

Navigating Intersectionality in the Treatment of Youth Problematic Sexual Behavior

ABOUT THIS WEBINAR:

This webinar delves into sexual behavior in children and youth (SBCY) through the lens of Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Belonging (DEIB). This session emphasizes the importance of understanding and addressing the unique challenges faced by children and families of color when youth exhibit problematic sexual behavior. Discussions will also include considerations and approaches for working with children and adolescents who have exhibited problematic sexual behavior.

Service providers joining this session will account for the intersectionality and care consideration for black, indigenous, and people of color (BIPOC) in determining treatment interventions and services.

ABOUT THIS WEBINAR:

Family involvement in the clinical treatment process for children and youth strongly indicates treatment success. Thus, understanding how to deliver culturally informed care can strengthen the relationships of service providers and the families you serve.

This webinar will cover culturally competent care for military families impacted by problematic sexual behavior of other children and youth. Emphasis will also be placed on young black girls' emotional and physical safety and wellness and the intersection of the sexual behavior and development of children and youth.
