5th Annual AIA East Kentucky

September 9, 2017 at West Sixth Brewing

The Design Slam is an annual fund-raising event for the East Kentucky chapter of the American Institute of Architects and Lexington Habitat for Humanity. Watch teams from local architecture organizations put together compelling designs for a space in Lexington, KY while audience members cheer and vote for their favorite designs. Each team will have one hour to complete their design using physical or digital media to create, render or illustrate their work.

The AIA East Kentucky chapter was incorporated in the State of Kentucky on August 12, 1952, and chartered by the Institute on April 10, 1952. The mission of this Chapter is to promote and forward the objects of The American Institute of Architects within the assigned territory of this Chapter, which are to organize and unite in fellowship the members of the architectural profession; to promote the aesthetic, scientific and practical efficiency of the profession; to advance the science and art of planning and building by advancing the standards of architectural education, training and practice; to coordinate the building industry and the profession of architecture to insure the advancement of the living standards of people through their improved environment; and to make the profession of ever-increasing service to society.

Lexington Habitat for Humanity has served more than 425 families with homeownership locally and nearly 400 internationally (through Habitat for Humanity International). We have served nearly 50 Lexington home owners with home preservation and repair projects; hundreds of families with neighborhood clean-up activities; thousands with referrals to other services and tens of thousands who buy low cost goods at the ReStore. We connect volunteers and donors with opportunities to serve the community. Our work infuses the local economy with over $4 million annually and our homebuyers contribute over $350,000 in local property taxes each year.
