

Get Trained to WorkIN Production Services

WorkINdiana allows you to earn a High School Equivalency Diploma and Manufacturing Skills Standards Council (MSSC) certification at the same time to give you the boost you need to become a Production Worker. (Clients who already have a diploma may also be eligible for training.)

WHY: A High School Equivalency Diploma alone may not be enough for your career. Employers are looking to hire people with experience AND training. You could earn up to $36,000 per year working as a Production Worker! (INTTraining # 7009)

WHEN: February 8, 2017-March 8, 2017. Classes can start weekly with an open start date; entire course lasts one month. Course is a combination of class time and online work.

WHERE: McDowell Education Center, 2700 McKinley Ave., Columbus, IN 47201.

HOW: Contact your local WorkOne office or your Adult Education instructor.

The Certified Manufacturing Production Technician is a unique program designed and developed to give workers the skills required to compete in today's industrial job marketplace. This industrial course covers a broad range of skills and initiatives required to be successful in today's industrial workplace. Successful participants will be qualified to sit for MSSC/CPT certification exams in Production Processes, Maintenance Awareness, Safety, and Quality.