We Saw You... Honoring Young Farmer

The program is carried on annually by the JCC to recognize farm leaders and their contribution to the community. Left to right are Al Jindra, 12 Virginia terrace, of the Bowman Farm Dairy; Frank Mayfield, Lodi, farm radio director for WIBA; and Glen Pulver, 39 F. University Houses, University of Wisconsin agricultural economist.

The Madison contest is held as a preliminary to the state event where Wisconsin's top young farmer is selected. Madison JCC members who were on the committee that arranged the 1959 feature are, left to right, Don Konsoer, 1415 Spaight st.; Bev Craig, 4105 Mandrake rd.; and Norman Kirschbaum, 338 W. Main st.

City Has Race Bias Problems, Mayor Says

There are racial discrimination problems in Madison as well as in the South, Mayor Ivan A. Nestingen told the Sertoma club Thursday noon.

Speaking on a Brotherhood Week theme at the Spanish cafe, 212 State st., Nestingen said that Madison Negroes are discriminated against in housing, employment, and occasionally in obtaining service in public places.

Applying the ideals of brotherhood in all areas of American life is not just an idealistic goal but a practical need, the mayor said. The impact abroad, especially in the non-white countries where nationalism is resurgent, of America's racial discrimination is working against our foreign policy objectives, he said.

Nestingten also observed that discrimination is not only practiced on the basis of race, but of religion, nationality, and economic level.

Have Heart Pain? Try Turning Off That TV Set

LONDON, Friday (UPI)—British Dr. G. A. Rose reported today an upswing in a disease he named "television angina."

Rose said in the British Medical Journal that if you suddenly feel a sharp pain around the heart one of the first things to do is get up and turn the television set off.

You may be suffering from a coronary disease caused by watching exciting shows on TV, Rose said.

Angina, he explained, is a familiar ailment marked by sharp pains in the region of the heart. Attacks are often triggered by emotional excitement or physical exercise.

He said he discovered at his hospital clinic that angina cases were on the increase and he pinned the blame on television.

"Those people who aspire to mental detachment, even at the height of the chase in a Western," Rose said, "may care to ponder that some hundreds of their less fortunate fellows are at that very moment clutching their chests with one hand while feeling for their medicine with the other."

"It is the cowboys and their assailants who most often provoke this kind of suffering, but each man to his taste."

Robber's $4 Deposit Brings $2,980 Profit

NEW YORK (AP)—A robber invested $4 in coins Thursday at the Chemical Corn Exchange bank at Pennsylvania station and walked out with a $2,980 profit.

The man, well dressed and mustached, slid four rolls of pennies and one of nickels at Teller John Gallagher, 23. With them was a note threatening the teller and demanding $5,000.

Gallagher scooped a pile of bills—later checked out in value at $2,984—over to the man, the bandit then walked out of the bank—leaving behind his $4 in coins.

STOCK SALE BANNED

The State Department of Securities reported Thursday it had banned sales in Wisconsin of securities of the East Trinity Mining Corp., Toronto, Ontario, Canada, for failure to register the stock under state law.

BEAM... World's finest bourbon since 1795

JIM BEAM

One Beam family for six generations...

JACOB started distilling bourbon in Kentucky under his own secret formula in 1795—or just about the time bourbon was born.

DAVID, son of Jacob, increased the capacity of his father's plant, but continued the by-then famous Beam distilling formula.

DAVID M., son of David began a modest expansion of the Beam business as the frontier days were waning.

One Kentucky Bourbon formula for 164 years... One purpose always—the world's finest bourbon!

COL. JAMES B. (Jim Beam), son of David M., links Beam's historic past with the present day, as head of the Beam family from 1892 to 1945.

T. JEREMIAH, son of Col. James Beam, is 5th generation head of the house of Beam. He superintends the making of Beam bourbon from the purchasing of the grain to the taste-testing of matured whiskey.

CARL, 5th generation, Beam's Master Distiller—supervises the production of Beam bourbon, ably assisted by sixth generation members, Booker and Baker.

What makes Beam bourbon taste so good? More than anything—it is the fact that today, as for 164 years, it is still the Beams who make BEAM, in Kentucky where bourbon was born.

The precise measure of choice grains in the formula, the rare and priceless strain of the sweet jug yeast, the exacting ritual of hilltop aging—these are parts of the secret formula that have remained within the Beam family for over a century and a half.

That's why you can always buy Beam bourbon with trust.
