

Festival of Faith

April 1 at First Presbyterian Church, Charleston

Jessica Tate, Director of NEXT Church (www.nextchurch.net), will be our keynote presenter for Festival of Faith, April 1 at First Presbyterian Church, Charleston. In addition to the keynote presentation focusing on how there has been a shift in American religious life in the midst of cultural trends affecting church life, plus signs of new life in the church, Jessica will also lead a workshop looking at patterns and practices that creative and courageous congregations are using to navigate the cultural changes in religious and community life.

Other workshops include the PW 2017-18 Horizons Bible Study, After Coal – The Documentary and Discussion, Coloring for All, You Give Them Something to Eat, Creative Worship for Pentecost and New Pastors Orientation. Other workshops will be mentioned in future newsletters.

Packets of information has been sent to church leaders and past participants. You can also find complete information here.
