MASTER GARDENERS - Your SaddleBrooke/SaddleBrooke Ranch Master Gardeners are pleased to invite you to attend a Zoom webinar presentation called "What's Buggin' Your Garden?" on Wednesday 10 May at 1pm by Dr. Shaku Nair. Dr. Nair is an entomologist that currently serves as Associate in Extension, Community IPM at the Arizona Pest Management Center, University of Arizona. The desert landscape hosts an incredible diversity of organisms, many of which are unique to our environment. Some are pests, but the majority are harmless or beneficial. Correct identification and an understanding of these different organisms can help in managing and living in harmony with them. Integrated pest management or IPM is a holistic approach to pest management and does not aim to eliminate all pests but maintain a balanced system where pest levels can be tolerated with minimal intervention. This talk will cover some practices essential to our landscape, and offer examples of IPM strategies for selected landscape pests. Register at <https://extension.arizona.edu/saddlebrooke-master-gardeners>, then click on events. Questions about registration: Lmccoy1@email.arizona.edu
