

Cru Hosting "Think Week" at Georgia Tech

Next week, Nov. 5th-9th, Cru is sponsoring our largest event (really a series of events) of the fall semester, a week called "Think Week." During the week, we're partnering with RZIM (Ravi Zacharias International Ministries) to bring in some of the best apologetic speakers from around the country to talk about issues that keep students from believing in God or desiring a relationship with God.

We'll have three events each day, two around lunchtime (with lunch provided) as well as one at 7pm, for a grand total of 15 events! All in all, we're expecting hundreds of students and professors to attend these events. Also, undergrad and grad students involved in Cru will be "table hosts" and will lead discussion with guests at the events. We're praying relationships will begin between our students and those who don't know Christ - relationships that will lead to many coming to faith in Jesus.

Below is the schedule of events. We'd ask you to be a part of this with us by praying each day next week. Only God change hearts, and our prayer is that He would draw students and professors to Christ during each event. Also, if you're interested in coming to campus to help advertise or in being a table host at an event (facilitating discussion around your table - no prep time needed), let us know. We could use all the help we can get.
