

Student Name _____

DOB _____

_____ This young child suffers from underlying medical conditions that could increase the risk of a severe outcome if infected with Covid-19. After careful consideration with the family, remote learning options should be supported for this student.

_____ This student resides with a sibling at high risk of medical complications of Covid-19. After careful consideration with the family, remote learning options should be supported for the entire household.

_____ This student resides with an adult household member who may have a high risk of a serious outcome if infected by Covid-19. I have advised the family to discuss this risk with the household member's primary care clinician.

Sincerely,