'll be part of a dynamic team that engages a large readership (circulation 115,000+) via three print editions annually. ohiotoday.org, the magazine's companion website, reaches thousands more.

While helping to produce professional, well-crafted content, you'll work closely with the editor of Ohio Today and ohiotoday.org and practice essential tools of the trade: compiling class notes, crafting short briefs, drafting captions, and eventually, trying feature stories and other pieces for both print and online. You'll also fact check, proofread, research, and do other vital tasks of reporting. You will interview alumni, faculty, staff, administrators, students, and other sources, too.

Ohio Today is produced by the OHIO Advancement Communication and Marketing team in McKee House. This team includes other student writers, videographers, photographers, and digital/HTML content creators who provide content for our news and social channels. You will have the opportunity to collaborate with these students to pitch and possibly produce both print and multimedia stories for the Ohio Today brand.

Details:

Hours: 15 hours per week

The successful candidate: possesses a basic knowledge of researching, reporting, and interviewing. Top prospects show an understanding of or interest in writing news and feature stories and is motivated, responsible, enthusiastic, reliable, and takes a professional approach to his/her work.

Other: Applicants must be familiar with Associated Press style.

To apply: Complete this form. Candidates selected to interview for the position will be asked to provide writing samples.

**This opportunity can qualify as an internship assignment. Please indicate when applying if you seek this arrangement.*