

Scott was just honored by Dr. Stavem as part of the districts Elevating Excellent Staff Program. Scott was nominated by a former student now at RHS. Nomination below.

If you asked a five-year-old what a hero looks like, they might say Batman, Superman, Spiderman or Wonder Woman. Someone who has magic powers or wears a cape.

If you ask our students at Redmond Middle School what a hero looks like, they would possibly tell you that it is somebody who goes that extra step without question. Someone who shows kindness and empathy. Someone who provides safety and respect, especially for students to process whatever it is that is challenging to them at that moment. To many students, they would tell you that hero is Mr. Scott Hagerman.

Mr. Hagerman is an instructional assistant and a campus security monitor. He is someone who has made an impact in the lives of hundreds of students each year. He is usually the first face students see as they arrive to school and the last person as they leave. He also coaches a different sport each quarter.

From what I've experienced, he goes above and beyond his job duties to ensure that Redmond Middle School is a safe place for students to come and learn.

Mr. Hagerman is well respected by many of the students he interacts with and the impact he has made will continue to last for years to come.
