

How Would You Portray God on Paper?

Inspired by Kathy DeWit's new book, DRAWING GOD (which you can find in The Resource Center), I wondered about how I might draw God. Several ideas came to me, then I became curious about how others would draw God or portray God on paper some other way. I would like to see what you do, so take out a piece of paper or your favorite painting app and show me how you decide to portray God. I understand you might tell me that we best portray God by doing things the way Jesus taught us – being good to people, caring for the Earth, and other holy acts – but right now I am interested in ways you might picture God on paper.

Perhaps you will write a poem, or you may draw or paint a picture. You might make a collage or some other type of art. Once you make your representation of what God means to you, get it to the Resource Center. Bring it in, mail it, or email me a photo of your art, and I will display it in the Resource Center after Christmas.

Each piece must be flat enough and light enough that it can be put on a bulletin board or the wall.

I hope several of you take me up on this idea. I can't wait to see what you come up with.

For more information, contact Nellie Howard, Resource Center Director at resourcecenter@wvpresbytery.org or 304-744-7684.

RESOURCE CENTER
Presbytery of West Virginia