Dear Drew Tiefenbach:

I am inviting your organization to participate in a review of The Occupational Health and Safety Regulations, 2020. This review is part of the government's ongoing commitment to reduce serious injuries and fatalities and promote workplace safety.

The review of the regulations will be undertaken in stages to provide stakeholders with ample opportunity to review the provisions and provide feedback. The first stage of the review is Parts 1 to 5 of The Occupational Health and Safety Regulations, 2020.

To assist in gathering feedback, a discussion paper has been prepared which provides topics for consideration. This information is not an exhaustive list and we encourage your organization to identify any areas in Parts 1 to 5 of The Occupational Health and Safety Regulations, 2020 that will help improve the health and safety of Saskatchewan workplaces.

The discussion paper can be found at:
https://www.saskatchewan.ca/government/public-consultations

If your organization has any comments, please submit all written responses no later than November 30, 2025 to:

legislation.labour@gov.sk.ca

Or by mail to:

Occupational Health and Safety Regulations Review

Please consider sharing information about the occupational health and safety review broadly in your organization and encourage participation.

Please be aware that submissions could be disclosed publicly according to the provisions of The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act.

Thank you in advance for participating in the review.

Sincerely,

Veronica Gelowitz
Deputy Minister, Labour Relations and Workplace Safety
