Create vs Copy: Embrace Change. Ignite Creativity. Break Through with Imagination Ken Wytsma, (Moody)

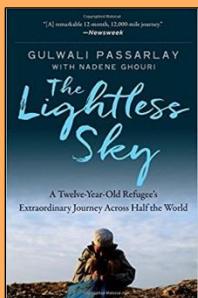

In this 2016 book, Wytsma insists that we must add creativity to our toolbox to succeed. We need to adapt and innovate, as well as inspire the same in others. He encourages readers to cultivate a creative mindset in life & leadership, to approach problem solving with greater imagination and to rediscover why we do what we do and how might we do it better.

Stepping Stones: A Refugee Family's Journey, Margriet Ruurs, Art by Nizar Ali Badr, (Orca Book Publishing)

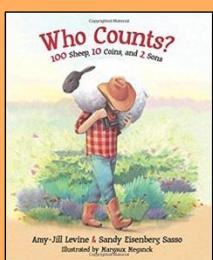

Printed in English and Arabic on alternate pages, writer, Margriet Ruurs uses the stone art of Nizar Ali Badr to tell the story of Roma and her family, who are forced to leave behind everything they know and love to find refuge in Europe.

They are helped in their resettlement by many people, both government workers and volunteers. The art photographed for this book is both beautiful and unique.

The Lightless Sky, Gulwali Passarlay with Nadine Ghouri (Harper One)

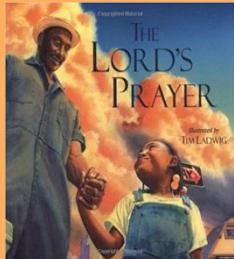

A true refugee's story, this is the tale of Gulwali Passarlay, who fled Afghanistan with his brother after his father and grandfather were killed by the Taliban. He escaped internment in both Turkey and Bulgaria to travel 12,000 miles to reach England.

Who Counts? 100 sheep, 10 coins and 2 sons, Amy Jill Levine & Sandy Eisenberg, (WJK)

This children's book by Westminster John Knox Press retells three of Jesus' parables. Included are the Lost Sheep, the Lost Coin and the Prodigal Son. Young readers count to help the characters find what's missing. Who Counts teaches us that everyone matters and everyone should feel "counted."

The Lord's Prayer, Illustrated by Tim Ladwig, (Eerdmans Books)

Through his realistic and gentle illustrations, Ladwig has brought the Lord's Prayer to life. He takes us through the day of a father and daughter as they practice what they pray. They help bring God's kingdom to the world as they do God's will helping their neighbor, resisting temptation and making the world a better place for God's people.
